Thousands Clash With Police

More Violence Expected By West Berlin Students

BERLIN (AP) — Leftist students ordered a blockade of publisher Axel Springer's newspapers today, raising the prospect of more trouble after four days of violent demonstrations in West Berlin.

The Socialistic Students Association —or SDS—said it would set up blockades in West Berlin, Frankfurt, Esslingen and Hanover.

Springer, continental Europe's biggest publisher, has been a chief target of the German New Left because of his papers' antileft editorial stand. Earlier blockades led to clashes with police and considerable damage to trucks and buildings.

In an effort to reconcile the dissidents and the authorities, other West Berlin political and youth groups announced plans for "make a new start" rally today.

Leftist demonstrations began Thursday when SDS leader Rudi Dutschke was shot and critically wounded by a gunman on West Berlin's main street, the Kurfuerstendamm.

A demonstration on that street Sunday erupted into a clash between thousands of Dutschke's supporters and hundreds of police, plunging the traditional Easter parade of strolling Berliners and tourists into chaos.

The demonstrators shouted "Nazis" at the police and chanted, "Ho-Ho-Ho-Chi Minh" and "Rudi Dutschke." They huddled together rather than retreating

Steel Negotiations Open On Various Local Issues

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Millhands at U.S. Steel's Homestead Works want more parking space and a doctor on duty fulltime. Steelworkers at McKeesport want incentive pay for all workers at their plant.

These are some of the hundreds of local issues dropped onto the negotiating tables at steel plants around the country today. An Aug. 1 steel strike is in the balance.

But local officials of the 450,000 United Steelworkers affected by the talks are afraid the local issues will wind up on the national bargaining table come June, placing an added burden on industry negotiators already concerned about the possibility of White House intervention.

Little Things Hurt

"These little things hurt a lot more than the big ones," says Anthony Tomko, president of 5,000-man Local 1408 at McKeesport.

"They shouldn't really be tough to settle, but the company may take the position they're economic issues and kick them up to the national level," Tomko adds.

Steel talks weren't scheduled to start until June. 1. Negotiators considered voluntarp comtors considered voluntary compulsory arbitration as one way to head off a repeat of President Johnson's 1965 intervention and traditional strike hedge stockpiling by users.

But the union members killed an arbitration plan. Negotiators switched instead to an early start at local issues, hoping to get them cleared away before industrywide talks start June 3, in New York.

Wages Come First

When the Steelworkers drafted their contract objectives in Atlantic City last month, increased wages got top priority.

But local officials are nearly unanimous in describing incentive pay for all workers as the issue most likely to get thrown from local talks into the national hopper.

The local negotiators have until May 15 to complete their talks. Tomko has over 100 items to bring up.

Local officials expect other sticky issues to be better pensions, a union voice in enforcing safety regulations and a guarantee

One industry source says he expects the union to ask nationally for a 9 per cent wage hike and refuse to go below the 6.1 per cent gained for can workers in January. The union figures steelworkers earn $3.83 per hour. The industry estimates wages and fringe benefits cost $4.88 an hour.

Humphrey To Collect Old Debts From Party Ranks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey is counting on collecting political debts piled up in tireless party fund-raising activities in his expected bid for the Democratic presidential nomination.

It is widely assumed he will announce his candidacy this week.

Humphrey's associates believe his extensive traveling on the Democratic dinner circuit will help do for him what it has done for Richard M. Nixon among the Republicans—put him in the front rank of contenders.

Humphrey nd Nixon are the men best known personally to local organization members of their parties who often turn up as convention delegates.

Humphrey Accomplishment

One of Humphrey's accomplishments has been to sell himself to Southern Democrats, who once looked upon him as the ogre who forced a strong civil-rights plank on the 1948 convention and triggered a Dixiecrat walkout.

Sen. John J. Sparkman,D-Ala., said he thinks Humphrey will be the choice of several Southern delegations. Gov. John J. McKeithen has indicated Louisiana's vote will go to the vice president.

"It is probable that the vice president is the only candidate who is strong in every region," said Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., a top Humphrey backer. He added in an interview he thinks Humphrey is ahead now in delegate strength over the two announced Democratic candidates, Sens. Robert F. Kennedy and Eugene J. McCarthy.

Humphrey is encountering reluctance on the part of President Johnson's supporters to switch to him after the President's statement that he would not accept renomination.

Governors Not Sure

An Associated Press canvass disclosed 10 governors who had been counted on to support Johnson for renomination have now assumed an uncommitted stance.

They are Govs. John N. Dempsey of Connecticut, Charles L. Terry Jr., of Delaware, John A. Burns of Hawaii, Roger D. Branigin of Indiana, Otto Kerner of Illinois, Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey, Buford Ellington of Tennessee, John B. Connally of Texas, Calvin L. Rampton of Utah and Hulett C. Smith of West Virginia.

Gov. Rhodes Ends Vacation In Florida

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes returned to his Statehouse office today from a Florida vacation to face a heavy speaking schedule.

The governor, Mrs. Rhodes and their youngest daughter, Sharon, arrived in Columbus Sunday night by commercial plane from Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Weather Dips After Storm Sunday Night

Whipped up by Sunday night's thundershowers and strong winds, the weather took an overnight dip in the tri-state area.

And the cold is due to continue through tonight, with a chance of frost.

Things are to turn sunny and warmer Tuesday, however, and the five-day forecast says that temperatures will average above normal. The highs will be in the middle to upper 60s and the lows will range in the middle to upper 40s.

Power in a small portion of the East End was cut off last night during the height of the storm that hit the area, Ohio Power Co. officials said today.

Ray Barrett said power to the city waterworks, the S. H. Bell Co. and about six or eight families was out for nearly two hours when a piece of roofing from the Bell firm damaged equipment, causing a "feeder" to lock out.

A primary fuse cut out in the Little England area, causing city firemen to be called shortly before 11 p.m.

The department sent its East End pumper to the scene, but no fire was evident when the truck arrived. Firemen stayed 22 minutes until power company crews arrived to make repairs. The company said a primary fuse cut out causing the failure.

The Ohio Bell Telephone Co. reported no major trouble, although some residents in Calcutta reported they were without service for a time.

South Viet Troops To Take Over

Replacement Set At Areas Manned By U.S. Soldiers

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. Marines seized a hill northwest of Khe Sanh from its North Vietnamese defenders in an Easter Day battle. An American source said South Vietnamese troops soon will take on a bigger share of the fighting along tht northern frontier.

The battle for Hill 881 north, five miles from the Khe Sanh combat base, was one of several sharp fights over Easter. AP correspondent John Lengel reported from Marine headquarters at Da Nang that 108 North Vietnamese were killed on 881 North—most of them by artillery and air strikes that preceded the Marine assault.

Casualties Reported

Six Marines were reported killed and 12 wounded.

Troops of the 26th Marine Regiment stormed up the slopes. Sporadic shooting continued after the hill was declared secure early in the afternoon.

The hill was the scene of hard fighting in the spring of 1967, and the North Vietnamese hung on to it after the seige of Khe Sanh was lifted this month.

The 26th Marine Regiment had been in Khe Sanh during the 77-day siege. After the encirclement was broken the regiment moved out to sweep the surrounding area.

Replacement Planned

The U.S. Command is preparing to replace American troops along the demilitarized zone with South Vietnamese forces an American source said today. It was considered possible that South Vietnamese troops will take over defense of the Marine outpost of Con Thien and of Khe Sanh, now defended by a battalion of air cavalrymen.

It was reliably learned that the move will be carried out as soon as the South Vietnamese 1st Division has completed refitting and retraining. The division suffered heavy casualties during the enemy's lunar new year offensive.

Near Khe Sanh, an enemy company attacked two companies of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division, but the Americans repulsed the assault after 15 minutes. Eight U.S. soldiers were killed and six wounded.

The Khe Sanh airstrip was hit by six mortar and rocket rounds Sunday morning, two minutes after 6,000 Easter eggs arrived by helicopter for the garrison. Three Marines were wounded.

"They say the siege of Khe Sanh is over," said Marine Pfc. Frank Fauer of Easton, Pa., who was on the strip when the barrage hit. "Who are they trying to kid?"

Bombing Strikes Made

Unemployed Seaman Sought

FBI Agents Press Extensive Hunt For Suspected Slayer Of Dr. King

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — FBI agents from Virginia to Florida were making an intensive hunt today for the mystery man whose abandoned white Mustang fits descriptions of a car seen leaving the scene of the Martin Luther King Jr. assassination.

The object of the widening search was Eric Starvo Galt, 37, known only as an unemployed seaman from Birmingham, Ala. A car registered in that name was seized by the FBI in Atlanta last Friday, eight days after King was shot to death in Memphis.

The FBI refused to acknowledge the hunt or to say why Galt was wanted. "No comment," was the routine reply. But Associated Press checks disclosed that FBI agents had contacted persons named Galt in several states including Virginia, Alabama and Florida.

An FBI alert for Galt was sent over the Florida police communications network last Friday, but withdrawn four hours later.

FBI agents have continued to inquire about Galt at numerous places including dry cleaners and service stations in Birmingham, where a man named Eric Starvo Galt rented a room at a Southside boarding house within the past eight months.

Meanwhile, in Jacksonville, Fla., a man picked up for questioning about the assassination was cleared, police said.

Agents have exhibited composite drawings of a man's face, but no photographs, according to persons contacted in Birmingham.

At the same time, police sources in Memphis disclosed Sunday that the FBI was withholding nationwide distribution of a composite drawing of King's killer, who fired the death shot from a dingy second-floor bathroom in a rundown rooming house. King, leader of nonviolent civil rights forces, was struck in the neck as he stood on a second floor motel balcony facing the rear of the rooming house.

The assassin's description given by the FBI: 30 to 32 years of age, 5-10, weighing 165, with a receding hairline and a long, thin nose.

Newsmen's requests for prints of the FBI's drawing were turned down.

Neither has there been a hint that authorities possess a photograph of the missing Eric Starvo Galt, whose name fails to appear on any official records except those showing ownership of the white Mustang found in Atlanta.

Compulsory Cleanup!

LISBON — Chief of Police Leon T. Zahrndt called a wrecker this morning to get rid of junk vehicles behind the Village Cablevision building (formerly Thomson Electric) on E. Washington St.

Three trucks, an automobile and two dump truck beds were to be hauled away by a Rogers area wrecking yard operator.

Chief Zahrndt said more junk vehicles on lots will be removed at the expiration of 10-day notices given property owners. Cablevision's time limit ended Friday.

Cycle Skids Into Crowd, Three Hurt

A 2-year-old Smiths Ferry area child was hospitalized and two women injured when a motorcycle skidded into a crowd near the finish line of a hill climb contest between Negley and East Palestine Sunday.

April Lynn Dorn, daughter of Mrs. Marilyn Dorn, was in "fairly good" condition today at Rochester General Hospital with a fractured hip.

Her mother, 23, was treated for a laceration over the left eye and chin and Margaret M. New, 20, of Fleetwood Rd., Beaver Falls, suffered a deep cut of the right foot.

The accident occurred during the hill climb held on a tract along Route 170 operated by the Pirate Motorcycle Club of Youngstown.

Columbiana County sheriff's deputies said two cyclists went over a hump at the finish line, collided, and one of them veered through a snow fence and into the crowd about 50 feet behind the finish line.

Deputies said one of the cyclists was reportedly injured. They did not have the identities of the two.

The East Palestine firemen's first-aid squad was summoned, but the injured were removed in a panel truck by the time they arrived.

Three cyclists were arrested in East Palestine Sunday for failure to wear protective equipment as required by law.

President Johnson Flies To Hawaii To Start Talks

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson ended a relaxed Easter weekend at his ranch and headed today for Honolulu for talks with South Korea's president and with U.S. military chiefs in the Pacific area.

The plane bearing the presidential party left Bergstrom Air Force Base at 9:22 a.m. (CST) for the flight of about eight hours to Hawaii.

A last-minute addition to the party was Cyrus R. Vance, a former deputy secretary of defense on whom Johnson frequently calls for special assignments.

It was Vance whom Johnson dispatched to South Korea following the Jan. 23 seizure by North Korea of the U.S. intelligence - gathering ship Pueblo. President Chung Hee Park and other officials in Seoul protested that they were excluded from U.S. -North Vietnam talks at Panmunjom over return of the vessel, and Vance sought to reassure them.

Park had been reported fearful the United States might not remain steadfast in its long-standing resolve to help protect his country against any incursions from Communist North Korea.

Besides offering reassurances of this score, Johnson will be urging Park to go ahead with plans to commit another South Korean division to the war in Vietnam, where about 50,000 Korean troops are fighting. The United States regards the extra division as vitally needed.

Should Park cancel the plan to dispatch the additional men, the gap might have to be filled with still more American manpower.

Johnson also will be talking with Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, retiring commander-in-chief, Pacific, and Sharp's top aides. The President and the admiral met at Camp David, Md., only last week.

Foreman Still Ailing; Grand Jury To Return

LISBON — The Columbiana County Grand Jury is due to return to the Courthouse at 9 a.m. Tuesday after a four - day recess occasioned by a sudden illness of the foreman, Edward M. Thomas of Salem.

He notified prosecutor J. Warren Bettis that he was operated on last weekend and, although now at home, does not feel able to report tomorrow.

Judge Joel H. Sharp of Common Pleas Court will decide on a course of action. The jury will investigate at least two cases, and make its inspection of the County Jail before reporting to Judge Sharp.

$355,018 Bid Submitted On Airport Work

LISBON — Roland A. Getz, Inc., of Mansfield was the apparent low bidder when Columbiana County commissioners opened proposals at 11:30 this morning for construction of the county airport at present Swaney Field north of Glenmoor.

Getz bid $325,886.90 for building the field and $29,131.56 for installing runway lights, a beacon and controls.

The $355,018.46 total compares with a $368,000 estimate by Mosure & Fok, Youngstown consulting engineering firm retained to supervise construction.

There were two other proposals: B. & L. Paving Co., New Castle, Pa., $321,341.10 and $35,943.80—$357,284.90, and United Excavating Co., Youngstown, $379,448.34 and $28,702.32—$408,150.66.

Tom Mosure opened the proposals and told the bidders the two lowest will be checked and forwarded to the federal government for approval.

Charles J. Gauss, commissioners' chairman, presided. Vincent Laneve of East Liverpool, chairman of the County Airport Authority, recorded the bids as Mosure read them aloud.

Foreman Still Ailing; Grand Jury To Return

LISBON — The Columbiana County Grand Jury is due to return to the Courthouse at 9 a.m. Tuesday after a four - day recess occasioned by a sudden illness of the foreman, Edward M. Thomas of Salem.

He notified prosecutor J. Warren Bettis that he was operated on last weekend and, although now at home, does not feel able to report tomorrow.

Judge Joel H. Sharp of Common Pleas Court will decide on a course of action. The jury will investigate at least two cases, and make its inspection of the County Jail before reporting to Judge Sharp.

$355,018 Bid Submitted On Airport Work

LISBON — Roland A. Getz, Inc., of Mansfield was the apparent low bidder when Columbiana County commissioners opened proposals at 11:30 this morning for construction of the county airport at present Swaney Field north of Glenmoor.

Getz bid $325,886.90 for building the field and $29,131.56 for installing runway lights, a beacon and controls.

The $355,018.46 total compares with a $368,000 estimate by Mosure & Fok, Youngstown consulting engineering firm retained to supervise construction.

There were two other proposals: B. & L. Paving Co., New Castle, Pa., $321,341.10 and $35,-943.80—$357,284.90, and United Excavating Co., Youngstown, $379,448.34 and $28,702.32—$408,-150.66.

Tom Mosure opened the proposals and told the bidders the two lowest will be checked and forwarded to the federal government for approval.

Charles J. Gause, commissioners' chairman, presided. Vincent Laneve of East Liverpool, chairman of the County Airport Authority, recorded the bids as Mosure read them aloud.

2 30-Day Terms Given To Driver

An East Liverpool man facing Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on seven traffic charges today was sentenced to two consecutive 30 - day terms in County Jail and assessed $132.50 in fines and costs on the other five counts.

Robert Donahue of Dresden Ave. was warned by the judge if he does not pay the fines and costs he must "lay them out in jail." That would require about 44 more days, for a total of 104 days behind the bars.

DONAHUE originally was taken into custody last Wednesday night on four charges. His hearing was delayed, so the court released him from jail Friday as part of the annual "Good Friday" amnesty in which minor offenders are freed to attend church services. Donahue was released on his promise to return to court today. Saturday night, police took him into custody on three more traffic charges.

Donahue was accused of two counts of operating an auto without a license; two charges of driving a car with a faulty muffler; crashing a stop sign; reckless driving and failure to stop at an officer's signal.

He was given the separate 30-day terms on the unlicensed driving charge. Fines of $25 and costs each were assessed on the first charge of using a faulty muffler, plus the accusations of reckless driving and failing to stop for an officer. The court imposed $10 fines on the second charge of using a faulty muffler and crashing a stop sign.

"'I gave you a break, but you deliberately drove that car again, knowing you did not have a license," the judge told Donahue. "I trusted you, but you were not worthy of the trust."

DONAHUE'S was among 37 cases heard by the court as an aftermath of the holiday weekend.

Raymond Humphreys of 1650 Cleveland Ave., whose car was involved in a spectacular crash Thursday night on Harvey Ave. near the state line, was fined $25 and costs on a reckless driving charge. Police cited Humphreys after his auto collided with another car, hit a utility pole and a small building owned by the Ohio Valley Gas Co. and then stopped on the brink of an embankment overlooking railroad tracks.

John Staherek, 55, of Dresden Ave. Ext. was fined $10 and costs and given a 30-day suspension of his operator's permit on a reckless driving charge filed after a Dresden Ave. traffic mishap Tuesday. Police said his car swerved off Dresden Ave. and hit a parked auto owned by Ralph Yanni of 2805 St. Clair Ave., causing $400 damage. Staherek told the court he does not have insurance. "That's disgraceful," the judge replied.

Ellis Towery, 28, of the Shadybrook Trailer Court was fined $25 and costs and given a 15-day suspension of his operator's permit on a charge of speeding 75 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 7. He was cited Wednesday at 3:30 a. m. by the Ohio Highway Patrol. The court said he may use his permit to drive to and from work during the suspension period.

Myrna Lou Deem, 29, of 1085 Hillcrest, Wellsville, was fined $15 and costs on a charge of speeding 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 7. She was cited by the patrol Wednesday. David J. DeMain, 18, of Youngstown forfeited a $27.50 bond on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the Freeway. He was cited Saturday night by the patrol. Franklin D. Stevens, 34, of 429 Harker Ave., Newell, accused of speeding 75 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 7, forfeited a $27.50 bond. He was cited by the patrol Wednesday at 3:30 a. m.

A HEARING is slated later today for Richard E. Dye, 28, of Leavittsburg, arrested by the patrol Saturday night on Route 30 on a charge of operating a motorcycle with a defective exhaust. Frank E. Kraft of 233 Center St. was fined $10 and costs on a charge of crashing a stop sign on Park Way. He was cited Friday by Thomas Edgell, Liverpool Township constable.

Curtis Hague, 42, of New Springfield forfeited a $17.50 bond on a charge of crashing a traffic light at 3rd and Market Sts. He was cited Friday at 10:40 p.m. by Patrolman Dwight Garvey. Delmas Stottlemire of Salem was fined $10 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of operating an auto after sundown without headlights. He was cited Saturday at 7:54 p.m. on the Freeway by Patrolman Charles Coen.

Four motorists cited over the weekend for driving the wrong way in a one-way section of Persimmon Alley forfeited $17.50 bonds. They were listed as Joseph Ligotti and Irvin Landau, both of Youngstown, Patrick Cotter of Pittsburgh and Charles Garrison of Alliance.

Jess Carroll of Vernon, Conn., forfeited $17.50 on a charge of speeding 48 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone on W. 8th St. He was cited by Patrolman James Woods Sunday at 6 p. m. Charles D. Bolton of MC 22 was fined $10 and costs on a charge of failure to stop for a stop sign on Hess Rd. He was cited by Constable Edgell Thursday at 1 a. m.

A motorcycle operator and his passenger were fined $10 and costs each on charges of failing to wear protective helmets as required by state law. They were identified as Thomas Taylor of Yeager Dr., Wellsville, the operator, and Darrell Wallace of 1924 Clark Ave., Wellsville, the passenger, both cited Sunday at 5:15 p.m. on St. Clair Ave. by Patrolman Dwight Garvey.

Edward Emler of 7th Ave., LaCroft, was fined $15 and costs after the court convicted him on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance. Emler, cited after a Dresden Ave. traffic mishap Thursday, had pleaded not guilty previously.

The court set a hearing April 23 for Virgil Lee Davis, 18, of 1252 Hague Ave. on a charge of operating a car without a driver's license. He was cited April 8 by Constable Edgell.

Johnson planned to speak on his arrival at Honolulu International Airport. Then he was to go by motorcade to the Iolani Palace, where Democratic Gov. John Burns has his office.

Press secretary George Christian said today's schedule in Hawaii would be largely ceremonial. The meeting with Sharp and McCain comes Tuesday, and Johnson is due to meet with Park on Wednesday.

The chief executive also has been invited to address the 8th annual Interparliamentary Congress of the United States and Mexico Tuesday morning. About 50 Congress members from each country are exchanging views.

bombers stayed below the 19th Parallel in the curtailed air campaign against North Vietnam.

U.S. bombers flew 143 missions over the North Sunday, the second largest number this year and only one less than the 144 flown Jan. 6.

A total of 16 bridges were attacked and three were reported downed or damaged. U.S. pilots also reported destroying 12 trucks and three radar sites and touching off three sustained fires.

North Vietnam charged that U.S. planes "repeatedly violated" air space near Hanoi and other areas north of the 21st Parallel Sunday. It apparently referred to reconnaissance flights.

Recon Flights Made

When President Johnson announced the ban on bombing curtailment above the 20th parallel on March 31, military sources in Saigon said that U.S. planes would continue reconnaissance and photographic missions all over North Vietnam up to the Chinese border.

But civilian sources in Saigon said today that Johnson also halted all U.S. air reconnaissance above the 20th parallel shortly after and the ban was in effect for 10 days. The sources said U.S. pilots resumed the reconnaissance missions, around Hanoi and Haiphong about three days ago after the military decided it needed to know what the North Vietnamese were doing.

A U.S. Command spokesman, asked about the range of reconnaissance flights, said he could not comment.

F111 fighter-bombers raided North Vietnam for the third successive day since they resumed combat missions Friday. The swing-wing jets had been grounded since March 30 after two of the $8 million planes were lost during their first week of combat.

U.S. B52s bombed the A Shau Valley west of Hue twice late Sunday and early today bombed targets in the central highlands 23 miles west of Kontum.

U.S. sources reported that the wreckage of the second F111 lost in the war has been found but not that of the first, which disappeared during a combat mission March 28. The North Vietnamese claimed they shot both down, but mechanical trouble downed the second plane, in Thailand, and is thought to have caused the loss of the first.

BIG BABIES

Q. One of my friends recently had a 10-pound baby. Was this due to the mother gaining too much weight during pregnancy?

A. There is fairly good evidence that weight gained by the mother during pregnancy has little influence on the size or weight of the baby. Women who have exceptionally large babies should have yearly checkups for diabetes. A considerable number of such women develop this disease in later life.

VARICOSE VEINS

Q. During my first pregnancy I had great trouble with varicose veins. If I have another child will the veins get worse?

A. Susceptible persons are likely to develop progressively larger veins with each pregnancy. Doctors often recommend elastic hose or stockings to compress the dilated, tortuous veins. If bandages are used they are usually applied from the toes to the knee for varices of the leg. If the thigh is involved, a second bandage is used so that all bulging vessels are compressed.

Q. During my first pregnancy I had great trouble with varicose veins. If I have another child will the veins get worse?

A. Susceptible persons are likely to develop progressively larger veins with each pregnancy. Doctors often recommend elastic hose or stockings to compress the dilated, tortuous veins. If bandages are used they are usually applied from the toes to the knee for varices of the leg. If the thigh is involved, a second bandage is used so that all bulging vessels are compressed.

The Young And The Vote

For a long time now the emphasis, in America has been on youth.

It isn't necessary to list the many facets of American life in which youth is stressed. Everybody knows them.

But one field in which youth is looming ever bigger and more important is politics. With our young adults comprising an increasingly large segment of our population, they become ever more attractive political game for the parties' hunters.

A recent Gallup Poll of 10,000 persons revealed that some 40 per cent of those between the ages of 21 and 29 call themselves "Independent." This is a higher percentage than in any other age group.

Corralling these votes, however, represents a difficult task for the two parties for, despite considerable vocalization on the part of those who want to lower the voting age still further, less than half of the 21-29 age bracket were registered to vote in the district in which they live.

This compares with 74 per cent registered to vote in the 30-49 age group and 84 per cent for persons 50 and older.

The poll was nationwide but it was, of course, small in numbers. Nevertheless, as a sampling, it indicates that a large number of our youngest voter-eligible citizens do not feel strongly about one political party or the other and more than half of them aren't too concerned about whether or not they vote.

Showing Instead Of Talking

Recent domestic strife has all but made us forget our international fiscal problems. No amount of rationale can justify what has happened and, moreover, the impact both morally and fiscally has yet to be determined.

However serious the situation at home, we are making little headway in solving our problems caused by a balance-of-payments deficit.

Why do we give away money to underdeveloped countries? Only the United States of all the World nations gives money away. Canada, Mexico and the Phillipines make loans. England uses the Commonwealth Development Corp.

Rather than having our federal government penalize American industry by curbing overseas investments, why not let private industry do the developing?

A tax increase probably is necessary as the federal government doesn't seem willing to cut expenditures. Waste abounds in Washington, but under our political system, cutting down on favorite projects or eliminating unnecessary personnel is not the popular thing to do in an election year.

The tax increase is far from being a panacea for the balance of payments. It is necessary for the simple and distressing reason that without higher taxes inflation will make the payments deficit even larger.

But much more is needed to stop inflation and protect the integrity of our money. Unless labor tempers its demands, or unless productivity increases substantially, the dollar is in jeopardy due to our inability to compete in world markets.

Now that Johnson has decided not to run for reelection, let's hope he will show a little statesmanship instead of talking about it.

Letter From Max

By Martin Miller

Nothing can expiate the assassination of Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., Nobel Peace Prize winner.

His name has been added to the list of martyrs who down through the ages died for their beliefs.

In earlier times historic assassinations were performed by the Establishment but in our own relatively young nation such executions have been the work of one or a few crackpots.

Our Establishment is presumed to rest upon law and justice, but looking back from this present vantage point that was not the case in the deaths of figures like Socrates, Christ, Caesar, Joan of Arc and, if you please, the wives of Henry VIII. Those in power took those lives.

In contrast, the four U.S. presidents who were assassinated died at the hands of loners, or at the instigation of very small bands of conspirators.

Even today many countries have governments which stay in power by the premediated murder of political opponents.

We can pat ourselves on the back as being a civilized country but it is not much solace at a time like this. A President and several civil rights leaders have been assassinated within five years.

Promotion of Mrs. Barbara Castle, 56, in the British cabinet to secretary of state for employment and productivity brought to mind Mrs. Frances Perkins, secretary of labor under President Franklin Roosevelt and the only woman ever to serve in the U.S. cabinet. Mrs. Castle is described as being left-wing, as was Mrs. Perkins.

One nice thing about not watching TV very closely is that the reruns all look new.

Eyebrow raiser: Miami City announced it would sell its stock of guns confiscated by police to the highest bidder provided the buyer ships them out of the country. One high bidder promised to ship the weapons to England if they were sold to him. England is still to be heard from.

If you want a nice example of a paradox take all the criticism of the U.S. Supreme Court for its so-called coddling of criminals and compare it to what the same critics say about the necessity of defending the individual rights and protections proclaimed in the Constitution. In one breath we say the court is encouraging crime and in the next breath we say the government is eroding our liberties. Hey Solomon, you got a minute?

This is the season when the war club meets the old apple which hangs a clothes line way out in the pasture. Baseball has started.

Thought while reading the paper and watching television: 35 years ago respectable newspaper people were debating whether it was proper to picture a dead body in a murder or accident.

We have an integrated evergreen tree. Four feet from the ground it has a mourning dove nest, at seven feet a robin nest and at 15 feet a grackle nest.

I once knew an Ohio sheriff who attended funerals whether he knew the deceased or not. Cynics considered it a campaign ploy.

No matter what you think "almost everywhere" means it is a mathematical term defined in the dictionary as "everywhere is a given set except on a subset with measure zero." That clear?

'As An Average Citizen, If The Elections Were Held Today . . .'

Perfect Opponent

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — It will be denied, but the chief advisers of Robert Kennedy, Gene McCarthy and Richard Nixon met secretly in Washington, D.C., to discuss ways of finding a mutual opponent, now that President Lyndon Johnson has talked himself out of the race.

Art Buchwald

The Kennedy spokesman said, "Our entire campaign was based on going after the Johnson administration. Now that he's pulled the rug from under us, my man has nothing left to say."

Nixon's man said, "If you think you're in trouble, we don't even have anybody to run against in the primaries. Dick is no good unless he's attacking somebody."

McCarthy's representative, a sophomore from Radcliffe, said tearfully, "With Johnson out and Hanoi willing to talk, McCarthy has nothing to do but read poetry, and we've got the poet vote already."

KENNEDY'S man said, "We knew the President hated Bobby, but we didn't think he'd go this far."

The Radcliffe girl said to Kennedy's manager, "Why doesn't Bobby attack Gene?"

"Are you nuts?" Kennedy's man replied. "If Bobby attacks him, he'll get Gene nominated. The only thing Bobby has going for him is that he keeps insisting he's on McCarthy's side."

"But that's dirty politics," the Radcliffe girl said.

"Let's not quarrel," Nixon's man said. "We called this meeting to find someone to attack whom we'd all be comfortable with. What about Hubert Humphrey?"

"We've thought about him," the Kennedy man said. "But it's pretty hard to attack Hubert. He's always smiling."

The Radcliffe girl agreed. "Besides, Hubert hasn't done anything for the last four years except be vice president."

THE NIXON man nodded his head. "Dick knows better than anybody how hard it is to prove a vice president was responsible for any administration decisions."

The three people sat in silence.

Finally, Kennedy's man spoke up. "Why doesn't Nixon attack Bobby? Then we'll attack Dick and we'll have a real rough campaign."

The Radcliffe girl said, "But who will attack Gene?"

"We'll leave Gene alone. He can run on his record."

"Not on your life," she said. "You can't ask anybody campaigning for the presidency to run on his record. There's no deal unless Gene gets attacked by both of you."

Nixon's man said, "I wonder if Romney would consider getting back into the race."

"It's hardly worth asking him," Kennedy's man said.

"We've got to find someone we can all attack, someone with whom the public can identify, someone bigger than life who is so feared that people would have to vote for us. We have to do this, even if we invent him."

"Yeh, but how?"

Kennedy's man said, "Let's turn the problem over to a computer to see if it can come up with such a person."

THE OTHER two were elated with the idea and they rushed off to IBM headquarters. They fed the computer all the facts about their candidates and asked the computer to suggest a candidate who would give them the opposition they all needed.

The computer digested all the material and then started tapping out the reply on a printer:

"The perfect opposition candidate for all of you should be 6-foot-2-inches tall. He should have a Texas accent, drive an open convertible, own a ranch near a river and, if possible, have an interest in the only television station in town."

When the three read the teleprinter, their faces dropped.

"Aw," said Kennedy's manager, "the hell with it."

Castro's Cuba

Fidel Remains In Power

Castro's Cuba refuses to fall apart.

Some 4,000 Cubans a month leave for the freedom Miami represents. Castro's secret police have jailed some 10,000 political prisoners, perhaps more. And the American economic blockade continues to pinch painfully.

But Cuba and Castro remain synonymous seven years after the ill-fated Bay of Pigs expedition, April 17, 1961.

Castro has made grievous mistakes. A huge industrialization program has proved pretty much an expensive failure.

The sugar crop, which earns about 80 per cent of the island's foreign exchange, was neglected. Last year provided the second best zafra, or harvest, since Castro took over in 1958—6.1 million tons as against 6.8 million in 1961. But it fell short of a 7.5 million-ton goal.

This year looks to be worse. The London sugar brokerage firm, C. Czarnikow, Lt., estimates the 1968 crop at 5.15 million tons. Worse, the broker says Cuba can't achieve its sugar goal of 10 million tons by 1970 without rebuilding some 114 sugar mills of the 152 in operation throughout the island. Cuba is tied to the Soviet Union by economic assistance of about $400 million a year. A recent visitor, Ronald Steel, observes: "So long as Washington remains hostile, the Cubans have to look to Moscow for their protection, for this is their only guarantee of survival."

Castro so far has been unable to export his brand of revolution elsewhere in Latin America.

Luis E. Aguilar of Georgetown University suggests: "The Castroite theory of revolutionary tactics that Ernesto 'Che' Guevara and (Regis) Debray were testing in the Bolivian backlands ended not only in death for the one and prison for the other but also in exposure of the weakness of their credo."

Nevertheless, whether Castroist communism can be a model for revolution elsewhere or not, Cuba seems to be a going concern. The Cubans carry on nearly one-quarter of their foreign trade with non-Communist nations—Spain, Canada, Britain and Japan among the foremost. They are trying to increase their trade with Western Europe and Japan.

Castro recently has nationalized more than 48,000 small businesses. He threatens to close down the national lottery. He has shut the bars and the fancy night clubs—at perhaps a considerable risk of popularity.

Rumors from time to time have him stepping down as premier but retaining what he now likes to call the "general secretaryship" of his party.

The Castro regime, in a decade, has virtually eliminated illiteracy and doubled the number in school. Cuba has 1.3 million pupils in grade schools, 140,000 in secondary schools and 40,000 in the university.

There are militarism and political indoctrination in the schools. But many of the pupils are the children of workers and peasants who had not peviously had a chance at education of any quality.

Freedom of speech and assembly are not guaranteed in Castro's Cuba. Parliamentary institutions are missing. Cuba is hardly to be considered free or democratic in a political sense.

But as Steel saw it, Cuba is "a society, perhaps one of the few in the world, where people give the impression of actually liking their government or at least not looking upon it as the enemy. It is a country, an experiment, a state of mind quite unlike any other."

RAYMOND MOLEY

The Ordeal

In all the news and comment that has followed the President's announcement of his plan to retire, very little attention has been given to the purely personal and human motives for his decision.

Perhaps that lack is due to the cynicism that marks our appraisal of the motives of all politicians. And because of that prevailing cynicism, our demands upon those who aspire to or hold public office border on cruelty.

We compel them not only to be heard in public meetings or over the airwaves but to be seen, touched, questioned unmercifully and hauled about the country like a dead whale on a flat car.

Once in office, they are persecuted by people demanding jobs and benefits far beyond the available means. They are abused and threatened by greedy suppliants for favors. Everyone is seeking something that belongs to someone else. We expect our public servants to feed a multitude with a small basket of loaves and fishes.

That is the normal pattern of public life. But these are not normal times. Grave issues disturb the public — perhaps more serious and inflammable than have been seen since the Civil War. And since power centers in the President, he would have to bear the more crushing burden in a campaign for renomination and re-election.

His appearance would be greeted this year not by the normal cheering partisan throngs, but by angry demonstrations. And beyond that ordeal in the months to come he would, if elected, face four years with a Congress dominated by a divided party and possibly by a Republican opposition.

Thus, the price of the glory of another term would be excessive, and such glory as might come from vindication at the polls would be diminished by ultimate frustration and perhaps failure at the end.

Such an ordeal might well be far beyond Mr. Johnson's physical capacility. He will be 60 in August. He has spent 37 of those years in the turmoil of politics. He has enjoyed high political office and honors well beyond any of his contemporaries. He is also an emotional and proud man.

None of the quieting and philosophical fortitude of a Dwight Eisenhower, a Calvin Coolidge or a Herbert Hoover could protect such a nature as Lyndon Johnson's against the vicissitudes of a lengthened public life. When he is attacked, he must counterattack. His impulse is to regard criticism as personal.

And in his resistance to opposition and criticism and abuse, he would try to spend far more of the vitality than is accorded to the normal individual. His health and his life itself might well be what he would pay for another term.

All this must have been urged upon him by his family and his true personal friends.

They must have pointed out to him, and he must have realized, that those circumstances should dictate retirement. For he was approaching the fork in the road of his career. The choice of going on to win re-election was cluttered with hazards to his physical constitution and his pride.

The other option which he finally took was a lengthened life with his family, his friends and his assurance of an honored place in history.

But his pride remained. And, fortunately for him, there appeared, before his final decision was made, a glimmer of hope for peace — in part because of signs from Hanoi and in part because of the assurance that a turn in the military situation might be at hand.

These offered salvation for his pride. But to pursue them, he must be free of the ordeal of seeking another term.

President Johnson's personal reward is already appearing. For nothing he has done in the past two years has so revived his fading popularity. This was visible and audible when he attended the installation of the new archbishop in New York.

When he entered the cathedral and when he arose to leave he was applauded — a most unusual demonstration in that holy place. Indeed, it has been said that such applause had only happened there before when Pope Paul visited New York in 1965.

It will be well to suspend cynicism and grant this man an honored departure from public life.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Miss Mary Helen Smith, a student at Catholic University, Washington, D. C., spent the Easter vacation at her home here.

Fire origin swept the interior of the People's Credit clothing store and caused damage estimated at $15,000.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — The crest of the worst Ohio River flood in three years reached East Liverpool, with high water forcing some 600 from their homes in the district.

Heavy rains caused a hillside slip that wrecked a home on Glendale Rd., about two miles from Newell.

TEN YEARS AGO — Cecil D. Pugh of Chester was appointed foreman of the grand jury which convened in the Hancock County Courthouse at New Cumberland.

Richard S. Rowe, superintendent of the Buckeye Plant of the McLain Fire Brick Division of the H. K. Porter Co., was appointed to the Wellsville Board of Education.

East Liverpool took the first step toward an engineering survey to lay the groundwork for an urban development and renewal program.

The Cubans carry on nearly one-quarter of their foreign trade with non-Communist nations—Spain, Canada, Britain and Japan among the foremost. They are trying to increase their trade with Western Europe and Japan.

Castro recently has nationalized more than 48,000 small businesses. He threatens to close down the national lottery. He has shut the bars and the fancy night clubs—at perhaps a considerable risk of popularity.

Rumors from time to time have him stepping down as premier but retaining what he now likes to call the "general secretaryship" of his party.

The Castro regime, in a decade, has virtually eliminated illiteracy and doubled the number in school. Cuba has 1.3 million pupils in grade schools, 140,000 in secondary schools and 40,000 in the university.

There are militarism and political indoctrination in the schools. But many of the pupils are the children of workers and peasants who had not peviously had a chance at education of any quality.

Freedom of speech and assembly are not guaranteed in Castro's Cuba. Parliamentary institutions are missing. Cuba is hardly to be considered free or democratic in a political sense.

But as Steel saw it, Cuba is "a society, perhaps one of the few in the world, where people give the impression of actually liking their government or at least not looking upon it as the enemy. It is a country, an experiment, a state of mind quite unlike any other."

RAYMOND MOLEY

The Ordeal

In all the news and comment that has followed the President's announcement of his plan to retire, very little attention has been given to the purely personal and human motives for his decision.

Perhaps that lack is due to the cynicism that marks our appraisal of the motives of all politicians. And because of that prevailing cynicism, our demands upon those who aspire to or hold public office border on cruelty.

We compel them not only to be heard in public meetings or over the airwaves but to be seen, touched, questioned unmercifully and hauled about the country like a dead whale on a flat car.

Once in office, they are persecuted by people demanding jobs and benefits far beyond the available means. They are abused and threatened by greedy suppliants for favors. Everyone is seeking something that belongs to someone else. We expect our public servants to feed a multitude with a small basket of loaves and fishes.

That is the normal pattern of public life. But these are not normal times. Grave issues disturb the public — perhaps more serious and inflammable than have been seen since the Civil War. And since power centers in the President, he would have to bear the more crushing burden in a campaign for renomination and re-election.

His appearance would be greeted this year not by the normal cheering partisan throngs, but by angry demonstrations. And beyond that ordeal in the months to come he would, if elected, face four years with a Congress dominated by a divided party and possibly by a Republican opposition.

Thus, the price of the glory of another term would be excessive, and such glory as might come from vindication at the polls would be diminished by ultimate frustration and perhaps failure at the end.

Such an ordeal might well be far beyond Mr. Johnson's physical capacility. He will be 60 in August. He has spent 37 of those years in the turmoil of politics. He has enjoyed high political office and honors well beyond any of his contemporaries. He is also an emotional and proud man.

None of the quieting and philosophical fortitude of a Dwight Eisenhower, a Calvin Coolidge or a Herbert Hoover could protect such a nature as Lyndon Johnson's against the vicissitudes of a lengthened public life. When he is attacked, he must counterattack. His impulse is to regard criticism as personal.

And in his resistance to opposition and criticism and abuse, he would try to spend far more of the vitality than is accorded to the normal individual. His health and his life itself might well be what he would pay for another term.

All this must have been urged upon him by his family and his true personal friends.

They must have pointed out to him, and he must have realized, that those circumstances should dictate retirement. For he was approaching the fork in the road of his career. The choice of going on to win re-election was cluttered with hazards to his physical constitution and his pride.

The other option which he finally took was a lengthened life with his family, his friends and his assurance of an honored place in history.

But his pride remained. And, fortunately for him, there appeared, before his final decision was made, a glimmer of hope for peace — in part because of signs from Hanoi and in part because of the assurance that a turn in the military situation might be at hand.

These offered salvation for his pride. But to pursue them, he must be free of the ordeal of seeking another term.

President Johnson's personal reward is already appearing. For nothing he has done in the past two years has so revived his fading popularity. This was visible and audible when he attended the installation of the new archbishop in New York.

When he entered the cathedral and when he arose to leave he was applauded — a most unusual demonstration in that holy place. Indeed, it has been said that such applause had only happened there before when Pope Paul visited New York in 1965.

It will be well to suspend cynicism and grant this man an honored departure from public life.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Miss Mary Helen Smith, a student at Catholic University, Washington, D. C., spent the Easter vacation at her home here.

Fire origin swept the interior of the People's Credit clothing store and caused damage estimated at $15,000.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — The crest of the worst Ohio River flood in three years reached East Liverpool, with high water forcing some 600 from their homes in the district.

Heavy rains caused a hillside slip that wrecked a home on Glendale Rd., about two miles from Newell.

TEN YEARS AGO — Cecil D. Pugh of Chester was appointed foreman of the grand jury which convened in the Hancock County Courthouse at New Cumberland.

Richard S. Rowe, superintendent of the Buckeye Plant of the McLain Fire Brick Division of the H. K. Porter Co., was appointed to the Wellsville Board of Education.

East Liverpool took the first step toward an engineering survey to lay the groundwork for an urban development and renewal program.

At Private Conference

Democratic Governors Display Political Caution

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Democratic governors talk some presidential politics today, and agents for the party's White House contenders already are at work, hunting support for their men.

But it seemed unlikely that any of the three top prospects for the nomination President Johnson shunned would make much headway at the brief private session.

At least 16 of the 24 Democratic governors were to attend the party's governors' conference at a downtown hotel, but in general they seemed to have only one thing in common: political caution.

The advance talk was of uncommitted delegations and favorite son candidacies.

Political strategists representing the camps of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who hasn't yet announced his candidacy, all were on hand to argue the case for their candidates.

But only governors were to be admitted to the conference itself.

Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, who supports George C. Wallace for president, said in advance he would seek backing for the Alabaman.

Gov. Kenneth M. Curtis of Maine announced he would break into a Florida vaction to attend the meeting as a Kennedy man.

Nine of the governors due to attend were from Southern border states. And in some of those states there were signs of Humphrey support.

Birthday Fete Of Auxiliary Attracts 175

Approximately 175 attended the annual birthday banquet of the Auxiliary of American Legion Post 374 Saturday night at the post home. Members of the post were guests.

The speaker was Mrs. James E. Warner, of Akron, state president of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Mrs. Warner, whose husband was also a guest, was presented a set of dishes by Mrs. Lois Burdick, mistress of ceremonies, and Mrs. Julia Baumgard, president of the host group, on behalf of the Auxiliary.

The welcome was given by Mrs. Baumgard, who introduced her auxiliary officers.

Densel McKinney, commander of Post 374, introduced post officers. Remarks were given by Mrs. James R. Poynter of East Liverpool, District 10 president.

Other guests included Mrs. Henry Kellar of Massillon, past junior 10th district president, and her husband; James Cregar, 10th district commander; Poynter, 10th district sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. William N. Gill of Minerva, past state president and candidate for national vice president, and husbands of Mrs. Warner and Mrs. Gill.

The invocation and benediction were given by Mrs. Jack Reardon and the flag salute was led by Mrs. Dorothy Krafft.

A cocktail hour preceded the banquet. Dancing was to the music of Russ Ludwig's orchestra.

OTTAWA — Canadian governments, local and national, spend some $100 million each winter plowing, melting or moving snow from streets and roads.

Arabs Show Interest In Latest Plan

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Arab interest in a plan to demilitarize Israeli-occupied Arab territories, reported to have been proposed by U.N. envoy Gunnar Jarring, has created "an exciting chance" of peace settlement, informed sources in Amman say.

Diplomatic activity reached a new peak in the Jordanian capital over the weekend and it was reported that the proposal was under active and favorable consideration by Jordan and Egypt.

Israeli foreign ministry officials said they had not heard of the plan and could not comment.

Jarring is reported to have suggested to leaders during his trips around the Middle East that Isdaeli troops withdraw from the West Bank to the Jordan River, the Sinai Peninsula and Syria's Golan Heights—all occupied during the war last June—and the Arabs in return agree not to move troops into the areas.

Jarring met Friday with King Hussein and Premier Bahjat Talhouni of Jordan. He is expected to visit Israel Tuesday and Cairo later in the week.

Sources in Amman said Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser is unlikely to object to Jarring's formula, and strategy considerations might motivate the Arabs to accept the plan.

The June war and the clash last month with Israeli armor showed that Jordan's natural defense line is not the West Bank but the East Bank of the Jordan River, the sources said.

Hearing Slated In Driving Case

LISBON — Mayor Clyde B. Pike will hold a hearing Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. for Melvin E. Brown Jr., 40, of Lisbon RD 1, charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Police arrested Brown at 4:20 a.m. Sunday when his 1965 sedan ran over the curb on Lee Ave. and splintered a utility pole near the fairgrounds entrance.

Brown escaped injury, although his car had to be towed away, police said. They took Brown to the Ohio Highway Patrol post here for a "breathalyzer" test. He posted a $300 appearance bond.

Local police are beginning to use the state patrol intoxication test for drivers.

If the defendant fails to take the test, the arresting officer forwards an affidavit to the registrar of motor vehicles who shall revoke the defendant's license or permit to drive for six months.

Sought By Dr. King

Javits Predicts Passage Of Program To Aid Poor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Saying "a great stirring of the national will is in order," a Republican senator predicts Congress will respond to a plea that it enact a multibillion-dollar program for the poor sought by the assassinated Martin Luther King Jr.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., endorsed Sunday the plea made by four religious leaders.

They urged President Johnson and Congress to take "extraordinary action" to gain passage of the program, which King had said would cost about $12 billion. They added this would be a first step in implementing the recommendations of the President's National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., who served on the riot commission, has said he will introduce after the Easter congressional recess a package of legislation incorporating many of the commission proposals on employment, housing and welfare.

Religious leaders pleading for action were the Most Rev. John F. Dearden, archbishop of Detroit and president of the National Conference on Catholic Bishops; Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, president of the National Council of Churches; Archbishop Iakovos, chairman of the Standing Conference of Orthodox Bishops in the Americas, and Rabbi Jacob P. Rudin, president of the Synagogue Council of America.

King had been planning a massive demonstration in Washington, called the Poor People's Campaign, to gain support for his suggested program. Officials of King's Southern Leadership Conference say the demonstration is still planned but no definite date has been set.

Javits Predicts Passage Of Program To Aid Poor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Saying "a great stirring of the national will is in order," a Republican senator predicts Congress will respond to a plea that it enact a multibillion-dollar program for the poor sought by the assassinated Martin Luther King Jr.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., endorsed Sunday the plea made by four religious leaders.

They urged President Johnson and Congress to take "extraordinary action" to gain passage of the program, which King had said would cost about $12 billion. They added this would be a first step in implementing the recommendations of the President's National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., who served on the riot commission, has said he will introduce after the Easter congressional recess a package of legislation incorporating many of the commission proposals on employment, housing and welfare.

Religious leaders pleading for action were the Most Rev. John F. Dearden, archbishop of Detroit and president of the National Conference on Catholic Bishops; Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, president of the National Council of Churches; Archbishop Iakovos, chairman of the Standing Conference of Orthodox Bishops in the Americas, and Rabbi Jacob P. Rudin, president of the Synagogue Council of America.

King had been planning a massive demonstration in Washington, called the Poor People's Campaign, to gain support for his suggested program. Officials of King's Southern Leadership Conference say the demonstration is still planned but no definite date has been set.

Starchy Ceremony

LOUISVILLE, Colo. (AP) — When a new highway was dedicated at Louisville, there wasn't the usual ribbon-cutting ceremony. Instead, Mayor Frank Rizzi snipped a ribbon of spaghetti that was 50 feet long and three inches wide. Many of Louisville's resident are of Italian descent.

Eight Traffic Mishaps Investigated By Patrol

A 17-year-old Lisbon area girl was injured when she was thrown from an auto in a one-car mishap near Salineville Sunday — one of eight traffic mishaps over the weekend reported by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Judith D. Boyle, 17, of Lisbon RD 4 was thrown from the passenger side of a 1965 station wagon operated by Mary F. Devitt, 17, of Salineville RD 2 when a tire blew out, causing the car to go out of control and go off the right side of the road, where it struck an embankment, officers reported.

The right side and front of the station wagon were damaged in the mishap which took place on County Rd. 644, three miles north of Salineville at 12:45 a.m. Officers said both girls complained of injuries and would contact their personal physicians.

TWO CITY motorists were admitted to City Hospital as the result of injuries suffered when their car went out of control on slippery pavement and skidded into a guardrail on Route 30 Sunday at 11:10 p.m.

In "fair" condition is Allan Keith Johnston, 18, of 1253 Croft St., driver of the auto, possible chest injuries. Also "fair" is Jerry Allen Cain, 17, of 2238 St. Clair Ave., possible fractured ribs.

Officers said the mishap occurred a mile north of the city limits when the 1965 coach, operated by Johnston, northbound in the left lane, slid across the right lane and into the guardrail damaging the right front of the car.

A Lisbon woman was admitted to Salem Central Clinic after her 1965 sedan left the roadway on County Rd. 416 near the Leetonia corporation limits and crashed into three utility poles.

"Fair" at the clinic is Mary Elizabeth A. Snow, 65, of Lisbon RD 5 with injuries received in the mishap Saturday at 10:45 a.m.

—:—

TWO motorcyclists complained of injuries after their cycles collided on East Main St., New Waterford, Sunday at 6:45 p.m.

A cycle operated by Thomas R. Blair, 18, of Box 123 New Waterford was struck by another 1968 cycle operated by Charles Seibert, 19, of New Waterford RD 1.

An Alliance man was injured and his 1969 coach demolished when it went off the roadway and struck a guardrail on Route 30 near East Liverpool Sunday at 10:30 p.m.

"Fair" at City Hospital is John McGowan, 55, driver of the auto, laceration of the lower lip and possible fractured jaw.

Two cars were damaged moderately on Route 45, a mile north of Lisbon, Sunday at 10:05 p.m. when a 1966 sedan rammed the rear of a 1959 coach which had gone off the road into a ditch.

The sedan, operated by David Richard Metzgar, 23, of 811 Riverside Ave., Wellsville was damaged on the right front and the coach on the left rear when the northbound Metzgar car struck the rear of the coach, owned by Beverly Ann Davis, of Leetonia RD 1, which was extended onto the highway, officers reported.

—:—

TWO CARS were damaged in a hit - skip accident on Eastlake Rd., a mile north of Route 177, Saturday at 7:40 p.m.

Thomas J. Boyle, 59, of North Benton, left the scene after his 1962 sedan, northbound, struck an approaching 1962 sedan operated by Carl S. Fetty, 28, of 2123 E. Lisbon St., officers reported.

A city motorcyclist complained of injuries after his cycle was forced off the road on Route 267 a half - mile south of County Rd. 424, Saturday at 2:20 p.m.

Officers said Harold Gatrell, 18, of 3rd St. was behind a 1964 coach operated by Mary B. Ring of Columbus when the Ring car turned left. Gatrell said he applied his brakes to avoid the car and slid off the road into a ditch.

Soviet Union Prepares To Launch Men In Orbit

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union is preparing to launch men into orbit around the earth in a resumption of its manned space program. Informed sources said today a launching will come soon.

Despite the traditional Soviet secrecy about space plans, there are indications that the flight will include the linkup of two space ships in orbit which cosmonaut Vladimir M. Komarov was apparently supposed to have made before his death during the last manned flight a year ago. U.S. astronauts made their first such linkup two and a half years ago.

The Baikonur space center at Tyuratam, in Central Asia, launched an unmanned spacecraft Sunday of the kind expected to be used for the manned flight.

The flight, listed as No. 212 in the all-purpose Cosmos series of unmanned satellites, was officially described as intended to "test new systems and elements of the design of spacecraft." This is unusual wording or a Cosmos announcement, which usually speaks only of "space exploration."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Perspective, the impression of depth in a two-dimensional surface, is achieved through the use of a vanishing point, the point where any set of parallel lines will seem to converge. This method for creating linear perspective was devised by the Florentine architect, Filippo Brunelleschi (1377-1446).

Grave Stones Pushed Over At Locust Hill

Between 20 and 25 granite tombstones were overturned some time before dawn Sunday morning at Locust Hill Cemetery near Chester, members of the board of directors reported today.

Harry Abrams, former Chester mayor, said the overturned gravestones were discovered between 8 and 9 a.m. when Charles Pugh of Allison School Rd., caretaker, arrived to open the gates. Pugh notified Hancock County sheriff's deputies, who conducted an investigation.

Damage tentatively was estimated at $500 by deputies, although Abrams said none of the stones was broken, but all were pushed off their foundations.

The damaged stones all were near the front entrance in the main circle, he explained. No veterans' markers were involved.

Abrams said the seven-member board will meet Tuesday night to determine what course of action will be taken.

Earl Wilson of Chester is board chairman.

Prison Trend Shifts

WASHINGTON — The number of persons in federal prisons declined progressively every year from 1962 to last year. In 1962 a record 24,309 persons were in prison. The total had declined to 19,277 in 1966, but increased to 19,637 in 1967.

Eight Traffic Mishaps Investigated By Patrol

A 17-year-old Lisbon area girl was injured when she was thrown from an auto in a one-car mishap near Salineville Sunday — one of eight traffic mishaps over the weekend reported by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Judith D. Boyle, 17, of Lisbon RD 4 was thrown from the passenger side of a 1965 station wagon operated by Mary F. Devitt, 17, of Salineville RD 2 when a tire blew out, causing the car to go out of control and go off the right side of the road, where it struck an embankment, officers reported.

The right side and front of the station wagon were damaged in the mishap which took place on County Rd. 644, three miles north of Salineville at 12:45 a.m. Officers said both girls complained of injuries and would contact their personal physicians.

TWO CITY motorists were admitted to City Hospital as the result of injuries suffered when their car went out of control on slippery pavement and skidded into a guardrail on Route 30 Sunday at 11:10 p.m.

In "fair" condition is Allan Keith Johnston, 18, of 1253 Croft St., driver of the auto, possible chest injuries. Also "fair" is Jerry Allen Cain, 17, of 2238 St. Clair Ave., possible fractured ribs.

Officers said the mishap occurred a mile north of the city limits when the 1965 coach, operated by Johnston, northbound in the left lane, slid across the right lane and into the guardrail damaging the right front of the car.

A Lisbon woman was admitted to Salem Central Clinic after her 1965 sedan left the roadway on County Rd. 416 near the Leetonia corporation limits and crashed into three utility poles.

"Fair" at the clinic is Mary Elizabeth A. Snow, 65, of Lisbon RD 5 with injuries received in the mishap Saturday at 10:45 a.m.

—:—

TWO motorcyclists complained of injuries after their cycles collided on East Main St., New Waterford, Sunday at 6:45 p.m.

A cycle operated by Thomas R. Blair, 18, of Box 123 New Waterford was struck by another 1966 cycle operated by Charles Seibert, 19, of New Waterford RD 1.

An Alliance man was injured and his 1959 coach demolished when it went off the roadway and struck a guardrail on Route 30 near East Liverpool Sunday at 10:30 p.m.

"Fair" at City Hospital is John McGowan, 55, driver of the auto, laceration of the lower lip and possible fractured jaw.

Two cars were damaged moderately on Route 45, a mile north of Lisbon, Sunday at 10:05 p.m. when a 1966 sedan rammed the rear of a 1959 coach which had gone off the road into a ditch.

The sedan, operated by David Richard Metzgar, 23, of 811 Riverside Ave., Wellsville was damaged on the right front and the coach on the left rear when the northbound Metzgar car struck the rear of the coach, owned by Beverly Ann Davis, of Leetonia RD 1, which was extended onto the highway, officers reported.

—:—

TWO CARS were damaged in a hit - skip accident on Eastlake Rd., a mile north of Route 177, Saturday at 7:40 p.m.

Thomas J. Boyle, 59, of North Benton, left the scene after his 1962 sedan, northbound, struck an approaching 1962 sedan operated by Carl S. Fetty, 28, of 2123 E. Lisbon St., officers reported.

A city motorcyclist complained of injuries after his cycle was forced off the road on Route 267 a half - mile south of County Rd. 424, Saturday at 2:20 p.m.

Officers said Harold Gatrell, 18, of 3rd St. was behind a 1964 coach operated by Mary B. Ring of Columbus when the Ring car turned left. Gatrell said he applied his brakes to avoid the car and slid off the road into a ditch.

Soviet Union Prepares To Launch Men In Orbit

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union is preparing to launch men into orbit around the earth in a resumption of its manned space program. Informed sources said today a launching will come soon.

Despite the traditional Soviet secrecy about space plans, there are indications that the flight will include the linkup of two space ships in orbit which cosmonaut Vladimir M. Komarov was apparently supposed to have made before his death during the last manned flight a year ago. U.S. astronauts made their first such linkup two and a half years ago.

The Baikonur space center at Tyuratam, in Central Asia, launched an unmanned spacecraft Sunday of the kind expected to be used for the manned flight.

The flight, listed as No. 212 in the all-purpose Cosmos series of unmanned satellites, was officially described as intended to "test new systems and elements of the design of spacecraft." This is unusual wording or a Cosmos announcement, which usually speaks only of "space exploration."

Third Class Awaited In Pre-Natal Series

LISBON — The third in a series of four pre - natal cases sponsored by the Columbiana County Health Department and the Salem City Health Department will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Courthouse.

"Preparation for Labor and Delivery" will be the topic. The final class April 23 will be on "Formula Preparation, Bathing Baby, and Normal Growth and Development."

Perspective, the impression of depth in a two-dimensional surface, is achieved through the use of a vanishing point, the point where any set of parallel lines will seem to converge. This method for creating linear perspective was devised by the Florentine architect, Filippo Brunelleschi (1377-1446).

Grave Stones Pushed Over At Locust Hill

Between 20 and 25 granite tombstones were overturned some time before dawn Sunday morning at Locust Hill Cemetery near Chester, members of the board of directors reported today.

Harry Abrams, former Chester mayor, said the overturned gravestones were discovered between 8 and 9 a.m. when Charles Pugh of Allison School Rd., caretaker, arrived to open the gates. Pugh notified Hancock County sheriff's deputies, who conducted an investigation.

Damage tentatively was estimated at $500 by deputies, although Abrams said none of the stones was broken, but all were pushed off their foundations.

The damaged stones all were near the front entrance in the main circle, he explained. No veterans' markers were involved.

Abrams said the seven-member board will meet Tuesday night to determine what course of action will be taken.

Earl Wilson of Chester is board chairman.

Prison Trend Shifts

WASHINGTON — The number of persons in federal prisons declined progressively every year from 1962 to last year. In 1962 a record 24,309 persons were in prison. The total had declined to 19,277 in 1966, but increased to 19,637 in 1967.

Thieves Loot 2 City Homes

Two East Liverpool homes were looted by thieves over the weekend, police reported.

An intruder took about $10 in pennies and $45 in 50-cent pieces from the home of Mrs. Peggy Nichols of 430 Morton St. in an entry Friday night or early Saturday.

A piggy bank was rifled of an undetermined amount of change in an entry between Friday and Sunday at the home of James Delligatti of 407 W. 4th St.

Mrs. Nichols reported the burglary at her home Saturday at 3 p.m. She said entry was gained by forcing a lock on the kitchen door. The intruder also took a man's wristwatch valued at $15, an engagement ring valued at $150 and seven silver certificates, she reported. The entry was timed between 6 p.m. Friday and 1 a.m. Saturday.

At the Delligatti home, other items were taken, but abandoned by the thief, police reported. The entry was timed between 5:30 p.m. Friday and 6:10 p.m. Sunday. The thief entered through a rear door by breaking a pane of glass 24-by-36 inches.

A small brown folder containing blank checks and other items was stolen from a closet in the kitchen, but it was found later in a trash can. A jewelry box containing a ring and miscellaneous items — at first believed stolen — was found underneath a bed.

Officers said a butcher knife was used to force open the piggy bank.

Damon Runyon Jr. Claimed By Plunge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Damon Runyon Jr., son of the famous newspaper man and author and a newspaper reporter himself, has been killed in a 50-foot plunge from a Washington bridge.

Runyon, 39, was dead on arrival at a hospital after plummeting Sunday from P Street Bridge.

Runyon began his career 32 years ago with the old International News Service. Last October he became a feature writer for the D. C. Examiner, a new Washington paper.

Survivors include his widow, a son and a daughter, all of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Tuesday Session Set By Trustees Of CAA

LISBON — The board of trustees of the Community Action Agency of Columbiana County, Inc., will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the welfare building conference room, 117 E. Washington St.

The Rev. William V. Ring of Leetonia RD 1, chairman, will preside.

Trustees will discuss the need for an executive director to succeed Miss Catherine Franzetta of East Liverpool, who will leave May 3 to accept a CAA post at Dayton, and a deputy director for the resources center. They will consider applications for a bookkeeper.

Canada's oldest national park is Banff, in western Alberta. It was opened in 1885.

Cleveland Awarded Funds For Beaches

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Federal Water Pollution Control Administration has awarded Cleveland a 220,000 grant to help finance the city's "clean beaches" campaign.

Mayor Carl B. Stokes announced Sunday night the grant to pay for experimental work in reducing overflow from Edgewater sewer, study of the effect of hypochlorination of creek waters entering Lake Erie, implementation of a dry-weather sewer-flushing program and screening of overflows and streams.

FWPCA Director Ben S. Stefanski II said the grant will encourage the city to put up matching funds to allow construction of a $120,000 sheet steel enclosure at White City Beach.

Fisherman Drowns

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Lake County sheriff's deputies said Albert J. Rowan, 28, of Painesville slipped and drowned while fishing in Grant River Saturday.

Before you sign on the dotted line know what your loan will cost!

You're told in advance at Household Finance. The cost of your loan is spelled out clearly, simply, and in dollars and cents. No extras. No hidden charges. No "surprises" afterward. You get the facts first, before you borrow.

That's one reason why, every year, more than 2½ million people come to us for money service. They get loans to pay bills . . . to get better cars . . . to fix up their homes . . . or to meet other important needs.

When you need a loan, you'll find that you, too, borrow with confidence from the company that tells you the cost of your loan in advance.

Freight Train Damages Car Near Tracks

An unoccupied, parked auto was damaged Saturday night when struck by a Penn Central freight locomotive near the Union St. crossing, police were told by the train crew.

Ownership of the auto, a 1958 or 1959 model convertible, was traced to Norman E. Stearns of 136 W. 2nd St., but the car had been towed away before police arrived to investigate.

Officers said the vehicle was parked near the tracks when hit about 7:36 p.m. by a westbound freight. Clifford T. Oakes of 2115 Michigan Ave., the conductor, told Patrolman Dwight Garvey the collision broke a speedometer cable on the Penn Central locomotive. An unknown person driving a pickup truck towed the damaged car away before the arrival of police, Garvey reported.

In an East End mishap Saturday afternoon, one of the drivers left the scene and declined to return after he had been intercepted by Midland police, local officers reported.

The collision on Pennsylvania Ave. at Palissey St. involved a 1962 sedan driven by Kenneth C. Birch, 54, of 1441 Globe St. and a 1957 sedan operated by Donald G. Ziegler, 57, of 500 Midland Ave., Midland. Birch told police he was turning left onto Palissey from Pennsylvania Ave. when his car was hit from the rear by Ziegler's car. Ziegler halted and asked Birch to drive his car onto the side street where they could discuss the mishap without creating a traffic hazard. Birch said. Then, Birch said, Ziegler got back into his car and drove east toward Midland.

Notified by radio by East Liverpool police, the Midland department halted Ziegler at Midland, but he declined to cross the state line to discuss the damages, officers said. The collision damaged the trunk lid of Birch's car, according to Patrolman Charles Coen, who investigated.

A mishap at St. Clair and McKinnon Aves. Saturday at 2:06 p.m. involved a 1967 two - door sedan driven by Sue Hoppel, 31, of Suburban Heights, Wellsville, and a 1962 model station wagon operated by Charles Mercer, 46, of 936 Fairview St., officers said.

The woman was driving south on St. Clair and turning onto McKinnon Ave. Mercer was proceeding west on McKinnon Ave.

Another mishap at Pennsylvania and Dewey Aves. at 12:05 p.m. Saturday damaged a 1961 model two - door sedan driven by Dewey J. Price, 53, of 831 Valley Ave. and a 1965 four-door sedan operated by Rickey A. Steffen, 17, of 444 1st Ave., officers said. Each driver claimed the traffic light was in his favor, police said.

Wellsville Post To Meet Tonight

Members of American Legion Post 70 of Wellsville will meet tonight at 8 in the post home.

The following nominating committee has been appointed by Jerome Gitschier, commander — Harry Excell, adjutant; Sam Maylone, finance officer, William Boyce and Robert Beresford. Gitschier also is a member.

The committee will report May 6, with nominations from the floor that night and on May 13. The election will be May 20 from 1 to 8 p.m. at the home. Installation will be June 3.

Walter A. English of Stratton has been accepted as a transfer member.

The post's auxiliary will hold a house - to - house canvass for the Cancer Fund during April. The combined groups are in charge of the drive in Wellsville. Maylone, general chairman, said the post will conduct a "block of silver" April 27. A group consisting of the commander, Robert Byers and Kenneth Hoover, second vice commander, said "buck boards"—with space available for $24—and other collection buckets are being distributed to area businesses.

The adjutant said membership has attained 374.

Hoover said a summer family picnic will be held July 21 at James' Lake. Another affair is planned for Aug. 25. The lake is located on Route 45, near Wellsville.

Midnight's Deadline For Income Tax

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Midnight tonight is the deadline for filing 1967 income tax returns and the government estimates 18 million Americans waited until the past weekend to do it.

To meet the legal deadline, returns must be postmarked by midnight but the rules have been stretched for persons affected by last week's racial violence, including police, firemen and National Guardsmen called to duty.

Persons whose records were lost or destroyed in the violence or were prevented from obtaining help in preparing their returns because of curfews or related conditions may file late returns.

But they must be filed as soon as possible and accompanied by letters explaining the circumstances and reasons for the delay.

The usual penalty for late filing—5 per cent monthly of the taxes due up to a maximum of 25 per cent—will not be assessed but the interest must be paid—one half of one per cent of the taxes due.

The Internal Revenue Service estimated that at least 5.2 million taxpapers will file returns today, the last contingent of 18 million who had not acted by Friday. But the IRS added that three out of four taxpayers sent their returns in earlier.

By midnight tonight, about 60 million individual returns will have been filed, the agency said. IRS expects the total to reach a record 73.2 million by June.

when water cannon opened up at point-blank range.

In a three-hour melee, the leftists flung stones, pieces of metal, fruit, firecrackers and paint and tried to pile barriers across the street. At least three construction trucks were knocked over.

The students retreated only when police advanced with clubs swinging. At least one patrolman was knocked down and beaten when he moved too far in front.

Doctors reported that Dutschke, 28, was making satisfactory progress.

He was hit by three revolver shots. One lodged in his brain and was removed in a lengthy operation. The man accused of shooting Dutschke, a house painter named Josef Bachmann, 23, was wounded by police and also is reported making satisfactory progress.

Freight Train Damages Car Near Tracks

An unoccupied, parked auto was damaged Saturday night when struck by a Penn Central freight locomotive near the Union St. crossing, police were told by the train crew.

Ownership of the auto, a 1958 or 1959 model convertible, was traced to Norman E. Stearns of 136 W. 2nd St., but the car had been towed away before police arrived to investigate.

Officers said the vehicle was parked near the tracks when hit about 7:36 p.m. by a westbound freight. Clifford T. Oakes of 2115 Michigan Ave., the conductor, told Patrolman Dwight Garvey the collision broke a speedometer cable on the Penn Central locomotive. An unknown person driving a pickup truck towed the damaged car away before the arrival of police, Garvey reported.

In an East End mishap Saturday afternoon, one of the drivers left the scene and declined to return after he had been intercepted by Midland police, local officers reported.

The collision on Pennsylvania Ave. at Palissey St. involved a 1962 sedan driven by Kenneth C. Birch, 54, of 1441 Globe St. and a 1957 sedan operated by Donald G. Ziegler, 57, of 500 Midland Ave., Midland. Birch told police he was turning left onto Palissey from Pennsylvania Ave. when his car was hit from the rear by Ziegler's car. Ziegler halted and asked Birch to drive his car onto the side street where they could discuss the mishap without creating a traffic hazard. Birch said. Then, Birch said, Ziegler got back into his car and drove east toward Midland.

Notified by radio by East Liverpool police, the Midland department halted Ziegler at Midland, but he declined to cross the state line to discuss the damages, officers said. The collision damaged the trunk lid of Birch's car, according to Patrolman Charles Coen, who investigated.

A mishap at St. Clair and McKinnon Aves. Saturday at 2:06 p.m. involved a 1967 two - door sedan driven by Sue Hoppel, 31, of Suburban Heights, Wellsville, and a 1962 model station wagon operated by Charles Mercer, 46, of 936 Fairview St., officers said.

The woman was driving south on St. Clair and turning onto McKinnon Ave. Mercer was proceeding west on McKinnon Ave.

Another mishap at Pennsylvania and Dewey Aves. at 12:05 p.m. Saturday damaged a 1961 model two - door sedan driven by Dewey J. Price, 53, of 831 Valley Ave. and a 1965 four-door sedan operated by Rickey A. Steffen, 17, of 444 1st Ave., officers said. Each driver claimed the traffic light was in his favor, police said.

Wellsville Post To Meet Tonight

Members of American Legion Post 70 of Wellsville will meet tonight at 8 in the post home.

The following nominating committee has been appointed by Jerome Gitschier, commander — Harry Excell, adjutant; Sam Maylone, finance officer, William Boyce and Robert Beresford. Gitschier also is a member.

The committee will report May 6, with nominations from the floor that night and on May 13. The election will be May 20 from 1 to 8 p.m. at the home. Installation will be June 3.

Walter A. English of Stratton has been accepted as a transfer member.

The post's auxiliary will hold a house - to - house canvass for the Cancer Fund during April. The combined groups are in charge of the drive in Wellsville. Maylone, general chairman, said the post will conduct a "block of silver" April 27. A group consisting of the commander, Robert Byers and Kenneth Hoover, second vice commander, said "buck boards"—with space available for $24—and other collection buckets are being distributed to area businesses.

The adjutant said membership has attained 374.

Hoover said a summer family picnic will be held July 21 at James' Lake. Another affair is planned for Aug. 25. The lake is located on Route 45, near Wellsville.

They Want To Be Heard

Students Shake Germany

BERLIN (AP) — They wave red flags, shout "Ho Chi Minh," wear their hair long and sometimes throw rocks at policemen. Their usual dress is an old sweater or a U.S. Army surplus parka.

They are students in West Berlin and West Germany who are taking to the streets and shaking up the country following an attempt to assassinate one of their leaders, 28-year-old Rudi Dutschke.

They want to be heard, but until last week their elders weren't willing to listen.

They want to remake German society, but they are not quite sure into what. They mistrust the older generation, calling it hypocritical.

Communist Influence

They are leftists, strongly influenced by the Chinese and Cuban Communists, but they reject communism on the Soviet or East German model.

Dutschke, their chief ideologist and moving spirit, fled from East Germany in 1960.

They call their movement "anti-authoritarian" and themselves "the opposition outside parliament."

They got a tremendous boost in 1966 when Foreign Minister Willy Brandt's Social Democratic Party decided to go into a coalition government with Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger's Christian Democrats. The disgruntled left wing of the Social Democrats, made-up mostly of students and young people, shifted their support to the students led by Dutschke's Socialistic Student Federation, the SDS.

The SDS had once been the official youth organization of the Social Democratic Party, but the party cut its ties with it some years ago because it considered it too radical. Since then, the SDS has been the organizer and moving force behind most student demonstrations.

Balk At Old System

Prominent among the students' beefs is the antiquated West German university system. German professors have retained most of the authority they have held since medieval times. They lecture but don't like to have their theories challenged by students.

The universities are overcrowded despite the fact that there are only about 300,000 university students in West Germany, a country of 58 million.

The SDS does not actively seek violence in demonstrations but it does like to provoke the authorities. Its methods are the sit-in, the teach-in and discussions. It sent members into churches to try to get clergymen to discuss the Vietnam war, saying it is hypocritical to preach morality without dealing with such current moral issues.

500 Participate In Egg Hunt At Park On Sunday

More than 500 youngsters and parents were on hand Sunday for the annual East Liverpool Jaycee-sponsored Easter egg hunt at Thompson Park.

John Parsons and Gary White, co-chairmen, said more than 1,200 eggs were hidden around the entrance area, including three dozen candy-filled eggs given as treats.

Prizes were given to the following: Youngest participant, Lisa Tategenhorst; pre-school girl finding most eggs, Susan Krafft; pre-school boy, Kenneth Payne; school-age girl finding the most eggs, a tie, Tammy McHenry and Vicki Brown; school-age boy, Dennis Aiken.

Joe Walters, Thompson Park custodian, was the official starter. The eggs were donated by area stores. Stuffed rabbits were given as prizes to the preschoolers and Kennedy half-dollars to the older children.

100 Attend Rites At Guilford Lake

GUILFORD — More than 100 attended an Easter sunrise service at 6 at the Guilford Lake State Park pavilion.

The Rev. Herman Strawn of New Garden Methodist Church conducted the service, which included special instrumental music by a group of young musicians.

The Guilford Ruritan Club, the sponsor, served coffee and doughnuts.

Gary Rist, president, led a club delegation to the Ohio district annual spring meeting Saturday night at Mt. Union College in Alliance. Thirty-six of the 51 clubs were represented.

Woman Will Get Nursing Diploma

Mrs. Thomas P. Flynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney G. Stull of 1052 Bank St., will be graduated from the School of Nursing of Cleveland Metropolitan General Hospital April 28.

She is one of 35 seniors who will receive diplomas after three years study at the nursing school, which was founded in 1898.

Skis 4,000 to 5,000 years old have been found in Norway and Sweden.

Dutch Losing Fight

AMSTERDAM — [illegible]d's land is sinking in relation to sea level, and since this year 200 about 1,400,000 acres have been lost and 1,225,000 regained. The losses have been along the seashore; the gains have been made by drying up land.

There are more than 10 million gas-fired central heating units in U.S. homes today.

Students Shake Germany

BERLIN (AP) — They wave red flags, shout "Ho Chi Minh," wear their hair long and sometimes throw rocks at policemen. Their usual dress is an old sweater or a U.S. Army surplus parka.

They are students in West Berlin and West Germany who are taking to the streets and shaking up the country following an attempt to assassinate one of their leaders, 28-year-old Rudi Dutschke.

They want to be heard, but until last week their elders weren't willing to listen.

They want to remake German society, but they are not quite sure into what. They mistrust the older generation, calling it hypocritical.

Communist Influence

They are leftists, strongly influenced by the Chinese and Cuban Communists, but they reject communism on the Soviet or East German model.

Dutschke, their chief ideologist and moving spirit, fled from East Germany in 1960.

They call their movement "anti-authoritarian" and themselves "the opposition outside parliament."

They got a tremendous boost in 1966 when Foreign Minister Willy Brandt's Social Democratic Party decided to go into a coalition government with Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger's Christian Democrats. The disgruntled left wing of the Social Democrats, made-up mostly of students and young people, shifted their support to the students led by Dutschke's Socialistic Student Federation, the SDS.

The SDS had once been the official youth organization of the Social Democratic Party, but the party cut its ties with it some years ago because it considered it too radical. Since then, the SDS has been the organizer and moving force behind most student demonstrations.

Balk At Old System

Prominent among the students' beefs is the antiquated West German university system. German professors have retained most of the authority they have held since medieval times. They lecture but don't like to have their theories challenged by students.

The universities are overcrowded despite the fact that there are only about 300,000 university students in West Germany, a country of 58 million.

The SDS does not actively seek violence in demonstrations but it does like to provoke the authorities. Its methods are the sit-in, the teach-in and discussions. It sent members into churches to try to get clergymen to discuss the Vietnam war, saying it is hypocritical to preach morality without dealing with such current moral issues.

The DOCTOR Says

By Dr. W. G. Brandstadt

Sugar Diabetes Termed Inborn Error

Q—What is sugar diabetes? How does it start? How does one get it? Why do some people lose a leg with it? If you have it, do you have to be on a rigid diet for the rest of your life?

Dr. Brandstadt

A—Sugar diabetes or diabetes mellitus is an inborn error of metabolism as a result of which the body cannot utilize the blood glucose derived from the sugars and starches in the diet. The victim's blood sugar level rises high above normal and some of the sugar spills over into the urine.

—:—

EARLY SYMPTOMS when the onset occurs in childhood, are inordinate thirst, increased appetite, frequent urination and loss of weight. When the onset occurs after age 25, the only symptoms may be loss of weight and weakness. Both types are hereditary. Eating a diet high in sugar and starch is an aggravating factor.

—:—

COMPLICATIONS of the disease may occur in any part of the body due to interference with the circulation (diabetic lesions of the blood vessels and nerves). The complications strike where a weakness already exists. When the lower extremity is the target, gangrene of the toes occurs. This may progress upward and necessitate amputation of a leg.

—:—

A FAIRLY RIGID diet is an important part of the treatment. Since the disease can be controlled but not cured, the treatment must be continued for life.

—:—

Q—What is meant by sugar in the vessels of a diabetic's eyes? What can be done for it?

A—Diabetes may cause changes in the blood vessels of the retina, leading to blindness. The progress of this complication can sometimes be halted by destroying the pituitary gland either through surgical removal or deep X-ray treatments.

Q—What is diabetic neuropathy? Is there any cure? What kind of doctor should a person with this disease go to?

A—This is a complication of diabetes which may affect the nerves in any part of the body. Treatment is difficult and requires the combined efforts of a nerve specialist, a diabetic specialist and often others.

Q—Every time I have a check up for diabetes they do only a urine test. Is it necessary to have a blood test, too?

A—Because diabetes can often be detected earlier by testing the blood sugar level than by urinalysis, the blood test is urged for all persons who are past 40, especially if there is any family history of the disease.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M. D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

75 Bus Employes End Contract Dispute

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Normal service was scheduled today by the Lake Shore System after 75 bus drivers and maintenance men came to terms in a contract dispute Saturday night, ending a week long strike. Terms of the contract were not disclosed.

Darke Farmer Dies After Being Beaten

GREENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A Darke County farmer, who was beaten by two men who apparently had asked him for help with their car, died Saturday night in a Dayton hospital.

Fred Coppes, 73, was found beaten Thursday night. A brother who was at the house said Coppes left with the men, who had said their car was stuck.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I repair small rust holes in the body of my car?

A.—One often - effective method is to plug these holes with steel wool, apply flux, and then solder. Then file these plugs down, sand them smooth, paint with metal primer, and cover with a finishing coat of the desired color of paint.

Q.—What can I do about small rag rugs that persist in curling up at the ends or corners?

A.—You can usually keep these rugs on the straightaway by dipping the curling portions in a weak solution of starch . . . after they have been washed, of course.

Q.—How can I remove bluing stains from fabrics?

A.—By soaking in some strong ammonia water.

A.—One often - effective method is to plug these holes with steel wool, apply flux, and then solder. Then file these plugs down, sand them smooth, paint with metal primer, and cover with a finishing coat of the desired color of paint.

Q.—What can I do about small rag rugs that persist in curling up at the ends or corners?

A.—You can usually keep these rugs on the straightaway by dipping the curling portions in a weak solution of starch . . . after they have been washed, of course.

Q.—How can I remove bluing stains from fabrics?

A.—By soaking in some strong ammonia water.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Mom Dyes To Get With It

DEAR SNOOKIE-PIES. If you have acquired a bit of "cool" and love to wear bright-colored stockings, like green or red or purple, I just learned something by true method which I did myself.

Heloise

Buy a package of all-purpose dye. Then take your oldest unmated stockings and tint them to wear with those cute dresses.

I did not even boil mine. I put my teakettle on the stove and brought the water to a boil. Poured the package of dye into a stainless steel pan, held my teakettle high and slowly poured the boiling water over the dye. Then stirred it real good with a spoon.

You'll be amazed what pretty colors of pink, red and blue you can get.

Why buy 'em when you have unmated stockings anyway? Or "more better yet," tint those light-colored ones which look like they're faded.

By the way, I've just been told by my teenage daughter, "Mother, you better get with it!"

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I have found the most marvelous way to keep my clothes closet in order.

I keep a large paper bag standing in the corner.

Now when I pull out that dress I have intended to shorten for three years, a skirt that is just a little too tight, or a blouse that doesn't go with anything, I just drop them in the bag right then and there.

When it's full I call a charity organization to pick it up or I take it to the nearest collection box. Then I put a new bag in my closet for further use.

R.R.

That's a new way to clean a closet and get some new clothes at the same time!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Instead of discarding my sea grass runners that were spotted and ugly, I just got out an old bucket of paint.

The first coat I put on them was a flat paint, applied very thick. Then to finish them off, I used an enamel spray-coat. After a year, I sprayed the runners again and now they are like new and so useful. I painted only one side because they dried quickly that way.

The older squares I now use on the patio, but the others are still doing duty in the house. Some are white but the grass green rugs outside look terrific — and all for a dollar or less.

IRIS CLARK

-:-

Iris, I hope our friends know to do that painting outside on the lawn just BEFORE they mow the grass. When the lawn mower does its next chopping job, the painted grass is cut off. Results? No messy, sticky papers to pick up.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: We had "chicken in a bucket" from one of the drive-ins the other night.

After the family finished the chicken, I took the big cardboard bucket, washed and dried it, then spray-painted it inside a bright red. I covered the outside with heavy red and gold gift wrapping paper.

The result was the prettiest little bathroom wastepaper basket you ever saw.

It could be used also for an arrangement of flowers and many other things. It cost nil, too.

MRS. LINDA WEST.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: Do you ever feel like you are working on borrowed time?

EXECUTIVE.

Was that fellow trying to make us all laugh?

He sure did, didn't he?

HELOISE.

To Form Reservoir

Mighty Columbia River Will Be Shut Off Tuesday

THE DALLES, Ore., (AP) — The flow of the mighty Columbia River will be shut off Tuesday morning as though a faucet valve were turned.

Massive gates in John Day Dam some 25 miles upriver from here will slide shut under hydraulic control and the waters racing downstream will pile up against the concrete and steel barrier that stretches more than a mile between Oregon and Washington.

Lake Umatilla, the reservoir behind the biggst dam ever built by the Army Corps of Engineers, will fill quickly.

Its level will rise more than a foot an hour. By Wednesday morning it will be at the bottom of the spillway gates. By Friday the lake will be 76 miles long, running upstream from John Day Dam to McNary Dam.

Its level will be some 80 feet above the present river. And under it will be abandoned townsites, abandoned railroads and highways and the mysterious rock carvings of long-vanished Indian tribes.

Navigation will be extended by the new lake, giving a continuous course of 325 miles from the sea to Ice Harbor Dam on the Snake River.

John Day is the 10th dam completed or under construction across the Columbia below Grand Coulee. Its ultimate output will produce a constant supply of nearly 3 million kilowatts, making it one of the world's most powerful—more powerful than Grand Coulee. The power will go into the Bonneville system which markets to public and private utilities in the Pacific Northwest.

Its cost by the time the 20th turbine is installed nearly four years from now will have been close to $450 million.

About a third of that cost has been to move people and the things they built from the path of the rising waters of Lake Imatilla.

When the gates at John Day are closed Tuesday, the Columbia will be thundering over McNary Dam upstream at 250,000 cubic feet a second. The flow last week was only 130,000 and to get it to the higher figure —to fill the lake quickly—water was drawn from many reservoirs upriver.

Later this spring the first power from the turbines will be put on the lines and in September the dam will be dedicated.

Tornado Hits At Fremont

By The Associated Press

Strong winds, including one tornado near Fremont, lashed Ohio Sunday evening along with heavy rain and hail in some sections. But no injuries were reported.

Temperatures skidded from the balmy 60s to the 40s following the brief spring storm.

Damage was expected to be considerable throughout the state as the result of downed utility wires, fallen trees and damage to houses and other buildings.

Mayor Eugene Houser of Blue Ash, a Cincinnati suburb, estimated damage in his community alone would be $100,000.

Winds up to 60 miles an hour roared through the Cincinnati area and officials said an estimated 200 houses suffered damage throughout Hamilton County. The Weather Bureau said there was a report of a funnel cloud in eastern Cincinnati, but there was no evidence it touched down.

A tornado struck the one-story frame home of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Earhart south of Fremont, demolishing a garage and ripping most of the roof off the house. The twister blew in the windows and left the inside of the home in shambles.

Mrs. Earhart said she took her five children to the basement and all escaped unhurt. The tornado reduced the garage to splinters, but the car inside was not damaged.

U.S. Courts Processing Riot Cases

By The Associated Press

Courts are engaged in processing thousands of arrests made during the looting, arson and violence that followed the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Hundreds are still in jail.

Hundreds have been fined, mostly for curfew violations. Many have received suspended sentences. Others remain free in bail pending trial on charges ranging from looting and arson to first-degree murder.

In Baltimore about 5,800 persons were arrested. Of 3,466 cases tried, 2,193 convictions resulted, mostly for curfew violations. Fines ranged from $5 to $300. Probation cases totaled 389. Many cases involving looting and arson await grand jury action.

Washington reported 5,500 arrests, including 4,400 curfew violations. Persons charged with curfew violations have been told they can avoid trial by posting $25 bond. The remaining cases deal with looting, arson, and other more serious charges.

Chicago arrest figures exceed 2,800, with an estimated 500 persons remaining in jail.

Bonds for 207 persons arrested in looting and arson cases were reduced Sunday in a special Easter session of circuit court. A total of 283 cases were heard.

Ceremony Marks Start Of Trolley Overpass Razing

A brief ceremony was held this morning marking the beginning of preliminary steps for demolition of a former street car overpass on Route 68 at Barclay Hill in Industry.

Demolition is to be started early in May by the Conn Welding Co. of New Castle. The project is to be completed in 20 working days, including resurfacing of the existing gutter, construction of paved shoulders, grading and building temporary bypass at the north side of the site.

Two-way traffic will be maintained, officials said.

Vincent Troiani of Sunrise Hills, state highway project engineer; Anthony Garrubba, assistant construction engineer; Matt Matthews, highway information officer, Troiani, Conn officials, State Rep. Robert Davis and Industry Council President Homer Paul.

Numbers, Not Bullets

Army Riot Tactics Pay Off

WASHINGTON (AP) —In the year it has been going into slums to quell riots the Army has found it's better to try to outnumber rioters than to outshoot them.

Only about 15 bullets were used in coping with the recent wave of looting and burning in Washington, according to official reports. The troops did not injure anyone with gunfire. But tear gas was used liberally.

The violence in Washington and scores of other cities was a crucial test of the Army's tactics for coping with civil disorders.

Negroes in more than 100 cities reacted to the death of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. by some form of disorder and about 40 lives were lost. By comparison, the Newark and Detroit riots last year had a combined toll of 66.

Time Well Spent

Thus, top officers say the Army feels the recent disorders show the homework the Army has been doing for months has been time well spent.

Swift mobilization of power and restraint in applying it are the keys to stopping disorder in its tracks, officials said.

The Army poured more than 28,000 soldiers into Washington, Baltimore, and Chicago, the three sorest spots in the nationwide scene of street violence.

These regulars were backed up by 14,000 National Guardsmen who were "federalized"—called up and added to the regular forces—and some 32,000 other Guardsmen mobilized by their governors.

No Ammunition

Across the nation the rule that officials made stick, with few exceptions, was that soldiers and Guardsmen display their weapons but keep them unloaded. In a situation where firing seemed called for, it was to be resorted to only on the order of an officer or, lacking an officer, a noncommissioned officer.

Post mortems showed there was no such tight rein on shooting for Newark and Detroit in 1967.

The tactics of restraint came in for criticism from Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., who said he would prefer that police use guns to stop fleeing looters.

"It might cost a few lives to be strong and enforce the law," he said, "but I don't see that we are too badly off if a few professional robbers, thieves and arsonists do lose their lives plying that kind of trade."

News Media Criticized

Whitney M. Young Jr., head of the Urban League, complained the thoughts of moderate Negro leaders are often ignored or given scant attention by news media he said are more concerned with coverage of militants.

Young singled out the way the media concentrate on the statements of Black Power leader Stokely Carmichael.

"His following right now amounts to about 50 Negroes and 5,000 white reporters—newspaper, television and radio reporters," Young said in a copyrighted interview published by U.S. News & World Report magazine.

Safe Opening Attempt Fails

Using the hot magnesium flame of highway safety fuses, an intruder managed to burn the handle off the safe in an East End scrap yard over the weekend, but failed to open the door, police reported.

The attempted entry was reported in the office at the Berman Iron & Steel Co. at 505 Maple St. operated by Barry Berman.

Patrolman Orin C. Smith, who investigated, said the intruder used magnesium flares found in the company's office in the attempt to "burn" his way into the strongbox. The handle was burned off and the hinges also were damaged, but the door was not opened.

The entry was reported between Saturday afternoon and this morning. The intruder also ransacked and vandalized the office, spilling a large quantity of oil on the floor, the officer said.

Meanwhile, theft of merchandise valued at $15.29 was reported this morning at Bert's Gulf Station at Pennsylvania Ave. and Boyce St. Danny Bonner, an attendant, said thieves took nine cans of an oil additive valued at $1.50 each and a two-gallon can of motor oil worth $1.79. The theft occurred between 11 p. m.. Sunday and 5:30 a. m. today.

AMRITSAR, India (AP) — The family of a 18-year-old village girl broke off plans for an arranged marriage, on grounds they had been duped. The girl and her family sent away the prospective groom and his party after they learned the "groom was not 22 years old, but nearer 50, toothless and lame."

Bulky Knit Care Advice

This is a knit year — from stretch tights to fur-pile knit coats. Sweaters have been glamorized with every kind of trim from sequins, pearls, bugle beads, lace, embroidery, and painted designs, to leather and synthetic or natural fur.

For many years we knew only wool, cashmere, and angora sweaters. They gave good service in wear and cleaning. Today we find many of the synthetic fibers being used to make both the plain and bulky knit sweaters. The bulky knits are really in vogue. They are made of yarns treated chemically or physically to give greater volume or bulk, and many of these yarns are susceptible to stretching.

The National Institute of Drycleaning, Silver Spring, Md., has found that the stability of a knit sweater depends on many factors: fiber content, yarn construction, type of knit stitch, care given the sweater in wear, cleaning or washing.

If a wool sweater shrinks or stretches during cleaning or washing, it usually possible to reblock it to size. But this is not possible with some of the synthetic yarn sweaters. If hung on a hanger dripping wet, the weight of the wet sweater may cause it to stretch out of shape. Or it may stretch if tugged or pulled while it is moist or warm with steam. Once stretched, the sweater cannot be reblocked to shape.

On the other hand, the Textile Analysis Laboratory of the National Institute of Drycleaning has received sweaters made of an acrylic fiber that stretched as much as three or four inches and could not be shrunk back to the original dimensions.

North Korean Ambush Claims Two Americans

SEOUL (AP) — Two Americans and two South Koreans were killed Sunday night by North Koreans who ambushed a U.N. Command truck half a mile south of the Panmunjom armistice meeting site, a spokesman for the U.N. Command said today. The attackers escaped and there was no indication any of them were hit.

Two other American soldiers were wounded. The U.N. Command called the ambush "a flagrant violation" of the Korean armistice and filed a protest note.

The ambush raised American casualties to four killed and 14 wounded since the North Korean raid on Seoul Jan. 21 in an attempt to assassinate President Chung Hee Park. North Korea seized the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo on Jan. 23, and one of its 83 crewmen was fatally wounded then.

The spokesman said a truck from the U.S. 2nd Infantry Division was making a routine trip from an advance camp to Panmunjom when it was attacked. He said personnel aboard a second American vehicle heard about 200 rounds of automatic weapons fire and two explosions and rushed to the scene.

A 2nd Division force was dispatched to sweep the area but found no trace of the attackers. Tre spokesman said the ambush was well inside the South Korean half of the demilitarized zone. The two South Koreans killed were attached to the U.S. division.

U. S. Rear Adm. John V. Smith, the U.N. Command member of the Military Armistice Commisfion, demanded a joint investigation of the attack.

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy's two children joined an Easter egg hunt Sunday on the grounds of the home of their grandfather, Joseph P. Kennedy, 79.

After church, Mrs. Kennedy took the children, John Jr. and Caroline, to visit their grandfather.

Mrs. Kennedy and the children arrived here Thursday for the weekend.

The visit to Palm Beach was Mrs. Kennedy's first since Christmas 1963, a month after the assassination of her husband.

SUVA, Fiji (AP) — Responding to an appeal by Raymond Burr, television's Perry Mason who owns Naitauba Island, a plane carrying medical supplies left Sunday for the isolated island which has been hit by an epidemic of an unusual type of influenza.

Burr, who was among the influenza victims, said: "I was too busy helping to look after others to go to bed and nurse myself."

He said the epidemic now seems under control after striking about 100 of the 180 Fijians on the island.

Burr operates a plantation on the island.

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) — Muscleman Mickey Hargitay, the former Mr. Upiverse who once was married to the late actress Jayne Mansfield, was married here Sunday to Ellen Jean Siano, a former airline stewardess.

The bridegroom, 37, and the bride, 25, said they were flying immediately to Hollywood where Hargitay will complete work on a television program.

Miss Mansfield was killed in an auto accident last June 29.

HOLLHWOOD (AP) — Janette McLeod, 17, a blue-eyed honey blonde from Australia, reigns today as Miss Teen International.

The daughter of a Sydney bakery owner, Miss McLeod burst into tears when she was announced the choice of the Miss Teen International Pageant Saturday night. She won a $3,000 scholarship to the college of her choice, a 1968 automobile, a tour of Europe and a summer wardrobe.

Music Features PTA's Meeting

About 700 attended a musical program given by the fourth, fifth and sixth graders at the Westgate Parent - Teacher Association meeting. Mrs. Jane Rife was director.

Mrs. Jo Ann Hilliard, past president, was presented a dozen roses by Mrs. Betty Devore on behalf of the PTA in appreciation for her work.

Mrs. Hilliard and her family will move to Smithfield shortly.

The PTA will serve a mother-daughter dinner May 24 at the First Church of the Nazarene.

A coverdish dinner will be held April 22, with teachers and homeroom mothers at Westgate School as guests. It will begin at the school at 6 p. m. Mrs. Devore, homeroom mother chairman, will be in charge.

Thomas Dixon, principal, installed new officers.

Attendance awards were received by Mrs. Adeline MacBurney's fifth grade, Mrs. Doris MacIntosh's fourth grade and Mrs. Mary Walrath's fourth grade.

Winners of special prizes were Miss Dorothy Sloan, second grade; Miss Violet Vondran, third grade; Mrs. MacBurney, and Mrs. Hilliard. The selections were made by Steve Weigand and Hazel Coleman, the school's spelling bee winners.

Mrs. Jo Ann Weber of the ways and means committee conducted a bake sale. The sixth-graders held a candy sale. The proceeds will be used for an end-of-the-year party.

Meetings will resume in the fall.

Palestine Woman Hurt In Mahoning Accident

EAST PALESTINE — Mrs. Lawrence Licht of 286 E. Martin St. was injured Saturday when the car in which she was a passenger collided with another on Route 7 and Calla Rd. in Mahoning County.

She was treated at Salem City Hospital for a laceration over the eye suffered when she struck the dashboard of the auto operated by her husband.

Witnesses said a car pulled from Calla Rd. into the path of their auto. Mr. Licht and their son, Keith, who was returning home with them from Youngstown University, were uninjured.

Numbers, Not Bullets

Army Riot Tactics Pay Off

WASHINGTON (AP) —In the year it has been going into slums to quell riots the Army has found it's better to try to outnumber rioters than to outshoot them.

Only about 15 bullets were used in coping with the recent wave of looting and burning in Washington, according to official reports. The troops did not injure anyone with gunfire. But tear gas was used liberally.

The violence in Washington and scores of other cities was a crucial test of the Army's tactics for coping with civil disorders.

Negroes in more than 100 cities reacted to the death of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. by some form of disorder and about 40 lives were lost. By comparison, the Newark and Detroit riots last year had a combined toll of 66.

Time Well Spent

Thus, top officers say the Army feels the recent disorders show the homework the Army has been doing for months has been time well spent.

Swift mobilization of power and restraint in applying it are the keys to stopping disorder in its tracks, officials said.

The Army poured more than 26,000 soldiers into Washington, Baltimore, and Chicago, the three sorest spots in the nationwide scene of street violence.

These regulars were backed up by 14,800 National Guardsmen who were "federalized"—called up and added to the regular forces—and some 32,000 other Guardsmen mobilized by their governors.

No Ammunition

Across the nation the rule that officials made stick, with few exceptions, was that soldiers and Guardsmen display their weapons but keep them unloaded. In a situation where firing seemed called for, it was to be resorted to only on the order of an officer or, lacking an officer, a noncommissioned officer.

Post mortems showed there was no such tight rein on shooting for Newark and Detroit in 1967.

The tactics of restraint came in for criticism from Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., who said he would prefer that police use guns to stop fleeing looters.

"It might cost a few lives to be strong and enforce the law," he said, "but I don't see that we are too badly off if a few professional robbers, thieves and arsonists do lose their lives plying that kind of trade."

News Media Criticized

Whitney M. Young Jr., head of the Urban League, complained the thoughts of moderate Negro leaders are often ignored or given scant attention by news media he said are more concerned with coverage of militants.

Young singled out the way the media concentrate on the statements of Black Power leader Stokely Carmichael.

"His following right now amounts to about 50 Negroes and 5,000 white reporters—newspaper, television and radio reporters," Young said in a copyrighted interview published by U.S. News & World Report magazine.

Safe Opening Attempt Fails

Using the hot magnesium flame of highway safety fuses, an intruder managed to burn the handle off the safe in an East End scrap yard over the weekend, but failed to open the door, police reported.

The attempted entry was reported in the office at the Berman Iron & Steel Co. at 505 Maple St. operated by Barry Berman.

Patrolman Orin C. Smith, who investigated, said the intruder used magnesium flares found in the company's office in the attempt to "burn" his way into the strongbox. The handle was burned off and the hinges also were damaged, but the door was not opened.

The entry was reported between Saturday afternoon and this morning. The intruder also ransacked and vandalized the office, spilling a large quantity of oil on the floor, the officer said.

Meanwhile, theft of merchandise valued at $15.29 was reported this morning at Bert's Gulf Station at Pennsylvania Ave. and Boyce St. Danny Bonner, an attendant, said thieves took nine cans of an oil additive valued at $1.50 each and a two-gallon can of motor oil worth $1.79. The theft occurred between 11 p. m.. Sunday and 5:30 a. m. today.

AMRITSAR, India (AP) — The family of a 18-year-old village girl broke off plans for an arranged marriage, on grounds they had been duped. The girl and her family sent away the prospective groom and his party after they learned the "groom was not 22 years old, but nearer 50, toothless and lame."

Bulky Knit Care Advice

This is a knit year — from stretch tights to fur-pile knit coats. Sweaters have been glamorized with every kind of trim from sequins, pearls, bugle beads, lace, embroidery, and painted designs, to leather and synthetic or natural fur.

For many years we knew only wool, cashmere, and angora sweaters. They gave good service in wear and cleaning. Today we find many of the synthetic fibers being used to make both the plain and bulky knit sweaters. The bulky knits are really in vogue. They are made of yarns treated chemically or physically to give greater volume or bulk, and many of these yarns are susceptible to stretching.

The National Institute of Drycleaning, Silver Spring, Md., has found that the stability of a knit sweater depends on many factors: fiber content, yarn construction, type of knit stitch, care given the sweater in wear, cleaning or washing.

If a wool sweater shrinks or stretches during cleaning or washing, it usually possible to reblock it to size. But this is not possible with some of the synthetic yarn sweaters. If hung on a hanger dripping wet, the weight of the wet sweater may cause it to stretch out of shape. Or it may stretch if tugged or pulled while it is moist or warm with steam. Once stretched, the sweater cannot be reblocked to shape.

On the other hand, the Textile Analysis Laboratory of the National Institute of Drycleaning has received sweaters made of an acrylic fiber that stretched as much as three or four inches and could not be shrunk back to the original dimensions.

Goalby Wins Masters, Score Error Hurts DeVincenzo

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Biggest surprise of the young baseball season so far has been the Pirate pitching.

Tabbed as the weakness of the ball club before the season started, the staff in the last three games, all wins by the Bucs, has allowed just two runs. After a shaky opening game where Jim Bunning allowed only two runs through eight innings but relievers lost the contest in the ninth, Bob Veale pitched a magnificent 12 innings, allowing only one run. The vaunted Pirate hitting attack, which has had a little trouble getting started, couldn't score enough to give Veale the win, but the bullpen came through in this one for the victory. Then Al McBean, one of the pivotal men on the mound staff, pitched one of the best games of his career, no-hitting the Giants until the seventh and allowing only one run in a complete game. Then old pro Bunning, counted on to be the "stopper" of the staff, turned in a shutout over the Dodgers. Back-to-back complete games were almost unheard of last year, when the Pirate staff was far from solid. A little more hitting and Veale's fine effort would have been a complete game, making three in a row. The Pirates are averaging a meager three runs a game, but are allowing an excellent 1.75 tallies a contest to the opponents.

Off the early results, manager Larry Shepard would love to be able to go with a three-man rotation. But once the open dates cease and postponements cause doubleheaders, the Buc skipper will have to dig deeper into the staff, and here is where the answer to the Pirates' pennant hopes lie. Steve Blass and/or Tommy Sisk will have to win consistently for Pittsburgh to have a good shot at the flag.

ALVIN DARK has proved himself a good prognosticator in his role of manager of the Indians, if nothing else. In announcing his opening day lineup, Dark surprised some people by naming Duke Sims as catcher intead of Jose Azcue. Dark noted that one of the most pleasant surprises of spring training was the hitting of Sims, and Alvin showed his faith in Duke by batting him in the cleanup spot. Sims responded with two home runs opening day and came through with another four-bagger yesterday. Now if Dark will predict Sam McDowell will win 20 games, maybe the Indians will be set.

Pipers Beat Muskies, Win ABA East Title

By DOUG BAILEY

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Piper have taken the American Basketball Association's Eastern Division title with only one loss in eight games. But they expect it to be a little tougher against New Orleans for the league championship.

"I think it'll go seven," said Coach Vince Cazzetta after the Pipers whipped The Minnesota Muskies 114-105 Sunday night to win the best-of-7 series 4-1.

"Every game with New Orleans so far has been tight," said Cazzatta. The Pipers split 3-3 with New Orleans in regular season play.

"New Orleans is like us. It has a speedy, quick ball-handling team with lots of finesse," he said. "They are also one of the few teams we don't give away anything in height to."

That will be a change of pace from the series against the taller Muskies.

"This was a brutal thing under the boards," he said. "But we proved we can do it without Connie."

Connie Hawkins, the league's Most Valuable Player, sat out most of the second half against Minnesota in foul trouble. Minnesota got the hot hand and came from 17 points back to a 97-97 tie.

But Tom Washington, who took good care of the rebounding in Hawkins' absence, hit one underneath with seven minutes left and Pittsburgh pulled steadily ahead.

Chico Vaughn, whose 22 points were second only to Hawkins' 24, made two three-pointers in the closing minutes as the Pipers put it out of reach.

The dates for the series with New Orleans have not been set, but a league spokesman said the first two games probably will be played in Pittsburgh on Thursday and Saturday.

Playoff Avoided By Aaron's Goof

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — There's an ink stain on the left breast of Bob Goalby's green Masters jacket. It doesn't show. But it's there. It always will be.

It was put there by the innocently errant pen of Tommy Aaron, who kept score for his playing partner, Argentina's Roberto De Vicenzo, in Sunday's near-incredible wind-up of the Masters Golf Tournament.

De Vicenzo, the balding, globe-trotter who won last year's British Open Championship, was in the clubhouse with a brilliant, seven-under-par 65 for 277, 11 under par, when Goalby came charging up through the pack and tied him with a final round 66.

Preparations for a playoff today were in the making when it was discovered De Vicenzo had signed an incorrect card and Goalby was the champion, a declared champion on a bookkeeping error.

Hord Hardin, president of the U.S. Golf Association and chairman of the rules committee, made the bombshell announcement:

"Under the rules of golf, he (De Vicenzo) will be charged with a 66, which does not leave him in a tie with Bob Goalby, who is 11 under par.

"He is second, 10 under par."

De Vicenzo, playing a round that was just one shot off the Masters record, tapped in a two-foot birdie putt on the par-4, 400-yard 17th hole, just as Goalby was catching him with a 10-foot eagle putt on the 520-yard 15th.

Through a split-screen account of it shown by CBS-TV, a national television audience saw the two putts drop almost together.

But Aaron marked down a four on De Vicenzo's card, instead of three.

Roberto went on to bogey the last hole. Blinded by pressure and the frustration of the bogey, he signed his card. And he was stuck with it — stuck with a 66 instead of a 65.

"I look at it," said the gallant gaucho. "I look at my card maybe four, five times. But I don't see anything. I can't see anything.

"It's my fault," he said over and over. "It is not Aaron's fault. It is my fault. We are professionals. We are supposed to know. I play golf for 30 years all over the world and I never do this before.

"I feel very sorry for me. There was so much pressure I lose my brains."

Goalby, an obscure player on the tour for 11 years, was equally upset.

"I'm very, very happy to win the Masters," he said. "I'd be a liar if I said anything else.

"But I deeply regret the way that it had to be won. It's unfortunate."

Goalby didn't know until about 15 minutes after finishing his round over the picturesque, 6,980-yard, par-72 Augusta National course that he had won the $20,000 first prize, plus the green jacket and the enormous prestige that goes with it.

Bert Yancey had a 65 for third at 279 and Australian Bruce Devlin was alone in fourth after a 69 for 280. Jack Nicklaus and Frank Beard followed at 281, Nicklaus after a 67 and Beard after a 70.

Gary Player, the third-round leader, went to a 72 and tied with Lionel Hebert, Ray Floyd, Jerry Pittman and Tommy Aaron at 282.

Columbiana, E. Palestine Score In Meet

Columbiana finished in a tie for 18th and East Palestine was 22nd at the Tri-State Coaches Track Meet at Mt. Lebanon Saturday.

Midland failed to score. Gary Schmidt of the Clippers picked up four points by finishing fourth in the 100-yard dash and sixth in the 220. Stan Baran of Pittsburgh Central Catholic won both races, in :10.2 and :21.9.

Jim Taucher of the Bulldogs picked up three points by placing fourth in the pole vault. Bob Short of Bethel Park won in 12-6. Penn Hills won the meet.

There are 16 former major league players doing radio and television baseball broadcasting.

76ers Top Celtics, Take 3-1 Series Lead

By The Associated Press

Three of the four berths in the National Basketball Association have been filled and the Philadelphia 76ers will attempt to complete the picture tonight.

Los Angeles wrapped up the Western Division title of the NBA Saturday night, whipping the San Francisco Warriors 108-100. It was the Lakers fourth straight victory without a loss in the best-of-7 set.

The 76ers could wrap up the East title in Philadelphia tonight with a victory over the Boston Celtics.

Philadelphia, with four players hitting for over 20 points, tripped the Celtics in Boston 110-105 Sunday. The 76ers now have a commanding 3-1 lead as they shoot for their second straight NBA championship.

In the ABA Eastern Division final Sunday night, the Pittsburgh Pipers took the crown with a 114-105 victory over Minnesota. It was the Pipers fourth victory in five playoff starts over the Muskies. Pittsburgh defeated Minnesota 117-108 Saturday night.

Pittsburgh will open the best-of-7 championship series at home probably on Thursday against Western champ, New Orleans.

New Orleans clinched its final with a 108-107 thriller over Dallas Saturday night. The Bucs took the series, 4-1.

Goalby Wins Masters, Score Error Hurts DeVincenzo

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Biggest surprise of the young baseball season so far has been the Pirate pitching.

Tabbed as the weakness of the ball club before the season started, the staff in the last three games, all wins by the Bucs, has allowed just two runs. After a shaky opening game where Jim Bunning allowed only two runs through eight innings but relievers lost the contest in the ninth, Bob Veale pitched a magnificent 12 innings, allowing only one run. The vaunted Pirate hitting attack, which has had a little trouble getting started, couldn't score enough to give Veale the win, but the bullpen came through in this one for the victory. Then Al McBean, one of the pivotal men on the mound staff, pitched one of the best games of his career, no-hitting the Giants until the seventh and allowing only one run in a complete game. Then old pro Bunning, counted on to be the "stopper" of the staff, turned in a shutout over the Dodgers. Back-to-back complete games were almost unheard of last year, when the Pirate staff was far from solid. A little more hitting and Veale's fine effort would have been a complete game, making three in a row. The Pirates are averaging a meager three runs a game, but are allowing an excellent 1.75 tallies a contest to the opponents.

Off the early results, manager Larry Shepard would love to be able to go with a three-man rotation. But once the open dates cease and postponements cause doubleheaders, the Buc skipper will have to dig deeper into the staff, and here is where the answer to the Pirates' pennant hopes lie. Steve Blass and/or Tommy Sisk will have to win consistently for Pittsburgh to have a good shot at the flag.

ALVIN DARK has proved himself a good prognosticator in his role of manager of the Indians, if nothing else. In announcing his opening day lineup, Dark surprised some people by naming Duke Sims as catcher intead of Jose Azcue. Dark noted that one of the most pleasant surprises of spring training was the hitting of Sims, and Alvin showed his faith in Duke by batting him in the cleanup spot. Sims responded with two home runs opening day and came through with another four-bagger yesterday. Now if Dark will predict Sam McDowell will win 20 games, maybe the Indians will be set.

Playoff Avoided By Aaron's Goof

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — There's an ink stain on the left breast of Bob Goalby's green Masters jacket. It doesn't show. But it's there. It always will be.

It was put there by the innocently errant pen of Tommy Aaron, who kept score for his playing partner, Argentina's Roberto De Vicenzo, in Sunday's near-incredible wind-up of the Masters Golf Tournament.

De Vicenzo, the balding, globe-trotter who won last year's British Open Championship, was in the clubhouse with a brilliant, seven-under-par 65 for 277, 11 under par, when Goalby came charging up through the pack and tied him with a final round 66.

Preparations for a playoff today were in the making when it was discovered De Vicenzo had signed an incorrect card and Goalby was the champion, a declared champion on a bookkeeping error.

Hord Hardin, president of the U.S. Golf Association and chairman of the rules committee, made the bombshell announcement:

"Under the rules of golf, he (De Vicenzo) will be charged with a 66, which does not leave him in a tie with Bob Goalby, who is 11 under par.

"He is second, 10 under par."

De Vicenzo, playing a round that was just one shot off the Masters record, tapped in a two-foot birdie putt on the par-4, 400-yard 17th hole, just as Goalby was catching him with a 10-foot eagle putt on the 520-yard 15th.

Through a split-screen account of it shown by CBS-TV, a national television audience saw the two putts drop almost together.

But Aaron marked down a four on De Vicenzo's card, instead of three.

Roberto went on to bogey the last hole. Blinded by pressure and the frustration of the bogey, he signed his card. And he was stuck with it — stuck with a 66 instead of a 65.

"I look at it," said the gallant gaucho. "I look at my card maybe four, five times. But I don't see anything. I can't see anything.

"It's my fault," he said over and over. "It is not Aaron's fault. It is my fault. We are professionals. We are supposed to know. I play golf for 30 years all over the world and I never do this before.

"I feel very sorry for me. There was so much pressure I lose my brains."

Goalby, an obscure player on the tour for 11 years, was equally upset.

"I'm very, very happy to win the Masters," he said. "I'd be a liar if I said anything else.

"But I deeply regret the way that it had to be won. It's unfortunate."

Goalby didn't know until about 15 minutes after finishing his round over the picturesque, 6,980-yard, par-72 Augusta National course that he had won the $20,000 first prize, plus the green jacket and the enormous prestige that goes with it.

Bert Yancey had a 65 for third at 279 and Australian Bruce Devlin was alone in fourth after a 69 for 280. Jack Nicklaus and Frank Beard followed at 281, Nicklaus after a 67 and Beard after a 70.

Gary Player, the third-round leader, went to a 72 and tied with Lionel Hebert, Ray Floyd, Jerry Pittman and Tommy Aaron at 282.

Columbiana, E. Palestine Score In Meet

Columbiana finished in a tie for 18th and East Palestine was 22nd at the Tri-State Coaches Track Meet at Mt. Lebanon Saturday.

Midland failed to score. Gary Schmidt of the Clippers picked up four points by finishing fourth in the 100-yard dash and sixth in the 220. Stan Baran of Pittsburgh Central Catholic won both races, in :10.2 and :21.9.

Jim Taucher of the Bulldogs picked up three points by placing fourth in the pole vault. Bob Short of Bethel Park won in 12-6. Penn Hills won the meet.

76ers Top Celtics, Take 3-1 Series Lead

By The Associated Press

Three of the four berths in the National Basketball Association have been filled and the Philadelphia 76ers will attempt to complete the picture tonight.

Los Angeles wrapped up the Western Division title of the NBA Saturday night, whipping the San Francisco Warriors 106-100. It was the Lakers fourth straight victory without a loss in the best-of-7 set.

The 76ers could wrap up the East title in Philadelphia tonight with a victory over the Boston Celtics.

Philadelphia, with four players hitting for over 20 points, tripped the Celtics in Boston 110-105 Sunday. The 76ers now have a commanding 3-1 lead as they shoot for their second straight NBA championship.

In the ABA Eastern Division final Sunday night, the Pittsburgh Pipers took the crown with a 114-105 victory over Minnesota. It was the Pipers fourth victory in five playoff starts over the Muskies. Pittsburgh defeated Minnesota 117-108 Saturday night.

Pittsburgh will open the best-of-7 championship series at home probably on Thursday against Western champ, New Orleans.

New Orleans clinched its final with a 108-107 thriller over Dallas Saturday night. The Bucs took the series, 4-1.

Pipers Beat Muskies, Win ABA East Title

By DOUG BAILEY

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Piper have taken the American Basketball Association's Eastern Division title with only one loss in eight games. But they expect it to be a little tougher against New Orleans for the league championship.

"I think it'll go seven," said Coach Vince Cazzetta after the Pipers whipped The Minnesota Muskies 114-105 Sunday night to win the best-of-7 series 4-1.

"Every game with New Orleans so far has been tight," said Cazzatta. The Pipers split 3-3 with New Orleans in regular season play.

"New Orleans is like us. It has a speedy, quick ball-handling team with lots of finesse," he said. "They are also one of the few teams we don't give away anything in height to."

That will be a change of pace from the series against the taller Muskies.

"This was a brutal thing under the boards," he said. "But we proved we can do it without Connie."

Connie Hawkins, the league's Most Valuable Player, sat out most of the second half against Minnesota in foul trouble. Minnesota got the hot hand and came from 17 points back to a 97-97 tie.

But Tom Washington, who took good care of the rebounding in Hawkins' absence, hit one underneath with seven minutes left and Pittsburgh pulled steadily ahead.

Chico Vaughn, whose 22 points were second only to Hawkins' 24, made two three-pointers in the closing minutes as the Pipers put it out of reach.

The dates for the series with New Orleans have not been set, but a league spokesman said the first two games probably will be played in Pittsburgh on Thursday and Saturday.

Bunning Blanks Dodgers, Ties Cy Young Whiff Mark

Clendenon, Alley Pace Buc Attack

LOS ANGELES (AP) — What a difference a year —and Jim Bunning—makes for the Pittsburgh Pirate pitching staff.

The Bucs have won three of their first four games —and got good pitching performances in all four.

Bunning won his first game as a Pirate Sunday by mowing down the punchless Los Angeles Dodgers 3-0 for the Bucs' first shutout of the year.

When the Pirates acquired Bunning in a trade with Philadelphia, manager Larry Shepard said Bunning not only would win for Pittsburgh, but his presence would bring the best out of other Buc hurlers.

The first four games are making Shepard look like a prophet.

It's been a far cry from last year when the composite Pirate earned run average was 3.74, next to worst in the National League.

But pitchers gave up a whooping 606 earned runs in 1967 and pitched only 35 complete games.

Bunning was never in much trouble Sunday as he scattered five hits. But Roberto Clemente saved a two-run homer in the first inning when he speared a shot by Ron Fairly at the right field railing.

Donn Clendenon knocked in a pair of Pittsburgh runs in the first inning after Clemente walked and Willie Stargell singled.

Gene Alley clubbed a bases-empty homer, his first, off loser Claude Osteen in the third.

Bunning opened the season against Houston and pitched well although the Bucs lost.

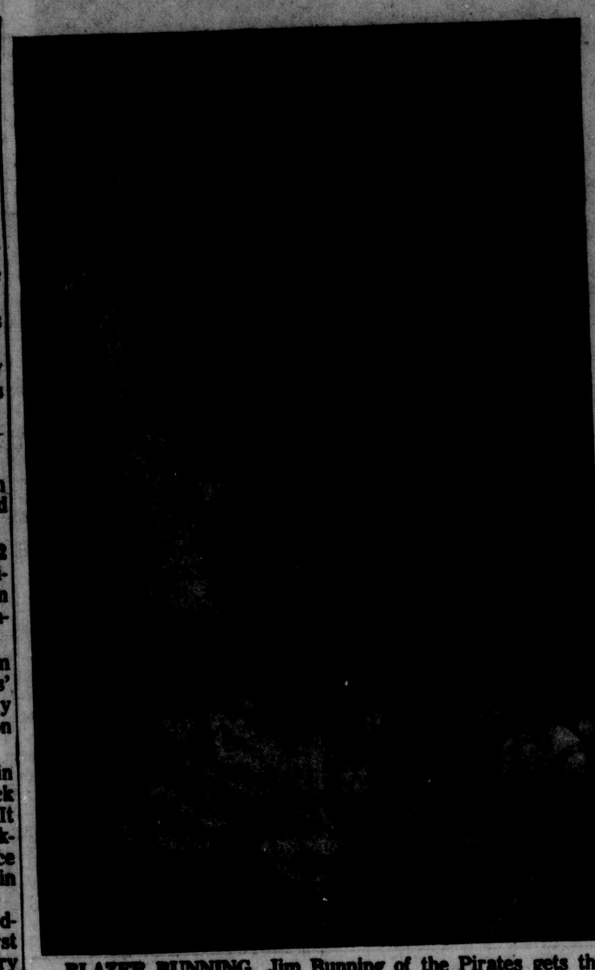
Bob Veale pitched a strong 12 innings Thursday before the Pirates went on to beat the San Francisco Giants 3-1 in 15 innings.

Al McBean, a refugee from the bull pen, hurled the Bucs' first complete game Saturday when he edged the Giants 2-1 on a three-hitter.

Bunning acquired a spot in baseball history when he struck out Osteen in the third inning. It game him 1,000 strikeouts, making him the first pitcher since Cy Young to strike out 1,000 in each of the major leagues.

It was the third time the Dodgers were blanked in their first four games. Their only victory was a 1-0 decision over the New York Mets.

Veale pitches tonight against Bill Singer in the finale of the two-game stand.



BLAZER BUNNING. Jim Bunning of the Pirates gets the ball with which he recorded his 1,000th National League strikeout. The whiff came during a 3-0 Pittsburgh win in Los Angeles yesterday and enabled Bunning to tie a mark set by Hall of Famer Cy Young. (UPI Telephoto)

Mays, Hart Lead Giant Sweep Of Phils

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

With Willie Mays and Jim Hart thriving on an economy kick, the San Francisco Giants have gone from austerity to affluence in one lively afternoon.

Mays bunched a two-run homer and two-run single in one inning Sunday and Hart cracked three straight homers, good for six RBI, as the Giants swept a doubleheader from the Philadelphia Phillies 13-2 and 3-1.

The Giants, who had scored just two runs in 24 innings while losing twice to Pittsburgh, erupted for 20 hits in the opener against the Phils and scored eight runs in the fifth inning, Mays accounting for half of them in his two trips to the plate.

Mays sat out the first seven innings of the nightcap while Hart, who had drilled a three-run homer in the first game, accounted for all three San Francisco runs with a pair of homers off left-hander Chris Short.

Ernie Banks' three-run homer led the Chicago Cubs past previously unbeaten St. Louis 7-6; Pittsburgh blanked Los Angeles 3-0 on Jim Bunning's five-hitter and the New York Mets dealt Houston its first setback, 4-0, behind the five-hit pitching of rookies Nolan Ryan and Danny Frisella. The Cincinnati-Atlanta game was rained out.

The Giants' offensive barrage in the first game sent right-hander Juan Marichal breezing to his first victory since last Aug. 1. Marichal scattered six hits and contributed a run-scoring single to the fifth inning explosion.

Ron Hunt opened the fifth with a double. After being knocked down by a Rick Wise pitch, Mays hit the next one over the left center field fence for his first 1968 homer and the 565th of his career. Nine batters later, Willie's two-run single capped the rally.

Hart tagged short for a bases-empty homer in the second inning of the nightcap and a two-run shot in the fourth.

Southpaw Ray Sadecki made Hart's homers stand up, hurling a six-hitter and striking out 10 for his seventh straight victory in a carryover streak from last season.

The Cardinals, who had won their first three starts, jumped in front of Chicago in the first inning on Roger Maris' three-run homer. But Billy Williams' three-run homer sent the Cubs run-scoring double and Banks' ahead to stay in the bottom of the first.

Maris also hit a bases-empty homer and Mike Shannon connected with one on for St. Louis. Banks' three RBI gave him a lifetime total of 1,400.

Bunning, acquired by Pittsburgh in a winter trade with the Phillies, pinned the Dodgers with their third shutout loss in four games. Donn Clendenon's two-run double and a solo homer by Gene Alley gave the slim right-hander all the support he needed.

The Mets ended the Astros' getaway winning string at four games as Ryan pitched hitless ball for five innings, struck out eight and yielded three hits in all before leaving in the seventh with a blister on his pitch hand.

Frisella fanned three more Astros in preserving Ryan's first major league victory and Art Shamsky delivered two runs with a double and single.

Bristol Keeping Cool Despite Red Problems

CHICAGO (AP) — Cincinnati has lost three straight games and is having trouble delivering clutch hits, but Manager Dave Bristol says he's not going to "panic" or shake up the line up.

"The season's only several games old, Bristol said shortly before the Reds' game with Atlanta was postponed Sunday.

Cincinnati stranded 18 runners in its two games with the Braves Friday and Saturday and a timely hit could have overturned the one-run deficits.

But the fiery young manager insisted "these guys are trying. Maybe too much. They know what is expected. A little patience is needed, this is no time for me to sail into a wild frenzy," Bristol commented.

He emphasized he would go with his current starting players but if the lack of clutch hitting continues, he said something would have to be done.

Don Pavletich, who club officials say is obviously pressing, is especially experiencing hitting problems although he enjoyed an excellent spring training session.

The catcher has only managed one single in 14 at-bats since the regular season started and has frequently left runners stranded—and in scoring position.

He has struck out five times and hit into one double play and also fanned with the bases loaded in the first inning of Sunday's game.

Rain which pelted Atlanta much of the morning, ceased briefly, but resumed, around game time finally caused postponement of the contest after three innings.

The start of the game was delayed 17 minutes and was begun in a drizzle.

Milt Pappas, who owns the Reds' only victory this year, yielded one run and five hits in the three innings. Cincinnati chalked up only a double by Alex Johnson and a single by Tommy Helms.

The Reds' had an off day today, but a workout was slated at Chicago's Wrigley Field where Cincinnati takes on the Cubs Tuesday.

In 1945 the Washington Senators hit only one home run in their home park, Griffith Stadium.

Golf Rules Outdated

Masters Score Goof May Force Rule Change

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Will our conservative golf fathers be forced to rewrite the rules to conform with the jet and electronic age?

There were such suggestions today after Roberto De Vicenzo of Argentina, the grand old warrior of the world's fairways, was deprived of a shot at the rich Masters title.

"This will set golf back 10 years," grumbled one spectator after De Vicenzo had been charged with an extra stroke he didn't take simply because his playing partner put down the wrong figure and Roberto failed to catch it. It was as simple as that.

"Golf rules are outdated," said Fred Corcoran, tournament director of the International Golf Association and once tour manager for the PGA.

Others—Hord Hardin, president of the U.S. Golf Association; Joe Dey, executive director of the USGA and Joe Black, former tour director of the PGA —defended the rules.

De Vicenzo apparently finished in a tie with Bob Goalby for the Masters crown with a 71-hole score of 277 only to be knocked down to second place when it was discovered that he had signed a card showing a 4 on the par 3 17th hole and a 66 instead of a 65.

The mistake had been made by Tommy Aaron, the Argentine's playing partner, but under the existing rules it was Roberto's responsibility to check it and sign it authoritative.

The rule is No. 38:

"After each hole, the marker shall check the score with a competitor. On completion of the round the marker shall sign the card and hand it to the competitor. Should more than one marked record the scores, each shall sign the part for which he is responsible."

In this case, Aaron was the marker for De Vicenzo and De Vicenzo the marker for Aaron.

The third section of the rule says:

"If a competitor return a score for any hole lower than actually played, he shall be disqualified. A scorer higher than actually played must stand as returned."

This marks the first time that such a penalty has been imposed in a major men's tournament, with the title affected.

Corcoran said he believed that it was too much responsibility for a man to be forced to keep count of all his strokes and also those of his partner—and then have to attest to them.

"It would be a simple thing for the tournament to provide a scorer," Corcoran said.

Day, who is sometimes called the Father of the Rules, said he thought Rule 38 was a just one.

"I know of no golfer who would be willing to let another person be responsible for his score," he said.

Hawks Beat Rangers On 80-Foot Goal 2-1

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A desperation shot, intended almost as much to get the puck into New York's end as to score a goal, made a Stanley Cup hero of young Bob Schmautz. It also gave the Chicago Black Hawks a 2-1 victory in the pivotal National Hockey League fifth playoff game against the Rangers.

The victory — third straight for the Hawks — sends the East Division semifinals back to Chicago for a sixth game Tuesday with Bobby Hull and company leading 3-2 in the best-of-7 series.

Schmautz, given a regular turn because of Ken Wharram's sore ribs, snapped a 1-1 third period tie Sunday night when his 80-foot shot hit Ranger defenseman Jim Neilson's stick, changed direction and zipped past goalie Ed Giacomin.

"It was desperation shot," admitted Schmautz, who scored three times in 13 games during the regular NHL season after being called up from Dallas of the Central League.

There were just over three minutes left when Dennis Hull fought Bob Nevin off the puck in the Ranger end and slid the rubber out to Pat Stapleton. Then Stapleton got it to Schmautz, who was at center ice when he let go.

Bobby Hull of Chicago and Donnie Marshall of New York produced the other goals in the first period.

The winner of the Ranger-Hawk series has Montreal waiting in the wings. The Canadiens swept the other East Division semifinal 4-0 over Boston.

In the West Division, St. Louis holds a 3-2 edge over Philadelphia and Los Angeles leads Minnesota 3-2. Sixth games in both series are set for Tuesday at St. Louis and Minnesota.

Pitt Frosh Richey Wins 2 At OU Relays

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Speedsters from Notre Dame and the University of Pittsburgh and Toledo's Aaron Hopkins dominated individual play in the 9th annual Ohio University relays.

Notre Dame's Bill Hurd, Pittsburgh's Jerry Richey and Hopkins each claimed dual individual victories while the Irish and the host Bobcats were the top contenders in team events.

Nearly 450 athletes from 20 schools and track clubs turned out in sunny and windy weather Saturday at Peden Stadium where 11 relay records, including two all-time state collegiate standards, fell.

No official team totals were kept.

Hurd blitzed through the 100-meter dash in 10.2 for a new relays standard and captured the 220-yard dash. But his record time of 20.6 in the 220 was disallowed due to the wind.

Richey, a freshman, won the 10,000-meter run in Friday's only event in 31:06.8. He came back Saturday to set a new mark in the 1,500-meter run with a clocking of 3:53.2.

Long jump and triple jump titles went to Hopkins with respective leaps of 24 feet, 10½ inches and 51-4½.

Other stunning performances were turned in by Kent State runners and Ohio University's Dave Leitch.

The Golden Flashes, anchored by Sam Bair, took honors in the distance medley relay to shatter an all-Ohio collegiate mark. They were clocked at 9:48.8.

Leitch shattered the other collegiate standard in the hammer throw with a hurl of 176 feet, 2 inches.

Taylor was anchorman in the 440, 880 and mile relays, captured by the Bobcats. In the 880, OU runners were clocked at 1:25.3 for a relays record and state collegiate equalizer.

The Irish, who also won the spring and medley relay and the two-mile relay, had another individual winner in Ed Broderick, who soared 6 feet 7¾ inches in the high jump.

24 Injured In Crash At Cloverleaf

CLEVELAND (AP)— Twenty four persons were treated for minor injuries Sunday when a stock car went out of control at Cloverleaf Speedway, ripped through a 12-foot- high steel mesh fence and into the grandstands.

"Don't ask me why I wasn't injured," said Sandra Bedrick, 21, one of two women pinned under the red and white auto driven by Bill Goodnight of Eastlake.

Her sister, Dawn Szczesniak, 20, was pulled from under the auto. She was treated for head lacerations.

Police said many of the fans at the track in nearby Valley View saw the auto coming and had time to get out of the way.

Three ambulances took the 24 persons to Marymount Hospital in Gairfield Heights. One fan may have a broken leg.

The auto missed a turn at the west end of the quarter-mile oval, hurtled a three-foot barrier and went through the fence.

Yesterday's Stars

PITCHING—Jim Bunning, Pirates, scattered five hits in a 3-0 victory over Los Angeles.

BATTING—Jim Hart, Giants, drove in six runs with three homers, triggering a 13-2, 3-1 doubleheader sweep over Philadelphia.

Leroy (Satchel) Paige was the oldest player ever to appear in a major league baseball game, pitching for Kansas City in 1965 at the age of 59.

Jesse Owens' Mark Falls At Mansfield

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The fastest 100-yard dash ever run by a schoolboy in Ohio is on the recordbooks today, and the last vestiges of the famed Jesse Owens' feats at the Mansfield Relays now are only memories.

Herb Washington, a 17-year-old speedster from Flint, Mich., shattered the last two of a long string of records set here by Owens before he logged fantastic Olympic triumphs at Berlin in the 30s.

Washington, a 6-foot-1, 188-pound senior, blitzed the 100 in 9.4 seconds and in the preliminaries joined Willie Wallace of Flint Northern in 21.0 clockings in the 220.

The records had held since 1933 when Owens, a track star at Cleveland East Tech, turned in respective times of 9.6 and 21.2.

Some 2,486 athletes from 281 schools in Ohio, the surrounding states and Canada were on hand for the 37th annual relays Saturday as Pontiac, Mich., Central and Cleveland Kennedy tied for top team honors.

Central nearly walked away with all the honors but in the final event, run in pitch darkness after the long drawn out affair moved into the night, Cleveland Kennedy picked up a third place in the mile to tie Michigan school with 16 points.

Some 70 schools made it into the scoring column and the other top ten finishers were Cleveland Adams 15; Flint Central 15; Cleveland Glenville 11; Flint Northern 11; Cleveland St. Joseph 10; Sandusky 10.

Bob Friend Speaker At Oak Glen

Two hundred people attended the All-Sports Banquet at Oak Glen High School last Wednesday.

Bob Friend, ex-pitching ace of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was the guest speaker.

Francis Stephens, president of the Oak Glen Boosters Club, presided, and Charles Miller, principal of New Cumberland Junior High, was toastmaster.

Those in attendance included school athletes, coaches, members of the board of education, the superintendent - elect, Dr. Vernon Wyland, members of the press, junior high coaches, and principals.

Lisbon Softball Loop Plans Are Advanced

LISBON — The Lisbon Softball League has seven teams lined up for play this season at the Pine Tree Inn diamond on Route 45, north of here.

Jack Jackson, promoter, said a meeting for representatives of the various teams will be held Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at the inn.

Lisbon will have three teams in the fast-pitch softball loop, while East Liverpool, Wellsville, Highlandtown, and Leetonia will have individual teams.

Jackson said he hopes to obtain a team from East Palestine and Salem. Planners hope to begin league play in May.

Bunning Blanks Dodgers, Ties Cy Young Whiff Mark

Clendenon, Alley Pace Buc Attack

LOS ANGELES (AP) — What a difference a year —and Jim Bunning—makes for the Pittsburgh Pirate pitching staff.

The Bucs have won three of their first four games —and got good pitching performances in all four.

Bunning won his first game as a Pirate Sunday by mowing down the punchless Los Angeles Dodgers 3-0 for the Bucs' first shutout of the year.

When the Pirates acquired Bunning in a trade with Philadelphia, manager Larry Shepard said Bunning not only would win for Pittsburgh, but his presence would bring the best out of other Buc hurlers.

The first four games are making Shepard look like a prophet.

It's been a far cry from last year when the composite Pirate earned run average was 3.74, next to worst in the National League.

But pitchers gave up a whooping 606 earned runs in 1967 and pitched only 35 complete games.

Bunning was never in much trouble Sunday as he scattered five hits. But Roberto Clemente saved a two-run homer in the first inning when he speared a shot by Ron Fairly at the right field railing.

Donn Clendenon knocked in a pair of Pittsburgh runs in the first inning after Clemente walked and Willie Stargell singled.

Gene Alley clubbed a bases-empty homer, his first, off loser Claude Osteen in the third.

Bunning opened the season against Houston and pitched well although the Bucs lost.

Bob Veale pitched a strong 12 innings Thursday before the Pirates went on to beat the San Francisco Giants 3-1 in 15 innings.

Al McBean, a refugee from the bull pen, hurled the Bucs' first complete game Saturday when he edged the Giants 2-1 on a three-hitter.

Bunning acquired a spot in baseball history when he struck out Osteen in the third inning. It game him 1,000 strikeouts, making him the first pitcher since Cy Young to strike out 1,000 in each of the major leagues.

It was the third time the Dodgers were blanked in their first four games. Their only victory was a 1-0 decision over the New York Mets.

Veale pitches tonight against Bill Singer in the finale of the two-game stand.

BLAZER BUNNING. Jim Bunning of the Pirates gets the ball with which he recorded his 1,000th National League strikeout. The whiff came during a 3-0 Pittsburgh win in Los Angeles yesterday and enabled Bunning to tie a mark set by Hall of Famer Cy Young. (UPI Telephoto)

Mays, Hart Lead Giant Sweep Of Phils

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

With Willie Mays and Jim Hart thriving on an economy kick, the San Francisco Giants have gone from austerity to affluence in one lively afternoon.

Mays bunched a two-run homer and two-run single in one inning Sunday and Hart cracked three straight homers, good for six RBI, as the Giants swept a doubleheader from the Philadelphia Phillies 13-2 and 3-1.

The Giants, who had scored just two runs in 24 innings while losing twice to Pittsburgh, erupted for 20 hits in the opener against the Phils and scored eight runs in the fifth inning, Mays accounting for half of them in his two trips to the plate.

Mays sat out the first seven innings of the nightcap while Hart, who had drilled a three-run homer in the first game, accounted for all three San Francisco runs with a pair of homers off left-hander Chris Short.

Ernie Banks' three-run homer led the Chicago Cubs past previously unbeaten St. Louis 7-6; Pittsburgh blanked Los Angeles 3-0 on Jim Bunning's five-hitter and the New York Mets dealt Houston its first setback, 4-0, behind the five-hit pitching of rookies Nolan Ryan and Danny Frisella. The Cincinnati-Atlanta game was rained out.

The Giants' offensive barrage in the first game sent right-hander Juan Marichal breezing to his first victory since last Aug. 1. Marichal scattered six hits and contributed a run-scoring single to the fifth inning explosion.

Ron Hunt opened the fifth with a double. After being knocked down by a Rick Wise pitch, Mays hit the next one over the left center field fence for his first 1968 homer and the 565th of his career. Nine batters later, Willie's two-run single capped the rally.

Hart tagged short for a bases-empty homer in the second inning of the nightcap and a two-run shot in the fourth.

Southpaw Ray Sadecki made Hart's homers stand up, hurling a six-hitter and striking out 10 for his seventh straight victory in a carryover streak from last season.

The Cardinals, who had won their first three starts, jumped in front of Chicago in the first inning on Roger Maris' three-run homer. But Billy Williams' three-run homer sent the Cubs run-scoring double and Banks' ahead to stay in the bottom of the first.

Maris also hit a bases-empty homer and Mike Shannon connected with one on for St. Louis. Banks' three RBI gave him a lifetime total of 1,400.

Bunning, acquired by Pittsburgh in a winter trade with the Phillies, pinned the Dodgers with their third shutout loss in four games. Donn Clendenon's two-run double and a solo homer by Gene Alley gave the slim right-hander all the support he needed.

The Mets ended the Astros' getaway winning string at four games as Ryan pitched hitless ball for five innings, struck out eight and yielded three hits in all before leaving in the seventh with a blister on his pitch hand.

Frisella fanned three more Astros in preserving Ryan's first major league victory and Art Shamsky delivered two runs with a double and single.

Bristol Keeping Cool Despite Red Problems

CHICAGO (AP) — Cincinnati has lost three straight games and is having trouble delivering clutch hits, but Manager Dave Bristol says he's not going to "panic" or shake up the line up.

"The season's only several games old, Bristol said shortly before the Reds' game with Atlanta was postponed Sunday.

Cincinnati stranded 18 runners in its two games with the Braves Friday and Saturday and a timely hit could have overturned the one-run deficits.

But the fiery young manager insisted "these guys are trying. Maybe too much. They know what is expected. A little patience is needed, this is no time for me to sail into a wild frenzy," Bristol commented.

He emphasized he would go with his current starting players but if the lack of clutch hitting continues, he said something would have to be done.

Don Pavletich, who club officials say is obviously pressing, is especially experiencing hitting problems although he enjoyed an excellent spring training session.

The catcher has only managed one single in 14 at-bats since the regular season started and has frequently left runners stranded—and in scoring position.

He has struck out five times and hit into one double play and also fanned with the bases loaded in the first inning of Sunday's game.

Rain which pelted Atlanta much of the morning, ceased briefly, but resumed around game time finally caused postponement of the contest after three innings.

The start of the game was delayed 17 minutes and was begun in a drizzle.

Milt Pappas, who owns the Reds' only victory this year, yielded one run and five hits in the three innings. Cincinnati chalked up only a double by Alex Johnson and a single by Tommy Helms.

The Reds' had an off day today, but a workout was slated at Chicago's Wrigley Field where Cincinnati takes on the Cubs Tuesday.

In 1945 the Washington Senators hit only one home run in their home park, Griffith Stadium.

Golf Rules Outdated

Masters Score Goof May Force Rule Change

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Will our conservative golf fathers be forced to rewrite the rules to conform with the jet and electronic age?

There were such suggestions today after Roberto De Vicenzo of Argentina, the grand old warrior of the world's fairways, was deprived of a shot at the rich Masters title.

"This will set golf back 10 years," grumbled one spectator after De Vicenzo had been charged with an extra stroke he didn't take simply because his playing partner put down the wrong figure and Roberto failed to catch it. It was as simple as that.

"Golf rules are outdated," said Fred Corcoran, tournament director of the International Golf Association and once tour manager for the PGA.

Others—Hord Hardin, president of the U.S. Golf Association; Joe Dey, executive director of the USGA and Joe Black, former tour director of the PGA —defended the rules.

De Vicenzo apparently finished in a tie with Bob Goalby for the Masters crown with a 71-hole score of 277 only to be knocked down to second place when it was discovered that he had signed a card showing a 4 on the par 3 17th hole and a 66 instead of a 65.

The mistake had been made by Tommy Aaron, the Argentine's playing partner, but under the existing rules it was Roberto's responsibility to check it and sign it authoritative.

The rule is No. 38:

"After each hole, the marker shall check the score with a competitor. On completion of the round the marker shall sign the card and hand it to the competitor. Should more than one marked record the scores, each shall sign the part for which he is responsible."

In this case, Aaron was the marker for De Vicenzo and De Vicenzo the marker for Aaron.

The third section of the rule says:

"If a competitor return a score for any hole lower than actually played, he shall be disqualified. A scorer higher than actually played must stand as returned."

This marks the first time that such a penalty has been imposed in a major men's tournament, with the title affected.

Corcoran said he believed that it was too much responsibility for a man to be forced to keep count of all his strokes and also those of his partner—and then have to attest to them.

"It would be a simple thing for the tournament to provide a scorer," Corcoran said.

Day, who is sometimes called the Father of the Rules, said he thought Rule 38 was a just one.

"I know of no golfer who would be willing to let another person be responsible for his score," he said.

Hawks Beat Rangers On 80-Foot Goal 2-1

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A desperation shot, intended almost as much to get the puck into New York's end as to score a goal, made a Stanley Cup hero of young Bob Schmautz. It also gave the Chicago Black Hawks a 2-1 victory in the pivotal National Hockey League fifth playoff game against the Rangers.

The victory — third straight for the Hawks — sends the East Division semifinals back to Chicago for a sixth game Tuesday with Bobby Hull and company leading 3-2 in the best-of-7 series.

Schmautz, given a regular turn because of Ken Wharram's sore ribs, snapped a 1-1 third period tie Sunday night when his 80-foot shot hit Ranger defenseman Jim Neilson's stick, changed direction and zipped past goalie Ed Giacomin.

"It was desperation shot," admitted Schmautz, who scored three times in 13 games during the regular NHL season after being called up from Dallas of the Central League.

There were just over three minutes left when Dennis Hull fought Bob Nevin off the puck in the Ranger end and slid the rubber out to Pat Stapleton. Then Stapleton got it to Schmautz, who was at center ice when he let go.

Bobby Hull of Chicago and Donnie Marshall of New York produced the other goals in the first period.

The winner of the Ranger-Hawk series has Montreal waiting in the wings. The Canadiens swept the other East Division semifinal 4-0 over Boston.

In the West Division, St. Louis holds a 3-2 edge over Philadelphia and Los Angeles leads Minnesota 3-2. Sixth games in both series are set for Tuesday at St. Louis and Minnesota.

Pitt Frosh Richey Wins 2 At OU Relays

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Speedsters from Notre Dame and the University of Pittsburgh and Toledo's Aaron Hopkins dominated individual play in the 9th annual Ohio University relays.

Notre Dame's Bill Hurd, Pittsburgh's Jerry Richey and Hopkins each claimed dual individual victories while the Irish and the host Bobcats were the top contenders in team events.

Nearly 450 athletes from 20 schools and track clubs turned out in sunny and windy weather Saturday at Peden Stadium where 11 relay records, including two all-time state collegiate standards, fell.

No official team totals were kept.

Hurd blitzed through the 100-meter dash in 10.2 for a new relays standard and captured the 220-yard dash. But his record time of 20.6 in the 220 was disallowed due to the wind.

Richey, a freshman, won the 10,000-meter run in Friday's only event in 31:06.8. He came back Saturday to set a new mark in the 1,500-meter run with a clocking of 3:53.2.

Long jump and triple jump titles went to Hopkins with respective leaps of 24 feet, 10½ inches and 51-4½.

Other stunning performances were turned in by Kent State runners and Ohio University's Dave Leitch.

The Golden Flashes, anchored by Sam Bair, took honors in the distance medley relay to shatter an all-Ohio collegiate mark. They were clocked at 9:48.8.

Leitch shattered the other collegiate standard in the hammer throw with a hurl of 176 feet, 2 inches.

Taylor was anchorman in the 440, 880 and mile relays, captured by the Bobcats. In the 880, OU runners were clocked at 1:25.3 for a relays record and state collegiate equalizer.

The Irish, who also won the spring and medley relay and the two-mile relay, had another individual winner in Ed Broderick, who soared 6 feet 7¾ inches in the high jump.

24 Injured In Crash At Cloverleaf

CLEVELAND (AP)— Twenty four persons were treated for minor injuries Sunday when a stock car went out of control at Cloverleaf Speedway, ripped through a 12-foot- high steel mesh fence and into the grandstands.

"Don't ask me why I wasn't injured," said Sandra Bedrick, 21, one of two women pinned under the red and white auto driven by Bill Goodnight of Eastlake.

Her sister, Dawn Szczesniak, 20, was pulled from under the auto. She was treated for head lacerations.

Police said many of the fans at the track in nearby Valley View saw the auto coming and had time to get out of the way.

Three ambulances took the 24 persons to Marymount Hospital in Garfield Heights. One fan may have a broken leg.

The auto missed a turn at the west end of the quarter-mile oval, hurtled a three-foot barrier and went through the fence.

Yesterday's Stars

PITCHING—Jim Bunning, Pirates, scattered five hits in a 3-0 victory over Los Angeles.

BATTING—Jim Hart, Giants, drove in six runs with three homers, triggering a 13-2, 3-1 doubleheader sweep over Philadelphia.

Leroy (Satchel) Paige was the oldest player ever to appear in a major league baseball game, pitching for Kansas City in 1965 at the age of 59.

Jesse Owens' Mark Falls At Mansfield

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The fastest 100-yard dash ever run by a schoolboy in Ohio is on the recordbooks today, and the last vestiges of the famed Jesse Owens' feats at the Mansfield Relays now are only memories.

Herb Washington, a 17-year-old speedster from Flint, Mich., shattered the last two of a long string of records set here by Owens before he logged fantastic Olympic triumphs at Berlin in the 30s.

Washington, a 6-foot-1, 188-pound senior, blitzed the 100 in 9.4 seconds and in the preliminaries joined Willie Wallace of Flint Northern in 21.0 clockings in the 220.

The records had held since 1933 when Owens, a track star at Cleveland East Tech, turned in respective times of 9.6 and 21.2.

Some 2,486 athletes from 281 schools in Ohio, the surrounding states and Canada were on hand for the 37th annual relays Saturday as Pontiac, Mich., Central and Cleveland Kennedy tied for top team honors.

Central nearly walked away with all the honors but in the final event, run in pitch darkness after the long drawn out affair moved into the night, Cleveland Kennedy picked up a third place in the mile to tie Michigan school with 16 points.

Some 70 schools made it into the scoring column and the other top ten finishers were Cleveland Adams 15; Flint Central 15; Cleveland Glenville 11; Flint Northern 11; Cleveland St. Joseph 10; Sandusky 10.

Bob Friend Speaker At Oak Glen

Two hundred people attended the All-Sports Banquet at Oak Glen High School last Wednesday.

Bob Friend, ex-pitching ace of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was the guest speaker.

Francis Stephens, president of the Oak Glen Boosters Club, presided, and Charles Miller, principal of New Cumberland Junior High, was toastmaster.

Those in attendance included school athletes, coaches, members of the board of education, the superintendent - elect, Dr. Vernon Wyland, members of the press, junior high coaches, and principals.

Lisbon Softball Loop Plans Are Advanced

LISBON — The Lisbon Softball League has seven teams lined up for play this season at the Pine Tree Inn diamond on Route 45, north of here.

Jack Jackson, promoter, said a meeting for representatives of the various teams will be held Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at the inn.

Lisbon will have three teams in the fast-pitch softball loop, while East Liverpool, Wellsville, Highlandtown, and Leetonia will have individual teams.

Jackson said he hopes to obtain a team from East Palestine and Salem. Planners hope to begin league play in May.

Davalillo Paces Indian Win With Homer, Triple, 4 RBIs

Venezuelan Also Steals Two Bases

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Vic Davalillo has improved his hitting by stealing a few inches at the plate and he also is making big strides forward on the bases, where he is stealing 90 feet at a time.

It all added up to a lot of yardage for the diminutive Venezuelan Sunday as he drove in four runs with a home run and a triple and set up another with two stolen bases in Cleveland's 7-4 victory over Boston.

Ron Hansen also drove in four runs for Washington as the Senators rolled over Oakland 8 - 1 and Harmon Killebrew got the key hit — a two-run triple — in unbeaten Minnesota's four-run third inning that beat the New York Yankees 4-3.

In other American League games, Bill Freehan singled in the winning run in the 10th inning to hand Detroit a 5-4 triumph over the Chicago White Sox and California took advantage of Baltimore's faulty fielding to beat the Orioles 6-2.

In the National League, San Francisco swept a doubleheader from Philadelphia 13-2 and 3-1, Chicago dealt St. Louis its first loss 7-6, the New York Mets handed Houston its first defeat 4-0 and Pittsburgh blanked Los Angeles 3-0. Cincinnati was rained out at Atlanta.

Davalillo, a 5-foot-7 speedster who hit .257 last year but drove in only 23 runs with two homers, now has five RBI in four games this season.

He raised his average to .304 with a bases-loaded, two-out triple that broke a 2-2 tie in the fifth inning and a lead-off homer in the eighth.

"You notice that I'm closer to the plate?" he asked reporters. "Both pitches I hit are fast ball in on me. Pompeyo (his brother who played with Washington in 1963) tell me 'if they're going to hit you they're going to hit you whether you're close or far away from the plate. There's no way you can get away.'"

Hansen's three-run double and run-scoring single and homers by Frank Howard and Bill Bryan gave the Senators their first victory after three losses. Dennis Higgins earned the victory with 4 2-3 innings of shutout relief, "the first time in the major leagues that I have pitched that far."

Killebrew's belt came after Tony Oliva singled in a Minnesota run and then Bob Allison doubled home Killebrew with the decisive run as the Yankees drove out starter Dean Chance with three runs in the ninth inning. Al Worthington preserved Minnesota's 4-0 record by getting the last two outs with two men on.

Freehan's hit came with the bases loaded and none out after the White Sox managed a 4-4 tie off Detroit starter Mickey Lolich on two-run homers by Buddy Bradford and Tommy Davis.

Roger Repoz led off California's victory with a homer and the Angels got another run when Baltimore shortstop Dave Johnson had trouble getting a ground ball out of his glove. Two errors and a wild pitch led to two more markers as George Brunet evened his record at 1-1.

VICTORY VIC. Vic Davalillo, shown here stealing third base, clouted a triple and homer to lead the Cleveland Indians to a 7-4 win over the Boston Red Sox at Cleveland yesterday. Red Sox third baseman Dalton Jones takes throw from catcher Elston Howard too late. (UPI Telephoto)

Davalillo Paces Indian Win With Homer, Triple, 4 RBIs

Venezuelan Also Steals Two Bases

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Vic Davalillo has improved his hitting by stealing a few inches at the plate and he also is making big strides forward on the bases, where he is stealing 90 feet at a time.

It all added up to a lot of yardage for the diminutive Venezuelan Sunday as he drove in four runs with a home run and a triple and set up another with two stolen bases in Cleveland's 7-4 victory over Boston.

Ron Hansen also drove in four runs for Washington as the Senators rolled over Oakland 8 - 1 and Harmon Killebrew got the key hit — a two-run triple — in unbeaten Minnesota's four-run third inning that beat the New York Yankees 4-3.

In other American Leagues games, Bill Freehan singled in the winning run in the 10th inning to hand Detroit a 5-4 triumph over the Chicago White Sox and California took advantage of Baltimore's faulty fielding to beat the Orioles 6-2.

In the National League, San Francisco swept a doubleheader from Philadelphia 13-2 and 3-1, Chicago dealt St. Louis its first loss 7-6, the New York Mets handed Houston its first defeat 4-0 and Pittsburgh blanked Los Angeles 3-0. Cincinnati was rained out at Atlanta.

Davalillo, a 5-foot-7 speedster who hit .287 last year but drove in only 22 runs with two homers, now has five RBI in four games this season.

He raised his average to 294 with a bases-loaded, two-out triple that broke a 3-3 tie in the fifth inning and a lead-off homer in the eighth.

"You notice that I'm closer to the plate?" he asked reporters. "Both pitches I hit are fast fall in on me. Pompeyo (his brother who played with Washington in 1953) tell me 'if they're going to hit you they're going to hit you whether you're close or far away from the plate. There's no way you can get away."

Hansen's three-run double and run-scoring single and homers by Frank Howard and Bill Bryan gave the Senators their first victory after three losses. Dennis Higgins earned the victory with 4 2-3 innings of shutout relief, "the first time in the major leagues that I have pitched that far."

Killebrew's belt came after Tony Oliva singled in a Minnesota run and then Bob Allison doubled home Killebrew with the decisive run as the Yankees drove out starter Dean Chance with three runs in the ninth inning. Al Worthington preserved Minnesota's 4-0 record by getting the last two outs with two men on.

Freehan's hit came with the bases loaded and none out after the White Sox managed a 4-4 tie off Detroit starter Mickey Lolich on two-run homers by Buddy Bradford and Tommy Davis.

Roger Repoz led off California's victory with a homer and the Angels got another run when Baltimore shortstop Dave Johnson had trouble getting a ground ball out of his glove. Two errors and a wild pitch led to two more markers as George Brunet evened his record at 1-1.

VICTORY VIC. Vic Davalillo, shown here stealing third base, clouted a triple and homer to lead the Cleveland Indians to a 7-4 win over the Boston Red Sox at Cleveland yesterday. Red Sox third baseman Dalton Jones takes throw from catcher Elston Howard too late. (UPI Telephoto)

ANN LANDERS

2 Sides To The Question

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My husband died five years ago and left me with two fine sons, ages 6 and 8. Seven months ago I married a bachelor.

He liked my boys and they liked him. On occasion he'd complain about their behavior and say, half jokingly, "When I'm their father I'll see that they get some discipline."

I'm afraid our marriage is in danger and I need your help. My husband has turned from an even-tempered man into a tyrant. He and I have no problem, but his attitude toward the boys is horrible.

He says they're ill-mannered, irresponsible, spoiled rotten. I say they're high-spirited, energetic, normal kids.

True, they punch each other sometimes in the back seat of the car, but then all brothers do. When we go out for dinner they don't always behave perfectly; they spill things and make a little too much noise. So what?

I've always taken the boys with me in the evennig, to dinner and the theater and visiting friends. (I felt this was compensation for being fatherless.) Now they expect to go and I see nohing wrong with taking them.

I told my husband I was writing to you and he said he was going to write to you also. Of course he never will. Can you give me some help please? — PHOENIX.

Dear Phoenix: The letter you were sure your husband wouldn't write arrived the same day as yours. Here it is — at his request:

Dear Ann: My wife informed me she was writing to you about my abusive treatment of her two sons. I told her I was going to write and give you the other side of the story. Please publish my letter if you decide to publish hers.

My wife considers the boys "normal." I say they have been pampered, catered to and are totally undisciplined.

They have no regard for their mother whatever. When she asks them to do something they ignore her. The teachers complain because they are irresponsible and mouthy.

Recently we took the boys on a 200-mile motor trip and they fought in the back seat until I became so annoyed I stopped the car and gave them both a whack. A few minutes later, when we were going about 60 miles an hour, one of the boys hit me on the head from behind and we very nearly went into a ditch.

My wife insists on taking these kids to dinner and movies on school nights, which I feel is outrageous. If they are too tired to get up the next day she lets them sleep. She says they need the feeling of security more than they need to go to school.

I love my wife and I want this marriage to work. I told her before we married that I would help her raise the boys and she seemed agreeable. Now she says, "They're MY sons. Leave them alone."

I hope you'll counsel us in print. — H.G.W.

Dear H.G.W.: I'm addressing my remarks to your wife, since she's the one who needs it.

Get with it, Mother, or you're going to have two worthless sons and a lonesome old age. Your husband has the right idea. Welcome this firm hand — it's badly needed. Kids who are allowed to do as they please do not grow up happy and secure. They grow up unmotivated, irresponsible and miserable.

Constable Offers Clarification On Mutual Aid Plan

Robert Jones, chief St. Clair Township constable, today clarified instructions to residents who need police assistance under a new mutual aid agreement with Liverpool Township.

Jones said nothing has changed for those living in the two townships relative to the procedure for obtaining help. He added some in Liverpool Township now are under the impression they are to call St. Clair for assistance instead of their own constable.

Jones emphasized this is not correct. Residents still should notify only their constable in the event of trouble, adding that the two departments will respond only to official calls in the event of an emergency, not those of private residents. He explained this procedure is the same as that followed by volunteer fire companies in the area, who, from time to time need the services of another department.

Jones also reported his men will begin impounding bicycles of youngsters who are riding at night without lights and hold them until lights are obtained.

Jones said bicycles are becoming a serious hazard, especially since through highways run through much of the Calcutta area.

Police Hold Man In Theft Of Auto

A 32-year-old East Liverpool man is being held by police on an auto theft charge after his arrest early Sunday.

Arnold E. Adkins of 735 Valley Ave. is accused of theft of a 1964 model two - door convertible which Ronald J. Lewis of 1022 Ephriam St. reported stolen from Diamond Alley at Washington St. Saturday between 10:30 and 11:30 p.m.

Patrolman David Huffman said he saw Adkins drive the car off the Chester Bridge onto E. 3rd St. about 2 a.m. yesterday. He followed the auto along E. 3rd St. and Broadway to E. 2nd St., where Adkins was taken into custody with the assistance of Patrolmen Jack Strobel and W. F. Copestick.

Officers said Adkins may be referred to the Federal Bureau of Investigation for prosecution under the U.S. statute that forbids taking a stolen vehicle across a state line.

ANN LANDERS

2 Sides To The Question

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My husband died five years ago and left me with two fine sons, ages 6 and 8. Seven months ago I married a bachelor.

He liked my boys and they liked him. On occasion he'd complain about their behavior and say, half jokingly, "When I'm their father I'll see that they get some discipline."

I'm afraid our marriage is in danger and I need your help. My husband has turned from an even-tempered man into a tyrant. He and I have no problem, but his attitude toward the boys is horrible.

He says they're ill-mannered, irresponsible, spoiled rotten. I say they're high-spirited, energetic, normal kids.

True, they punch each other sometimes in the back seat of the car, but then all brothers do. When we go out for dinner they don't always behave perfectly; they spill things and make a little too much noise. So what?

I've always taken the boys with me in the evennig, to dinner and the theater and visiting friends. (I felt this was compensation for being fatherless.) Now they expect to go and I see nohing wrong with taking them.

I told my husband I was writing to you and he said he was going to write to you also. Of course he never will. Can you give me some help please? — PHOENIX.

Dear Phoenix: The letter you were sure your husband wouldn't write arrived the same day as yours. Here it is — at his request:

Dear Ann: My wife informed me she was writing to you about my abusive treatment of her two sons. I told her I was going to write and give you the other side of the story. Please publish my letter if you decide to publish hers.

My wife considers the boys "normal." I say they have been pampered, catered to and are totally undisciplined.

They have no regard for their mother whatever. When she asks them to do something they ignore her. The teachers complain because they are irresponsible and mouthy.

Recently we took the boys on a 200-mile motor trip and they fought in the back seat until I became so annoyed I stopped the car and gave them both a whack. A few minutes later, when we were going about 60 miles an hour, one of the boys hit me on the head from behind and we very nearly went into a ditch.

My wife insists on taking these kids to dinner and movies on school nights, which I feel is outrageous. If they are too tired to get up the next day she lets them sleep. She says they need the feeling of security more than they need to go to school.

I love my wife and I want this marriage to work. I told her before we married that I would help her raise the boys and she seemed agreeable. Now she says, "They're MY sons. Leave them alone."

I hope you'll counsel us in print. — H.G.W.

House Is Jet Set Status Symbol

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If you are "with it," you probably have "house fever," even if you haven't yet acquired a second home.

Houses are the newest status symbol over the world, says Count Lanfranco Rasponi, who travels with the jet set, lives in their homes and writes books about them.

"Jewels are fading into vaults. Clothes have become so informal that there is little opportunity to wear diamonds. So—the international set shows off their houses, usually more than one. Some people keep five going. . ."

THEY MAY even move a house that appeals to them as Zurich heiress Hortense Buhrle did when she moved an old cottage to St. Anton, one of Europe's snow playgrounds.

But it isn't just houses that in this new social revolution—it's everything that goes with them — how they are decorated, the degree of informality in entertaining, even how many times a guest is kissed when greeted at the door.

People have houses wherever they vacation throughout the year, and keep their houses circulating by permitting friends to enjoy them, points out Rasponi, who was at the moment using the apartment of the Douglas Fairbankses in New York while they were in Mexico.

In Capri, he stayed with Count and Countess Edward Bismarck, in Biarritz with Princess Peggy D'Arenberg and in Port Ercole, newest "in" place, with Duchess Canevaro, while writing "The Golden Oases," his new book about the tribal customs of the rich. His last book, "International Nomads," followed the jet-set travelers.

PEOPLE ARE living in houses that are guest-oriented. The Earl of Warwick's home in Switzerland with blue and red awnings, interior walls of red velvet, has a bowling alley lined with beautiful paintings. Bowling alleys in homes are another status symbol of the rich, he says.

Rasponi hasn't been to an important party in two years that didn't have its share of interesting youth, he says. "A host and hostess will go to great lengths to liven up the party scene with young people."

The informality of youth may be one reason why social mores are changing, he says. The RSVP has disappeared completely from some party invitations.

The Duchess of Bedford leaves cards in guest rooms advising "you are excused from writing me a thank-you note." New York hostess Ruth Ford gave a party suggesting on the invitation that "you can come with a tie or without a tie."

—:—

ONE MAN wore a Rajah coat to that party. Leonard Bernstein and the Duke of Verdi wore turtle neck shirts. One young girl was in a brown velvet suit, another wore a full-length dinner dress. Everybody was comfortable in clothes that suited his or her pleasure.

The informality has caused a trend to large parties, he points out. If there are no RSVPs one must ask enough people to make sure the party is a success.

Socially prominent Mrs. Edward McCauley of New York gave a dinner party recently for Rasponi, inviting 24 people. Six from Newport, Washington and Connecticut were bogged down by weather conditions, he says, but the party was successful with 18.

Little - table dinners have become popular in areas where protocol is a big thing. The hostess designates one VIP to each table and everyone is happy.

Informality had created a situation anyway where people were becoming gauche enough to switch place cards arranged by the hostess, he says.

Dinner table conversation is likely to center upon which house, palace, estate or castle one is visiting next, and who is renting or building a house where.

"Newport, Southhampton and Palm Beach are still standbys of elegant people in the United States but in Europe new resorts are making news — Port Ercole and Marbella (between Gibraltar and Malaga) are new "in places," he says.

Anyone who would entertain properly should cultivate the art of door-kissing that has replaced the handshake greeting, Rasponi says.

It's the big thing in the international set — you tell the importance of people by the number of kisses the hostess conveys. Four or more puts you pretty much on top, two kisses may mean your stock is dwindling or you are being tolerated, and the no-kiss is really the kiss of social death — you are socially on your way out.

Rasponi was born in Florence to an Italian nobleman and an American mother, Carolina Montague of Chattanooga. He lived in New York for many years before he began international travels.

Quality, Not Quantity, Urged In Garden Tools

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Faced with the first warm days of spring, the fresh green of the grass and trees freshly budding, the beginning gardener has little resistance to the various tool displays.

There is a tool for almost every job.

As you get further along in your gardening, you will know special tools you might want. Remember that the more specialized the tool, the more limited its use.

—:—

START WITH tools that will do a variety of jobs.

Buy a few good tools rather than many cheap ones. Your dollars will go further.

Take care of them. Include a file in your first purchase so that you can keep edges sharp. Lubricating oil and rags will keep metal surfaces from rusting while tools are stored. A wire brush and steel wool will remove dirt and any rust that may have started.

The display of shovels will confuse you. A long handle is easier on your back, best for deep digging. But a short handle provides greater control of the work. Between the two, start with the short handle.

The pointed scooplike blade aids penetration and will hold a load of dirt. Later, when you want to get more specialized, get a straight blade which cuts into the earth more easily and is fine for turning over a garden. So is the spading fork, especially if the ground is heavy.

A STEEL rake and a cultivator are important. The cultivator is a pronged affair, fine for breaking up lumps of earth and loosening soil around plants.

The steel rake is a great general purpose tool. You will use it for taking the lumps out of a seed bed. Turn it over, teeth up, and use it to level the seed bed.

Hold it at an angle and you can use to dig a planting furrow. Later on, add a hoe — but for now your rake and cultivator will do.

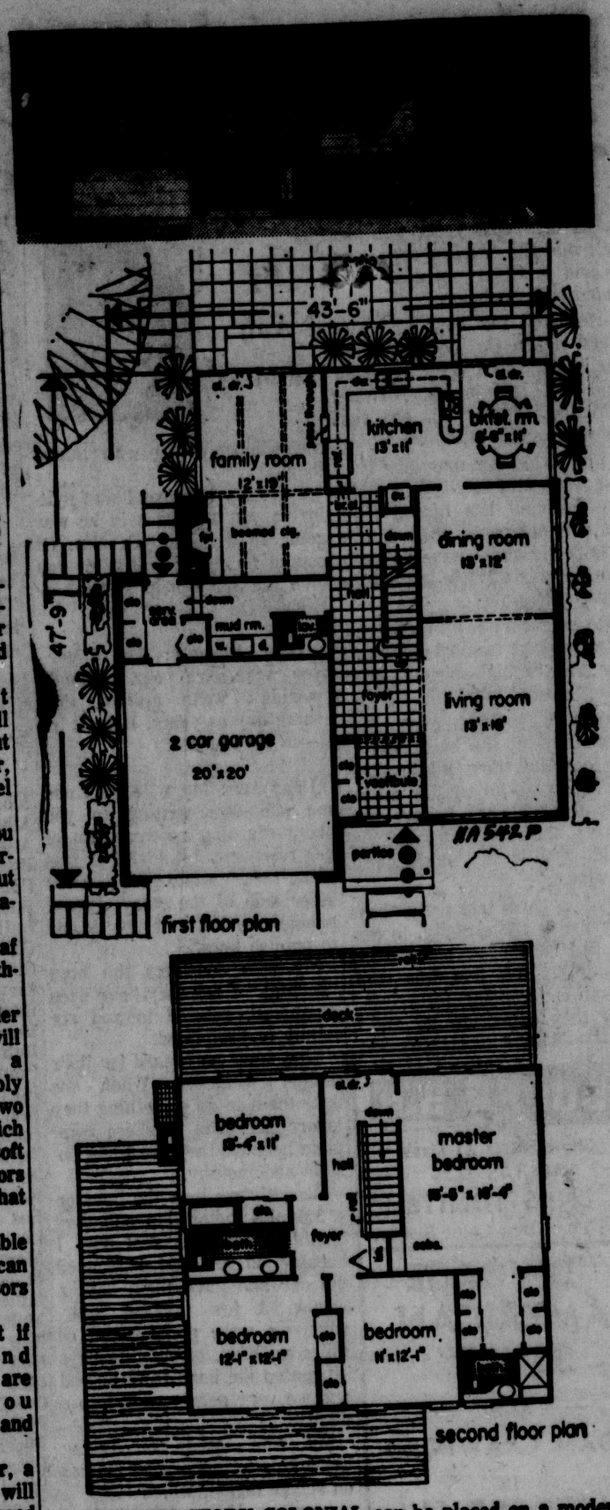
In the fall get yourself a leaf rake, the broom style, for gathering in leaves.

If you have anything taller than grass growing you will need pruning shears. Get a good pair that fits comfortably in your hand. There are two types — the anvil type in which the blade cuts against a soft metal base, and the scissors type which has two blades that cross.

The anvil type is preferable for small work, but if you can only afford one get the scissors style for now.

Hedge shears are a must if you have large hedges and bushes around. If there are trees on your property you should have a pruning saw and a pair of lopping shears.

Aside from a lawn mower, a hose and a sprinkler you will have most of what you need with this list of tools. Add a small steel cultivator for setting out plants and you are in business.



THIS TWO-STORY COLONIAL can be placed on a moderate-size lot, since its frontage is 42 feet 6 inches and the squarish shape saves on construction costs. Still it has a pleasing facade. The center hall has a large vestibule, with two closets. This hall has access to all rooms and to the second floor stairs. Dining and living rooms could be treated as one or two rooms. Informal rooms, family room, kitchen and breakfast room are across the rear, two of them leading onto the patio. Entrance into the house from the garage is through the service area—closets, laundry facilities and lavatory. On the second floor, three of the four bedrooms have cross-ventilation. Plan HA542P has 1,384 square feet on the first floor and 1,110 square feet on the second floor. It was designed by Samuel Paul, 89-30 161st St., Jamaica, N. Y.

Role Of Plastics Seen Skyrocketing In Home

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

The rapidly advancing technology of plastics has added to the beauty, economy, health, safety, convenience, comfort and pleasure of modern living.

But the really stunning wonders of plastics are yet to come—and they won't be long in getting here.

Experts predict that by 1980, if not even sooner, the role of plastics in home construction, furnishing, decorating, labor-saving and pleasure-giving will be little short of breathtaking.

—:—

HERE ARE some of the forecasts of plastic wonders to come:

Completely unitized kitchens and bathrooms, as well as other rooms perhaps, which can be slipped into construction frames of homes or apartment buildings as single units.

All - plastic furniture. One executive of a leading furniture manufacturing concern foresees a complete switchover to plastics from wood, except for antiques and some of the very highest - priced furniture.

"Atomic wood" for furniture and other applications where wood is now employed. This is a newly developed plastics - impregnated, irradiated wood which possesses properties of both plastics and wood plus some new characteristics.

Virtually all - plastic refrigerators, washers, dryers, dishwashers and air - conditioners.

Computerized home operation for the housewife. Through a number of devices made practical and economical through plastics, the housewife before retiring for the night will be able to press a series of buttons to program all her needs on tape for preparing and serving food the nert day, for housecleaning, for shopping and delivery of goods and even for payment.

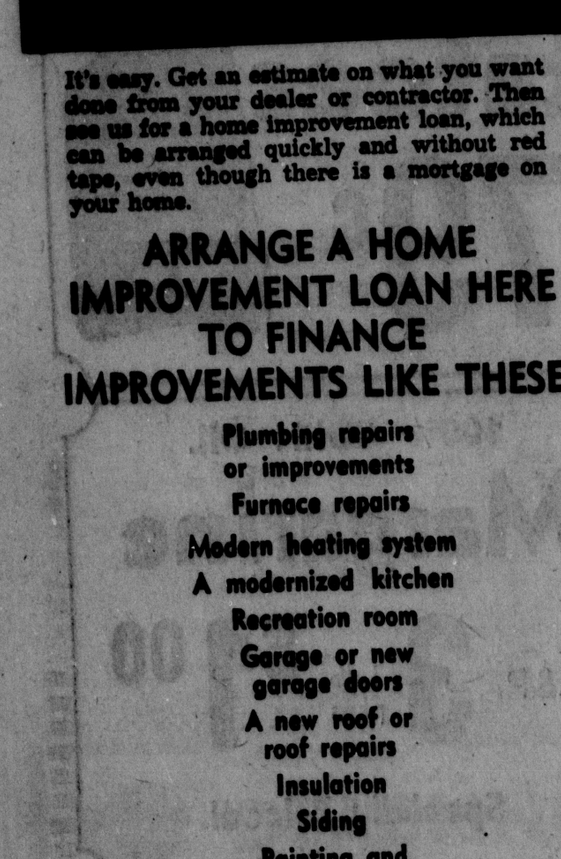
PLASTIC homes. Many plastic materials already are being used for current interior wall, floor and partition construction. The future is expected to bring even more extensive use for siding and roofing. Such plastics will require no maintenance or painting and can be installed much more easily than current materials.

Packaging. Many of today's food and other products now come from the store encased in protective plastics. The outlook is for a phenomenal increase in this respect.

Household utilities. Plastic piping shows prospect of replacing other materials in the future because of ease of installation, strength, flexibility and economy.

Home furnishings. Here again plastics will prevail — for carpeting, upholstery, draperies, mattresses, pillows, windows, lighting fixtures, unbreakable light bulbs, patio furniture, awnings, fencing and electronic devices of many kinds.

There will be other such items as plastic film chairs and couches which can be inflated and hardened into solid furniture, or other types which can be left springy and buoyant after inflation.



It's easy. Get an estimate on what you want done from your dealer or contractor. Then see us for a home improvement loan, which can be arranged quickly and without red tape, even though there is a mortgage on your home.

House Is Jet Set Status Symbol

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If you are "with it," you probably have "house fever," even if you haven't yet acquired a second home.

Houses are the newest status symbol over the world, says Count Lanfranco Rasponi, who travels with the jet set, lives in their homes and writes books about them.

"Jewels are fading into vaults. Clothes have become so informal that there is little opportunity to wear diamonds. So—the international set shows off their houses, usually more than one. Some people keep five going. . ."

—:—

THEY MAY even move a house that appeals to them as Zurich heiress Hortense Buhrle did when she moved an old cottage to St. Anton, one of Europe's snow playgrounds.

But it isn't just houses that in this new social revolution—it's everything that goes with them — how they are decorated, the degree of informality in entertaining, even how many times a guest is kissed when greeted at the door.

People have houses wherever they vacation throughout the year, and keep their houses circulating by permitting friends to enjoy them, points out Rasponi, who was at the moment using the apartment of the Douglas Fairbankses in New York while they were in Mexico.

In Capri, he stayed with Count and Countess Edward Bismarck, in Biarritz with Princess Peggy D'Arenberg and in Port Ercole, newest "in" place, with Duchess Canevaro, while writing "The Golden Oases," his new book about the tribal customs of the rich. His last book, "International Nomads," followed the jet-set travelers.

PEOPLE ARE living in houses that are guest-oriented. The Earl of Warwick's home in Switzerland with blue and red awnings, interior walls of red velvet, has a bowling alley lined with beautiful paintings. Bowling alleys in homes are another status symbol of the rich, he says.

Rasponi hasn't been to an important party in two years that didn't have its share of interesting youth, he says. "A host and hostess will go to great lengths to liven up the party scene with young people."

The informality of youth may be one reason why social mores are changing, he says. The RSVP has disappeared compietely from some party invitations.

The Duchess of Bedford leaves cards in guest rooms advising "you are excused from writing me a thank-you note." New York hostess Ruth Ford gave a party suggesting on the invitation that "you can come with a tie or without a tie."

—:—

ONE MAN wore a Rajah coat to that party. Leonard Bernstein and the Duke of Verdi wore turtle neck shirts. One young girl was in a brown velvet suit, another wore a full-length dinner dress. Everybody was comfortable in clothes that suited his or her pleasure.

The informality has caused a trend to large parties, he points out. If there are no RSVPs one must ask enough people to make sure the party is a success.

Socially prominent Mrs. Edward McCauley of New York gave a dinner party recently for Rasponi, inviting 24 people. Six from Newport, Washington and Connecticut were bogged down by weather conditions, he says, but the party was successful with 18.

Little - table dinners have become popular in areas where protocol is a big thing. The hostess designates one VIP to each table and everyone is happy.

Informality had created a situation anyway where people were becoming gauche enough to switch place cards arranged by the hostess, he says.

Dinner table conversation is likely to center upon which house, palace, estate or castle one is visiting next, and who is renting or building a house where.

"Newport, Southhampton and Palm Beach are still standbys of elegant people in the United States but in Europe new resorts are making news — Port Ercole and Marbella (between Gibraltar and Malaga) are new "in places," he says.

Anyone who would entertain properly should cultivate the art of door-kissing that has replaced the handshake greeting, Rasponi says.

It's the big thing in the international set — you tell the importance of people by the number of kisses the hostess conveys. Four or more puts you pretty much on top, two kissses may mean your stock is dwindling or you are being tolerated, and the no-kiss is really the kiss of social death — you are socially on your way out.

Rasponi was born in Florence to an Italian nobleman and an American mother, Carolina Montague of Chattanooga. He lived in New York for many years before he began international travels.

Quality, Not Quantity, Urged In Garden Tools

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Faced with the first warm days of spring, the fresh green of the grass and trees freshly budding, the beginning gardener has little resistance to the various tool displays.

There is a tool for almost every job.

As you get further along in your gardening, you will know special tools you might want. Remember that the more specialized the tool, the more limited its use.

—:—

START WITH tools that will do a variety of jobs.

Buy a few good tools rather than many cheap ones. Your dollars will go further.

Take care of them. Include a file in your first purchase so that you can keep edges sharp. Lubricating oil and rags will keep metal surfaces from rusting while tools are stored. A wire brush and steel wool will remove dirt and any rust that may have started.

The display of shovels will confuse you. A long handle is easier on your back, best for deep digging. But a short handle provides greater control of the work. Between the two, start with the short handle.

The pointed scooplike blade aids penetration and will hold a load of dirt. Later, when you want to get more specialized, get a straight blade which cuts into the earth more easily and is fine for turning over a garden. So is the spading fork, especially if the ground is heavy.

A STEEL rake and a cultivator are important. The cultivator is a pronged affair, fine for breaking up lumps of earth and loosening soil around plants.

The steel rake is a great general purpose tool. You will use it for taking the lumps out of a seed bed. Turn it over, teeth up, and use it to level the seed bed.

Hold it at an angle and you can use to dig a planting furrow. Later on, add a hoe — but for now your rake and cultivator will do.

In the fall get yourself a leaf rake, the broom style, for gathering in leaves.

If you have anything taller than grass growing you will need pruning shears. Get a good pair that fits comfortably in your hand. There are two types — the anvil type in which the blade cuts against a soft metal base, and the scissors type which has two blades that cross.

The anvil type is preferable for small work, but if you can only afford one get the scissors style for now.

Hedge shears are a must if you have large hedges and bushes around. If there are trees on your property you should have a pruning saw and a pair of lopping shears.

Aside from a lawn mower, a hose and a sprinkler you will have most of what you need with this list of tools. Add a small steel cultivator for setting out plants and you are in business.

U.S. Will Act To Ward Off Steel Strike

CLEVELAND (AP)—The government will intervene to prevent a steelworkers' strike this summer if the war in Vietnam is still going on, Steel Magazine predicted Monday.

But peace in Vietnam, the metalworking weekly said, could make steel strike-hedgers look like smart planners.

"The steel inventories they're building would more likely be needed in peace than war," the magazine said. "Because peace, although it now appears remote, would reduce the likelihood of government intervention in a steelworkers' strike and increase the possibility of a long strike."

Steel said that even with peace moves last week buyers showed no inclination to accent their building of inventories by ordering from U.S. mills.

The magazine said one buyer's philosophy was "why build up early and swallow the extra cost?" and "if I need to build up my inventory, foreign steel is readily available."

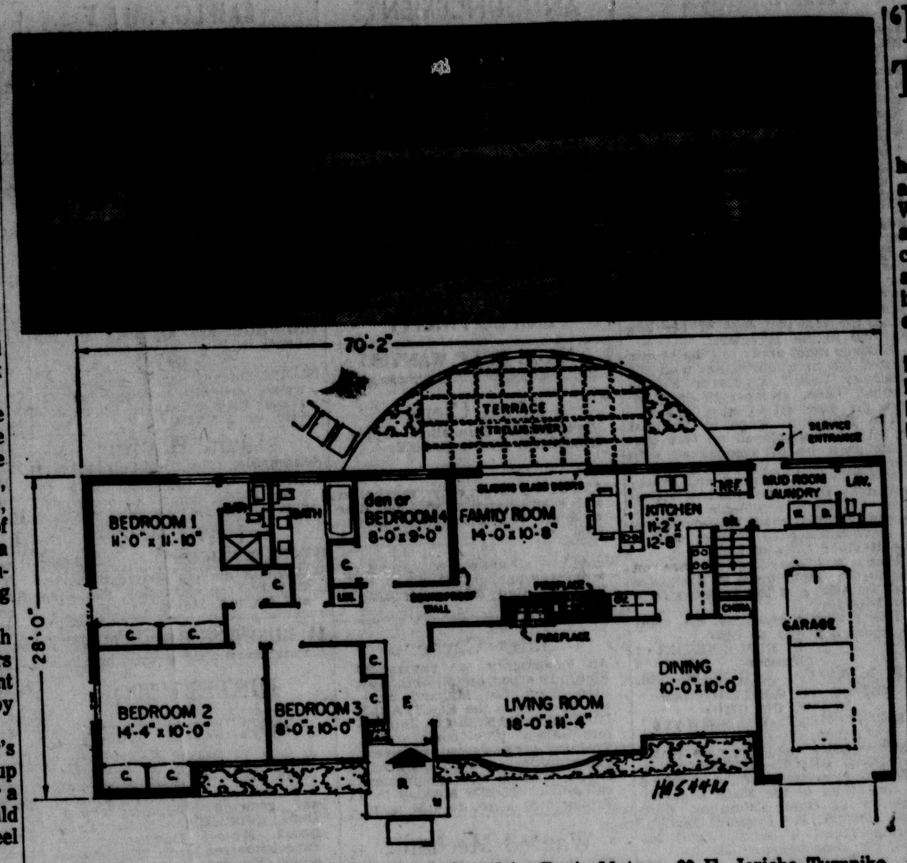
And increased reliance on foreign steel is reflected in imports in the first two months of this year, Steel said. They totaled more than 2,160,000 net tons, an increase of more than 600,000 tons, or 41.6 per cent, from the first two months of last year.

February imports of 1,058,000 tons were a record for the month, the magazine added. It was also the fourth consecutive month in which imports exceeded one million tons.

Steel quoted one producer as saying the opening of the Great Lakes shipping season and the accompanying inflow of foreign steel will do more to build steel inventories than any peace prospects.

The magazine said that U.S. mills continued to "produce steel at a record pace" of 2,885,000 net tons in the week ended April 13.

Prices on steelmaking scrap declined for the tenth straight week. Steel's price composite on the No. 1 heavy melting scrap dropped 33 cents to $26.92 a gross ton last week.



TRANSITIONAL RANCH HA544M was designed by R. A. Matern, 89 E. Jericho Turnpike, Mineola, N. Y. 11501, to satisfy four motivations for acquiring a new home: economy, family, privacy, prestige. The size of 1,495 square feet places it in a low-medium-size bracket. Back-to-back bath plumbing keeps costs down. So does narrow depth, one chimney for two fireplaces and open plan of kitchen, family room, living and dining rooms. Both family room and terrace may be easily supervised from the kitchen. The fourth bedroom can be a den, for those who require privacy in their family living. Bedrooms one and two have separate closets and twin beds could be used. Still, there are details like the bow window and fireplaces which give the home prestige.

'How Do We Care For Pool?' The New Owners Are Asking

AP Newsfeatures

Question: We purchased a house several months ago with a swimming pool at the rear. We never had a swimming pool and know nothing about taking care of it. It is made of cement and seems to have everything, including filters, pumps, a heater and underwater lights.

How do we go about getting it ready for use? It has water in it, but the water has a muddy look and we have never used it.

ANSWER: The first thing to be done is to drain the pool. Then, while the surfaces are still wet, scrub them thoroughly, using a nonsudsy kitchen cleanser followed by an acid type conditioner. Flush clean, remove all loose powder and, if it appears to need it, paint with the same kind of paint already on the concrete, carefully following the manufacturer's directions.

To start readying the pool mechanism, turn over the recirculating motor. If it runs noisily, have it checked for a possible bearing burnout. As with a car, check out all mechanical parts. Especially check to see that there is no moisture in the housings of the underwater lights.

Now that we have told you some of the things that must be done to prepare the pool for use, we pass along the advice of the Northeast Swimming Pool Association.

While the home owner can do a lot of the work himself, he would be wise, especially when he has had no experience with pools, to call in a pool service outfit the first year and learn what should be done and how to do it. All pools are different, and the service outfit can tell you everything you need to know about your particular one, including, for instance, the kind of paint to use and how to keep the water clean.

QUESTION: I am using an old flush door to make a table out of, but it has many gouges in it. I planned to sand down what will be the top of the table, but find that the door is hollow, with only a thin veneer. I know that if I sand too much, it will go right through the veneer. What do you suggest?

ANSWER: You could make some attempt to fill the gouges, but if they are that extensive, you're probably better off to cover the top surface with a piece of plywood, hardboard or plastic laminate. You should also consider the purchase of a new flush door, since most lumber yards carry the hollow type doors, without hardware, at surprisingly low prices.

Two Ohio Men Missing In River

CORBIN, Ky. (AP)—Rescue workers found no trace Sunday of two Ohio men missing in the Cumberland River near here and endured a frustrating day.

Two rescue boats capsized during search efforts as chains holding them in place snapped in the swift current and resulted in injury to one worker, Jack Evans of LaFollette, Tenn.

He was carried out of the rugged mountain area by other rescue workers.

Riley Back of Franklin and Charles Black of West Carrollton disappeared Friday after their boat overturned in rough water, officials said.

It was not known when rescue efforts would resume.

The Rescue Of A Side Yard

Screen, Plants Do Trick

In many neighborhoods, houses are built only five feet away from one side property line.

The plan allows generous space for garden or terrace on the opposite side of the house and at the rear, but what to do with that five - foot - wide strip puzzles many home owners.

Even though space is restricted, the side yard can become a charming garden with the help of a screen, a path and a few well-chosen plantings.

The path will be needed for access around the house, the screen as a boundary marker and backdrop and the plantings for effect. But all three work together to make a pretty picture.

A NUMBER of different materials could be used for the path — crushed rock, brick, flagstone. Or it could be made of rectangular building blocks, sunken so their top surface projects no more than a half inch above ground.

Spacing between the blocks should be close, for nothing is more disconcerting than having to hopscotch over widely-separated stepping stones. Laying them in a neat, straight line is best, too, perhaps broken at the mid-point by a cluster of four blocks to make a sort of landing.

The property line screen will be all important in determining appearance of the side yard. If there are no urgent privacy requirements, it should be low and in a pattern that renders clean, crisp lines with strong shadow patterns.

An excellent effect is produced by a four - foot - tall slat screening built of cedar 2-by-4s. When 2-by-2s alternate with spacings of equal width, the pattern is particularly trim, yet open and almost delicate. Spacer blocks, cut from 2-by-2s and nailed to top and bottom rails, will do the job.

A NICE bit of detail can be added with lengths of 1-by-1-inch cedar used as a molding over the joint between slats and rails. If a molding piece is added, cut spacer blocks long enough to be seen.

Frequently, side yard screening is abruptly terminated by a gate set at the far corner of the house. The result is harsh, and the narrow side yard becomes tunnel-like.

Instead of the gate, two additional sections of the screen can be built, set at right angles to each other. One section would be an 8-foot-long continuation of the side yard screening, but stepped up to a 6-foot height. The other panel, matching in height and length, would turn the corner past the house.

The right - angled panels will give complete privacy to the back yard, just as a gate does.

IN PLANTING the side garden, restraint is the most important ingredient. A minimum number of plant materials here make the best showing if care is taken to contrast foliage texture and color, as well as heights and masses.

A flowering fruit tree, of dwarf variety, can make an exciting accent espaliered against the screen, and thick, fluffy groundcovers like English ivy and periwinkle can be used if planted in low containers to restrict growth.

In the corner, where the screen turns past the house, use one bold piece, and plant a shade tree behind the screen, just near enough to it so that some branches will overhang.

Hikers Find Remains Of 2 Ohio Men

TAPOCO, N. C. (AP)—The rugged wilderness area finally has yielded the bodies of two London, Ohio, men who were lost in a plane crash last Dec. 22.

Members of the Graham County Rescue Squad brought out from a mountain area the bodies of Larry Dale Wood, 22, and Harry Stites after they were found by hikers.

Wood, the pilot, was flying Stites to Columbus, Ga., for a Christmas reunion with a son when the single-engine plane plunged to the earth. They were killed on impact.

Four hikers were on Hooper's Bald, a peak about 1½ miles from the Tennessee state line, then they stumbled onto the wreckage Saturday morning.

The last radio contact with the plane was with the airport at Knoxville. Tapoco is about 60 miles south of Knoxville. The wooded mountainside where the plane went down is about 10 miles by car and an additional six miles on foot from Tapoco.

Man, 83, Mugged

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Eighty-three-year-old Andy Angelo of Charleston was mugged Sunday on the way to 6 a.m. Mass at St. Francis Hospital chapel. A hospital spokesman said Angelo was bringing Easter eggs and candy for nuns and other hospital personnel. Angelo is being treated for facial cuts.

U.S. Will Act To Ward Off Steel Strike

CLEVELAND (AP)—The government will intervene to prevent a steelworkers' strike this summer if the war in Vietnam is still going on, Steel Magazine predicted Monday.

But peace in Vietnam, the metalworking weekly said, could make steel strike-hedgers look like smart planners.

"The steel inventories they're building would more likely be needed in peace than war," the magazine said. "Because peace, although it now appears remote, would reduce the likelihood of government intervention in a steelworkers' strike and increase the possibility of a long strike."

Steel said that even with peace moves last week buyers showed no inclination to accent their building of inventories by ordering from U.S. mills.

The magazine said one buyer's philosophy was "why build up early and swallow the extra cost?" and "if I need to build up my inventory, foreign steel is readily available."

And increased reliance on foreign steel is reflected in imports in the first two months of this year, Steel said. They totaled more than 2,160,000 net tons, an increase of more than 600,000 tons, or 41.6 per cent, from the first two months of last year.

February imports of 1,058,000 tons were a record for the month, the magazine added. It was also the fourth consecutive month in which imports exceeded one million tons.

Steel quoted one producer as saying the opening of the Great Lakes shipping season and the accompanying inflow of foreign steel will do more to build steel inventories than any peace prospects.

The magazine said that U.S. mills continued to "produce steel at a record pace" of 2,885,000 net tons in the week ended April 13.

Prices on steelmaking scrap declined for the tenth straight week. Steel's price composite on the No. 1 heavy melting scrap dropped 33 cents to $26.92 a gross ton last week.

TRANSITIONAL RANCH HA544M was designed by R. A. Matern, 89 E. Jericho Turnpike, Mineola, N. Y. 11501, to satisfy four motivations for acquiring a new home: economy, family, privacy, prestige. The size of 1,495 square feet places it in a low-medium-size bracket. Back-to-back bath plumbing keeps costs down. So does narrow depth, one chimney for two fireplaces and open plan of kitchen, family room, living and dining rooms. Both family room and terrace may be easily supervised from the kitchen. The fourth bedroom can be a den, for those who require privacy in their family living. Bedrooms one and two have separate closets and twin beds could be used. Still, there are details like the bow window and fireplaces which give the home prestige.

The Rescue Of A Side Yard

Screen, Plants Do Trick

In many neighborhoods, houses are built only five feet away from one side property line.

The plan allows generous space for garden or terrace on the opposite side of the house and at the rear, but what to do with that five - foot - wide strip puzzles many home owners.

Even though space is restricted, the side yard can become a charming garden with the help of a screen, a path and a few well-chosen plantings.

The path will be needed for access around the house, the screen as a boundary marker and backdrop and the plantings for effect. But all three work together to make a pretty picture.

A NUMBER of different materials could be used for the path — crushed rock, brick, flagstone. Or it could be made of rectangular building blocks, sunken so their top surface projects no more than a half inch above ground.

Spacing between the blocks should be close, for nothing is more disconcerting than having to hopscotch over widely-separated stepping stones. Laying them in a neat, straight line is best, too, perhaps broken at the mid-point by a cluster of four blocks to make a sort of landing.

The property line screen will be all important in determining appearance of the side yard. If there are no urgent privacy requirements, it should be low and in a pattern that renders clean, crisp lines with strong shadow patterns.

An excellent effect is produced by a four - foot - tall slat screening built of cedar 2-by-4s. When 2-by-2s alternate with spacings of equal width, the pattern is particularly trim, yet open and almost delicate. Spacer blocks, cut from 2-by-2s and nailed to top and bottom rails, will do the job.

A NICE bit of detail can be added with lengths of 1-by-1-inch cedar used as a molding over the joint between slats and rails. If a molding piece is added, cut spacer blocks long enough to be seen.

Frequently, side yard screening is abruptly terminated by a gate set at the far corner of the house. The result is harsh, and the narrow side yard becomes tunnel-like.

Instead of the gate, two additional sections of the screen can be built, set at right angles to each other. One section would be an 8-foot-long continuation of the side yard screening, but stepped up to a 6-foot height. The other panel, matching in height and length, would turn the corner past the house.

The right - angled panels will give complete privacy to the back yard, just as a gate does.

IN PLANTING the side garden, restraint is the most important ingredient. A minimum number of plant materials here make the best showing if care is taken to contrast foliage texture and color, as well as heights and masses.

A flowering fruit tree, of dwarf variety, can make an exciting accent espaliered against the screen, and thick, fluffy groundcovers like English ivy and periwinkle can be used if planted in low containers to restrict growth.

In the corner, where the screen turns past the house, use one bold piece, and plant a shade tree behind the screen, just near enough to it so that some branches will overhang.

'How Do We Care For Pool?' The New Owners Are Asking

AP Newsfeatures

Question: We purchased a house several months ago with a swimming pool at the rear. We never had a swimming pool and know nothing about taking care of it. It is made of cement and seems to have everything, including filters, pumps, a heater and underwater lights.

How do we go about getting it ready for use? It has water in it, but the water has a muddy look and we have never used it.

ANSWER: The first thing to be done is to drain the pool. Then, while the surfaces are still wet, scrub them thoroughly, using a nonsudsy kitchen cleanser followed by an acid type conditioner. Flush clean, remove all loose powder and, if it appears to need it, paint with the same kind of paint already on the concrete, carefully following the manufacturer's directions.

To start readying the pool mechanism, turn over the recirculating motor. If it runs noisily, have it checked for a possible bearing burnout. As with a car, check out all mechanical parts. Especially check to see that there is no moisture in the housings of the underwater lights.

Now that we have told you some of the things that must be done to prepare the pool for use, we pass along the advice of the Northeast Swimming Pool Association.

While the home owner can do a lot of the work himself, he would be wise, especially when he has had no experience with pools, to call in a pool service outfit the first year and learn what should be done and how to do it. All pools are different, and the service outfit can tell you everything you need to know about your particular one, including, for instance, the kind of paint to use and how to keep the water clean.

QUESTION: I am using an old flush door to make a table out of, but it has many gouges in it. I planned to sand down what will be the top of the table, but find that the door is hollow, with only a thin veneer. I know that if I sand too much, it will go right through the veneer. What do you suggest?

ANSWER: You could make some attempt to fill the gouges, but if they are that extensive, you're probably better off to cover the top surface with a piece of plywood, hardboard or plastic laminate. You should also consider the purchase of a new flush door, since most lumber yards carry the hollow type doors, without hardware, at surprisingly low prices.

Two Ohio Men Missing In River

CORBIN, Ky. (AP)—Rescue workers found no trace Sunday of two Ohio men missing in the Cumberland River near here and endured a frustrating day.

Two rescue boats capsized during search efforts as chains holding them in place snapped in the swift current and resulted in injury to one worker, Jack Evans of LaFollette, Tenn.

He was carried out of the rugged mountain area by other rescue workers.

Riley Back of Franklin and Charles Black of West Carrollton disappeared Friday after their boat overturned in rough water, officials said.

It was not known when rescue efforts would resume.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Gomer's Sergeant All An Act

When you have a mug like Frank Sutton's and a voice to match, it's difficult for him to make even producers believe that his Sgt. Carter act on CBS - TV's "Gomer Pyle" is simply that — an act.

Hal Humphrey

The "Gomer Pyle" series is out of production now until June 30, and Frank has had movie offers and night club dates offered him, but most of them call for another "Sgt. Carter" type, so he's turned them down.

-:-

"I KNOW if it wasn't for the success I've had with Sgt. Carter, I wouldn't be getting offers of any kind, and I'm grateful. But as a character actor I've got to show that I have a range," explains Frank.

He says he'd be happy to join a stock company for short money, except that most of these don't get started until after he'll have to be on the "Gomer Pyle" set.

Both Frank and Jim Nabors (who plays Gomer) could have been millionaires by now, according to Frank's press agent, if they had formed a comedy team act for nightclubs and other personal appearances. But Jim wants to sing and Frank wants to dedicate himself to acting.

-:-

THIS DISDAIN for more riches drives at least three people nuts who are associated with Frank — his agent, personal manager and press agent, who share in Frank's career to the tune of 10, 5 and 5 per cent, respectively.

As for Frank, he's already making in the neighborhood of $150,000 from his Pyle series.

His tastes are not expensive. He drives a 1964 Dodge Dart, and his wife, Toby, an 8-year-old Hillman. He's not a fancy dresser ("Who needs $30 shorts?") and his house is a modest rented job with no big pool or maids.

The only time he trades on his Sgt. Carter role is with a 28-minute routine he's worked up for visits to hospitals and Vietnam. Occasionally he'll guest on a Pat Boone or Woody Woodbury syndicated show, but that's it.

-:-

"I SAW George C. Scott, a fine actor, on a Red Skelton show and I felt embarrassed for him, just like I feel embarrassed at this commercial I see Bing Crosby has his family doing now," says Frank.

Frank has to do commercials for General Foods on the Gomer Pyle series ("I forgot to read the small print in the contract"), but he turns down all other spot commercials and endorsements of products.

"I even fought off doing commercial spots in New York when I wasn't working, and my wife kept the family alive working in TV as an associate producer," adds Frank.

-:-

THE PROFESSIONAL debut of Frank Sutton took place in a Pennsylvania stock company in 1947, one year after he'd gone to Columbia University on the GI Bill.

He and his wife spent their honeymoon while touring with the national company of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" in 1949. They met at Columbia, where she was a graduate student.

He thought he was going to have his TV debut on one of the old "live" "Playhouse" dramas in 1948. At the last minute Fred Coe, producer, was told he was eight minutes long, so Frank's part came out of the script. The crowning insult was that the drama finally ran 10 minutes short.

-:-

"AND I SAT and watched the longest, slowest credit 'crawl' in the history of the business while they killed time with it," Frank recalls, disgustedly.

A turning point in his career came with a role in the picture "Marty," which led to fatter roles in both movies and TV.

"Lot of actors can't turn anything down because they've starved too many times. Well, I'm not starving, so I'm going to sweat it out for another season on Gomer Pyle, then see what happens," Frank says.

Broken Line Spews Pollution Into Lake

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Efforts were under way today to patch a ruptured line spewing a steady flow of wood pulp waste into Lake Erie.

A line casing broke Sunday at the Hammermill Paper Co., and a state official estimated that waste was gushing into the lake at 200 gallons a minute.

The waste is not toxic, said Walter A. Lyon, head of sanitary engineering for the Health Department, but marine life could be harmed if enough of it got into the lake.

Like water from a well, the wastes were coming from several thousand feet below the surface where they had been pumped under pressure into salt formations.

A specialist said he could repair the line in 24 hours once he got the proper equipment. It was believed equipment was available nearby in Ohio.

Army Testing New Helmets Of Titanium

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is considering production of lighter but tougher helmets, the soldier's shade, shield, footstool and pillow.

Researchers believe titanium, a lightweight but expensive alloy used in some advanced aircraft, could provide the infantryman with better head protection than the helmets now made of manganese steel.

Sources say titanium helmets have stood up well in ballistics tests at Edgewood Arsenal, Md. Scientists there also are looking at several other materials which might be used to fashion combat bonnets.

It is part of a broad Army effort to provide durable but less cumbersome gear for the fighting man—to lighten his burden, make him more mobile and more effective.

Sources say studies have shown titanium helmets can be made as much as one pound lighter than the standard 3¼-pound helmet with plastic liner while giving the same amount of protection.

For an additional few ounces, titanium helmets offer substantially greater protection against head wounds, the most serious category of combat injuries.

The titanium helmet is still in the development stage but word about it has spread among some men in, or headed for, Vietnam.

Some soldiers, as well as parents of men in the war zone, have asked the Army whether they could buy titanium helmets out of their own pockets.

The Pentagon estimated that, compared with the $4.35 price tag on the conventional steel helmet, titanium headgear would cost $53 each. This estimate is based on a theoretical production run of 100,000 helmets, the Pentagon said.

Officials say the Pentagon is preparing to award another contract for titanium helmets, presumably for more testing. It is expected they will eventually be sent to Vietnam for a tryout under combat conditions.

Mrs. King Urges Continuation Of Husband's Work

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The widow of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. says she feels it is "God's will" that the work of the slain civil rights leader go on.

Mrs. King spoke briefly from her dead husband's pulpit in the Ebenezer Baptist Church Sunday after the Rev. Martin Luther King Sr., who was co-pastor of the church with his son, finished an Easter sermon.

"In my heart, I feel it is God's will for his work to go on," Mrs. King told the congregation of more than 1,000 which overflowed the church.

"Our dedication and concern to the task of continuing his unfinished work will be the greatest tribute to my husband, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.," she said.

Students End 5-Day Sit-In At Colgate U.

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP) — A massive five-day sit-in demonstration at Colgate University is over, but school officials still grappled today with "the broad questions raised" by the assault on discrimination by fraternities.

"Our demands have been met," William Robinson Jr., a Negro student leader, asserted Sunday night.

With that, an estimated 600 Colgate students and faculty members moved out of the university's three-story administration building, which they had taken over Wednesday.

The settlement, reached in virtually round-the-clock talks between the Association of Black Collegians, headed by Robinson, and Colgate President Vincent M. Barnett Jr., provided that discrimination by all fraternities cease and the rights of members of Phi Delta Theta, the principal target of the protest, be protected.

A school spokesman said the discrimination provision was aimed specifically at the "blackball" system, under which one negative vote blocks a student from joining a fraternity.

Barnett revoked Phi Delta Theta's local charter Friday. He said Sunday's agreement allows the fraternity members to occupy their house for the next two years but bars them from engaging in usual fraternity activities.

Lost Teen-Agers Located In Park By Rescue Party

LOGAN, Ohio (AP)—Two teenagers missing overnight in Hocking State Park were found this morning hovering on a ledge, the sheriff's department reported.

Deputies said the pair, Pamela Wallace, 17, and Charles Ankrum, 17, both of Newark, were wet, hungry and cold, but apparently unharmed, otherwise.

The teen-agers told their rescuers that they had taken shelter from the rain Sunday afternoon and then became lost after dark. They said they decided to stay put until daylight.

Parents of the youths reported them missing about 7 p.m. Sunday after they failed to return from a sightseeing trip to the park.

The sheriff's office organized a search party which combed the park area throughout the night. About 2 a.m. searchers found the teen-agers' car parked near Old Man's Cave and it was thought the pair might have become lost in the cave.

Dental Work Is Out For City Prisoners

TUCUMCARI, N.M. (AP) — The Tucumcari City Commission says it has paid its final dental bill for city jail prisoners.

The commission took the action after funds were approved for a $30.16 dental bill dated September 1966.

It's great for prisoners to have a place to sleep and have their teeth taken care of too, said Commissioner Dr. Jesse Wallace, who led the fight against paying the bills.

LEGAL NOTICE

LEGAL NOTICE
Charles Pinkerton, Sarah Jane Pinkerton, Harry Pinkerton, George Pinkerton, Phyllis Pinkerton and Peggy Pinkerton, whose place of residence is unknown and cannot with reasonable diligence be ascertained and the unknown heirs, executors, administrators, devisees, legatees and assigns of Charles Pinkerton, Sara Jane Pinkerton, Harry Pinkerton, George Pinkerton, Phyllis Pinkerton and Peggy Pinkerton will take notice that on February 14, 1966, the Plaintiff, Vincent C. Judge, County Treasurer of Columbiana County, Ohio, filed his Petition against them in the Court of Common Pleas of Columbiana County, Ohio, being Case No. 43287 in said Court, for the enforcement of delinquent tax lien, pursuant to Section 5721. 10 of the Revised Code of Ohio, and for the sale of certain real estate in said Petition described, to wit:

Situated in the City of Wellsville, County of Columbiana and State of Ohio, Known as and being Lot Number Twelve (12) in Pollock and Bell's Addition to Wellsville, Ohio. Be the same more or less, but subject to all legal highways.

The prayer of said Petition is for the sale of said real estate for the payment of taxes, assessments, interest, penalties, charges, and fees as are found due and unpaid. Said Defendants and their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees, administrators, executors and assigns are required to answer said Petition on May 17, 1966, or judgement will be taken against them.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Gomer's Sergeant All An Act

When you have a mug like Frank Sutton's and a voice to match, it's difficult for him to make even producers believe that his Sgt. Carter act on CBS - TV's "Gomer Pyle" is simply that — an act.

Hal Humphrey

The "Gomer Pyle" series is out of production now until June 20, and Frank has had movie offers and night club dates offered him, but most of them call for another "Sgt. Carter" type, so he's turned them down.

-:-

"I KNOW if it wasn't for the success I've had with Sgt. Carter, I wouldn't be getting offers of any kind, and I'm grateful. But as a character actor I've got to show that I have a range," explains Frank.

He says he'd be happy to join a stock company for short money, except that most of these don't get started until after he'll have to be on the "Gomer Pyle" set.

Both Frank and Jim Nabors (who plays Gomer) could have been millionaires by now, according to Frank's press agent, if they had formed a comedy team act for nightclubs and other personal appearances. But Jim wants to sing and Frank wants to dedicate himself to acting.

-:-

THIS DISDAIN for more riches drives at least three people nuts who are associated with Frank — his agent, personal manager and press agent, who share in Frank's career to the tune of 10, 5 and 5 per cent, respectively.

As for Frank, he's already making in the neighborhood of $150,000 from his Pyle series.

His tastes are not expensive. He drives a 1964 Dodge Dart, and his wife, Toby, an 8-year-old Hillman. He's not a fancy dresser ("Who needs $20 shorts?") and his house is a modest rented job with no big pool or maids.

The only time he trades on his Sgt. Carter role is with a 25-minute routine he's worked up for visits to hospitals and Vietnam. Occasionally he'll guest on a Pat Boone or Woody Woodbury syndicated show, but that's it.

-:-

"I SAW George C. Scott, a fine actor, on a Red Skelton show and I felt embarrassed for him, just like I feel embarrassed at this commercial I see Bing Crosby has his family doing now," says Frank.

Frank has to do commercials for General Foods on the Gomer Pyle series ("I forgot to read the small print in the contract"), but he turns down all other spot commercials and endorsements of products.

"I even fought off doing commercial spots in New York when I wasn't working, and my wife kept the family alive working in TV as an associate producer," adds Frank.

-:-

THE PROFESSIONAL debut of Frank Sutton took place in a Pennsylvania stock company in 1947, one year after he'd gone to Columbia University on the GI Bill.

He and his wife spent their honeymoon while touring with the national company of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" in 1949. They met at Columbia, where she was a graduate student.

He thought he was going to have his TV debut on one of the old "live" "Playhouse" dramas in 1948. At the last minute Fred Coe, producer, was told he was eight minutes long, so Frank's part came out of the script. The crowning insult was that the drama finally ran 10 minutes short.

-:-

"AND I SAT and watched the longest, slowest credit 'crawl' in the history of the business while they killed time with it," Frank recalls, disgustedly.

A turning point in his career came with a role in the picture "Marty," which led to fatter roles in both movies and TV.

"Lot of actors can't turn anything down because they've starved too many times. Well, I'm not starving, so I'm going to sweat it out for another season on Gomer Pyle, then see what happens," Frank says.

Broken Line Spews Pollution Into Lake

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Efforts were under way today to patch a ruptured line spewing a steady flow of wood pulp waste into Lake Erie.

A line casing broke Sunday at the Hammermill Paper Co., and a state official estimated that waste was gushing into the lake at 200 gallons a minute.

The waste is not toxic, said Walter A. Lyon, head of sanitary engineering for the Health Department, but marine life could be harmed if enough of it got into the lake.

Like water from a well, the wastes were coming from several thousand feet below the surface where they had been pumped under pressure into salt formations.

A specialist said he could repair the line in 24 hours once he got the proper equipment. It was believed equipment was available nearby in Ohio.

Army Testing New Helmets Of Titanium

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is considering production of lighter but tougher helmets, the soldier's shade, shield, footstool and pillow.

Researchers believe titanium, a lightweight but expensive alloy used in some advanced aircraft, could provide the infantryman with better head protection than the helmets now made of manganese steel.

Sources say titanium helmets have stood up well in ballistics tests at Edgewood Arsenal, Md. Scientists there also are looking at several other materials which might be used to fashion combat bonnets.

It is part of a broad Army effort to provide durable but less cumbersome gear for the fighting man—to lighten his burden, make him more mobile and more effective.

Sources say studies have shown titanium helmets can be made as much as one pound lighter than the standard 3¼-pound helmet with plastic liner while giving the same amount of protection.

For an additional few ounces, titanium helmets offer substantially greater protection against head wounds, the most serious category of combat injuries.

The titanium helmet is still in the development stage but word about it has spread among some men in, or headed for, Vietnam.

Some soldiers, as well as parents of men in the war zone, have asked the Army whether they could buy titanium helmets out of their own pockets.

The Pentagon estimated that, compared with the $4.35 price tag on the conventional steel helmet, titanium headgear would cost $53 each. This estimate is based on a theoretical production run of 100,000 helmets, the Pentagon said.

Officials say the Pentagon is preparing to award another contract for titanium helmets, presumably for more testing. It is expected they will eventually be sent to Vietnam for a tryout under combat conditions.

Mrs. King Urges Continuation Of Husband's Work

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The widow of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. says she feels it is "God's will" that the work of the slain civil rights leader go on.

Mrs. King spoke briefly from her dead husband's pulpit in the Ebenezer Baptist Church Sunday after the Rev. Martin Luther King Sr., who was co-pastor of the church with his son, finished an Easter sermon.

"In my heart, I feel it is God's will for his work to go on," Mrs. King told the congregation of more than 1,000 which overflowed the church.

"Our dedication and concern to the task of continuing his unfinished work will be the greatest tribute to my husband, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.," she said.

Students End 5-Day Sit-In At Colgate U.

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP) -- A massive five-day sit-in demonstration at Colgate University is over, but school officials still grappled today with "the broad questions raised" by the assault on discrimination by fraternities.

"Our demands have been met," William Robinson Jr., a Negro student leader, asserted Sunday night.

With that, an estimated 600 Colgate students and faculty members moved out of the university's three-story administration building, which they had taken over Wednesday.

The settlement, reached in virtually round-the-clock talks between the Association of Black Collegians, headed by Robinson, and Colgate President Vincent M. Barnett Jr., provided that discrimination by all fraternities cease and the rights of members of Phi Delta Theta, the principal target of the protest, be protected.

A school spokesman said the discrimination provision was aimed specifically at the "blackball" system, under which one negative vote blocks a student from joining a fraternity.

Barnett revoked Phi Delta Theta's local charter Friday. He said Sunday's agreement allows the fraternity members to occupy their house for the next two years but bars them from engaging in usual fraternity activities.

Lost Teen-Agers Located In Park By Rescue Party

LOGAN, Ohio (AP)—Two teenagers missing overnight in Hocking State Park were found this morning hovering on a ledge, the sheriff's department reported.

Deputies said the pair, Pamela Wallace, 17, and Charles Ankrum, 17, both of Newark, were wet, hungry and cold, but apparently unharmed, otherwise.

The teen-agers told their rescuers that they had taken shelter from the rain Sunday afternoon and then became lost after dark. They said they decided to stay put until daylight.

Parents of the youths reported them missing about 7 p.m. Sunday after they failed to return from a sightseeing trip to the park.

The sheriff's office organized a search party which combed the park area throughout the night. About 2 a.m. searchers found the teen-agers' car parked near Old Man's Cave and it was thought the pair might have become lost in the cave.

Dental Work Is Out For City Prisoners

TUCUMCARI, N.M. (AP) — The Tucumcari City Commission says it has paid its final dental bill for city jail prisoners.

The commission took the action after funds were approved for a $30.16 dental bill dated September 1966.

It's great for prisoners to have a place to sleep and have their teeth taken care of too, said Commissioner Dr. Jesse Wallace, who led the fight against paying the bills.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, April 15, the 106th day of 1968. There are 260 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1865, President Abraham Lincoln died in a Washington boarding house across the street from Ford's Theater, where he had been shot the night before by John Wilkes Booth.

On this date:

In 1638, English settlers arrived at New Haven, Conn.

In 1850, San Francisco was incorporated as a city.

In 1923, Insulin, which had been discovered by Dr. Frederick Banting of Toronto, Ont., was made available for general use.

In 1940, during World War II, British and French troops landed on the coast of Norway.

In 1942, Japanese artillery blasted American positions on Corregidor in the Philippines, in the early days of the Pacific war.

In 1959, Cuban Premier Fidel Castro arrived in Washington to begin a goodwill tour of the United States.

Ten years ago — Defense ministers of the NATO nations met in Paris and approved a five-year plan to build up Western defense forces.

Five years ago — The White House announced that President and Mrs. John F. Kennedy were expecting their third child in August.

One year ago — Richard Speck was convicted of killing eight nurses in Chicago in July, 1966.

Junior Editors Quiz on 20th CENTURY

QUESTION: This is 1968. Why isn't this the nineteenth century?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Let's go back to the first century (picture, upper left). It's easy to understand that our counting starts January 1, of the year 1, A.D. The word century means 100, and as we usually use it, refers to 100 years. To make a full 100 years in this first century, you must go to the year 100 and include all of it, down to its end of Dec. 31, of the year 100. Then the second century will start on the next day, Jan 1 of the year 101. You won't be able to put a 2 in front of the years of this century until you come to its last year, 200. Continuing on through the years we come to the 19th century, lower left. Since it started in 1801, to get the full 100 years it will have to last unil December 31, 1900. The day afer this is the day the 20th century starts, which is why this is the 20th century. You may wonder who the little character with the forked helmet is at the end of this century, Dec. 31, 2000 A. D. Our artist simply made a wild guess as to what a space boy of that date might look like. Why don't you draw your own conception?
